NAVAL BASE COOPERATION IS PROMISED

Joint Campaign by Chambers of Commerce of Oakland and S. F. Planned to Back Site Given at Alameda

Navy Department's Recommendations to Be Aided by Full Information Concerning Tract of Land Selected

A joint campaign by the chambers of commerce of Oakland and San Francisco to present to the House Naval Affairs Committee facts which, it is expected, will result in the acceptance of the navy department's Alameda naval base recommendations by Congress, is under way today as the result of the announcement of the San Francisco chamber that it stands 100 per cent behind the Alameda base plan.

The campaign plans provide for the waging of a vigorous war against erroneous statements that are said to have been circulated respecting the Alameda site, and the urging of California's congressional delegation to take an active and immediate part in the fight for the Alameda project, it was announced today.

CO-OPERATION OF S. F. ON BASE PROMISED.

The full co-operation of the San Francisco chamber of commerce with that of Oakland, and with the navy department, which has recommended Alameda as the site for the big Pacific Coast base, was promised by leading officials of that organization, following a conference between them and representatives of the Oakland chamber, and after Washington despatches had been received which reported Secretary of the Navy Denby as reiterating his approval of the Alameda site before the House Naval Affairs committee.

The conference, which was held in San Francisco, was attended by Roscoe D. Wyatt, managing director of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, Joseph R. Knowland, publisher of The TRIBUNE and former congressman from this district, former Senator James D. Phelan, Wallace M. Alexander, president of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, and other executives of the latter organization.

FULL INFORMATION ON ALAMEDA SITE.

Attacks which have been made on the Alameda site, and which are believed to have caused the failure of congress to approve the navy department's recommendation for the establishment of a base there two years ago, are to be met by full and complete information which, it is declared, will assure the House Naval Affairs committee of the desirability of that location for the proposed great naval base on this coast, as the result of yesterday's conference.

Among other items of information to be furnished the house committee will be facts showing the stability of the foundation under the Alameda site, which opponents of that location have characterized as bottomless mud, notwithstanding the fact that the navy department, after thorough investigation, has declared that the foundations are ample for the purpose. Also, facts will be submitted showing the approximate cost of building the proposed base at Alameda which, it is declared, has been greatly exaggerated by opponents of the plan.

TELEGRAMS WILL BE SENT TO WASHINGTON.

Senators Johnson and Shortridge urging them to see that these facts, and all others which may be desired, are also brought to the attention of the senate committee when the matter is taken up by that body.

Robert Newton Lynch, vice-president and manager of the San Francisco chamber of commerce, today urged that all Central California join in supporting the navy's recommendation for the placing of the base at Alameda.

"The navy has declared that national needs require San Francisco bay as the main naval operating base of the Pacific coast, with the site at Alameda imperative," he pointed out.

"It is up to every man, every institution, and every influence that can be enlisted in Central California to effect solidarity of purpose and back the navy vigorously in getting what it wants."

It was pointed out by Lynch that Secretary of the Navy Denby had reiterated that Alameda's development as a base does not mean the abandonment of Mare Island, which will continu, as an auxiliary unit in the navy department's pro-

Just Plain "Mrs."

Noble French arms can be worn by HELEN ARNET PLUMB-BENOIST, but they won't be.

CO-ED COMTESSE SPURNS TITLE

Helen Arnet Plumb Becomes "Mrs." Benoist in Quiet Wedding to Senior.

BERKELEY, Jan. 27.—A plain American "Mrs." prefixed to her name is preferred by Helen Arnet Plumb, graduate of the University of California with this year's class, to the title "comtesse," which has rightfully become hers.

News of Miss Plumb's marriage to Luis Octavio Benoist, senior student at the university, member of a distinguished French family of Chile and holder in his own right to the title "comte," has just become known.

But it is not "Comte" and "Comtesse" who are receiving the good wishes of their friends. It is plain "Mr." and "Mrs." Benoist, and it will continue so to be if both of the young people have their way about it.

Back of the formal announcement of the quiet wedding, which was solemnized on January 12 at St. Clement's chapel, in Berkeley, is unfolded a courtship flavored with the romance of old France.

Although possessor of one of the oldest titles in France, young Benoist made an unassuming entry into college circles almost four years ago.

It was at a college dance that the romance leading to the interesting wedding had its inception a year ago. As soon as Benoist finishes his college work he will take his bride to the Benoist estates in Chile and later to France.

Young Benoist is the direct descendant of Comte de Patox, one of three distinguished brothers of France, who aroused the ire of ruling powers during the days of the French revolution. Two of the brothers were put to death on the guillotine, while the third, in disguise, fled to South America. Safe on new soil, the fleeing nobleman assumed the name of "Benoist," took up large land holdings, married a South American beauty and raised a family to perpetuate his name.

According to young Benoist, there are still large grants of land in France which rightfully belong to the Comte de Patox and his heirs, and at some future date he and his bride plan to delve into the legal intricacies of their title to these holdings.

Henrique Benoist, railroad president of Chile and one of the largest landholders in that country, His bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hylon Plumb of Salt Lake City. Both of the young people are well known in college circles. Benoist as a member of Phi Lambda Alpha fraternity, and his bride as affiliated with the Alpha Sigma Delta sorority.

The wedding of the young people was officiated over by the Rev. Richard Trelease, with only close friends and relatives in attendance. Miss Ruth Warefield, member of the Alpha Xi Delta sorority, and Douglas Weatherston, a fraternity brother of the groom, attended the young couple. Following the wedding, a dinner to the bridal party was served at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Mary E. Augustine, on College avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Benoist will make their home in Berkeley until the former concludes his college work.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27.—William Hollingsworth, booked at the county hospital on a charge of attempted highway robbery in San Francisco, broke his leg chains early this morning and escaped.

Hollingsworth was being treated for a gunshot wound in the head, received when he and a companion tried to hold up a San Francisco detective sergeant. The officer drew a gun and wounded Hollingsworth and his companion, Hollingsworth's wound being in the head.

Despite his bad wound, Hollingsworth loaded the dead body of his confederate into a machine, drove away, dumped it in a hallway and called a doctor. Then he went home, told his wife, and together they came to Los Angeles by automobile. Hollingsworth went to the county hospital last Thursday, saying he had received a wound from a holdup man. Working on a tip, officers located Mrs. Hollingsworth and she told them the entire story. Hollingsworth was placed under arrest in the hospital and a leg chain put on him.

In some manner, he broke the chain early this morning, slid down a rainpipe and escaped in only his hospital pajamas and carpet slippers.

He may die from exposure, physicians say, as the wound in his head is serious.

FLEES AFTER BEING WOUNDED IN HEAD.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—William Hollingsworth, 28 years old, wanted here for alleged participation in a hold-up in which he was shot in the head by his intended victim, has been arrested in a Los Angeles hospital, after having driven an automobile 500 miles suffering from a possibly fatal bullet wound.

According to the police, Hollingsworth and two companions planned a holdup, but, by mistake, chose as their victim a detective sergeant, who opened fire on them. Hollingsworth was shot in the head, the bullet piercing the skull and slightly grazing the brain. Herman Brothers, said to have been a companion of Hollingsworth, was seriously wounded. The third man escaped.

Despite his injury, Hollingsworth escaped from the policeman, and with his wife, Mrs. Marie Hollingsworth, 22 years old, drove to Los Angeles, arriving Monday morning. He applied for and obtained admittance to the county hospital, telling a story of having been held up and wounded, it was stated.

WIFE TELLS STORY TO L. A. POLICE.

When arrested Hollingsworth refused to make a statement, but Mrs. Hollingsworth, who was located at the home of her mother in Los Angeles, told the police of their drive from San Francisco to the southern city. They had no money, she was quoted as saying, and, on one occasion, traded a coffee percolator for gasoline. She denied knowledge of the holdup, and of the manner in which her husband had been wounded.

The police said today that if Hollingsworth recovers he will be brought here for trial. Reports from surgeons who are attending him, however, are to the effect that his recovery is doubtful.

According to the police, Hollingsworth is on probation for the theft of an automobile. He is also suspected of being a smuggler of narcotics.

ESSEN, Jan. 27.—Customs offices, established between the Ruhr valley and the rest of Germany, were put into operation today by the French army of occupation. Reports reaching Essen said the barrier was practically complete. Germans now being required to pay to the invaders taxes upon products of the Ruhr shipped to destinations other than French reparations collectors.

The situation in the entire occupied area was one of critical suspense. Martial law was in effect at Treves and a virtual state of siege was reported to exist at Dusseldorf and Coblenz. Saturday brought another pay day for Westphalian miners and more danger of a clash between French troops and workers.

The Germans claimed today that one of the biggest smelters in Lorrain has had to close down because of lack of coke from the Ruhr.

GERMAN OFFICIALS PLAN RESISTANCE.

DUESSELDORF, Jan. 27.—(By The Associated Press.)—A further strengthening of German resistance was generally anticipated by the French today as an aftermath of yesterday's meeting of the Ruhr police chiefs, burgomasters and state officials at which, it was said, measures for parrying the occupation were discussed. One immediate result of the conference was the arrest of its chairman, Dr. Gruetzner, president of Rhenish Prussia. Dr. Gruetzner was later released, after General Simon had warned him that he would again be taken into custody if he remained obdurate.

The French are ready for any developments and, with additional troops on the scene, have this city practically under martial law. Public places, such as hotels, cafes, cabarets and theaters, were closed last evening at 10 o'clock by the occupationists, while soldiers walked the beats of the German police.

FRENCH TO CALL MILITARY CLASSES.

Reports that the French contemplate summoning several military classes suggest the extent to which the Paris government is preparing to go on forcing the Germans into line.

It is thought likely that the next important move will not come until after January 31, the time limit for the 500,000,000 gold mark reparation payment.

Industry and commerce are being seriously affected by the rail strike and the French are ready to try their hand at operating the lines with the assistance of the 3500 rail workers expected in the Ruhr today.

PARIS ROYALISTS IN GREAT PARADE

Rumors of Plot to Restore the Throne Discredited By Authorities.

By HARRY N. FLORY.

PARIS, Jan. 27.—The greatest royalist demonstration France has seen in half a century took place this afternoon in connection with the funeral of Marius Plateau, monarchist leader and editor of the royalist newspaper L'Action Francaise, who was assassinated by a young woman anarchist.

The funeral cortege was two miles long. It passed through streets jammed literally with crowds. Companies of police reserves were stationed at strategic points along the route of the procession. Soldiers with bayonets fixed guarded the chamber of deputies.

Steps are being taken to form an organization of French royalists modelled after the Italian Fascisti. During the morning Premier Poincare received a delegation of Socialists who complained that the monarchists were "threatening the safety of the republic." They charged that royalist leaders are working to restore the French throne.

Premier Poincare said that the government had no fears and that every necessary precaution had been taken to prevent incidents during the afternoon. The premier said that the royalist leaders were being watched, that their plans were known and that they were in no position to do harm.

Citizens flocked into Paris from all parts of France. They carried flags and placards and there were frequent shouts of "On to Berlin!" and "Let us take Berlin!"

AGREEMENT ON U. S. DEBT IS BLOCKED:

—BRITISH CHANCELLOR

Stanley Baldwin Returns Home From Washington Mission and Declares Politicians Prevent Settlement

Head of English Finances Says Funding May Not Be Possible For Many Years; Meantime 5 Per Cent Paid

By DAVID M. CHURCH.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer and head of the British debt funding mission, who arrived from Washington today to report to the cabinet, said that Great Britain has already obtained the best terms that the United States will give and that he will not return to America for any further negotiations.

The chancellor expressed keen regret that the negotiations on the American side "had fallen into the hands of politicians."

Baldwin and the other members of the mission arrived at Southampton on the White Star liner Olympic. The chancellor placidly puffed his pipe while he summed up his conclusions in the following terse sentences:

"There is no hope of getting America to offer better terms. The problem now is whether the British cabinet will accept the terms offered. Any change of opinion in the United States would be against England, not in our favor.

AMERICAN TERMS TOLD BY CHANCELLOR.

Chancellor Baldwin revealed that the American terms call for a 3 per cent interest rate during the first ten years; 3½ per cent after the first ten years period, and a sinking fund rate of one-half of one per cent.

The five per cent being paid at present runs until a final agreement is reached.

Other members of the British party agreed with Baldwin that debt cancellation was a very unpopular subject in the United States at this time.

Chancellor of the Exchequer elaborated upon his views, saying:

"The American people as a whole think they are doing an extraordinary generous thing in offering the terms they did to the British. I am afraid, however, that the British do not think so.

WILL CONTINUE TO PAY FIVE PER CENT.

"It is a matter of opinion whether it will be possible to fund the debt for many years to come. In the meantime we are to go on paying five per cent interest on the principal sum, if there is no settlement. We are bound by agreement to do so. There is no chance of getting America to offer better terms.

"We must look at the advantages and disadvantages of refusing those terms. There is a certain amount of back interest owing that will have to be added to the total sum.

"The great difference between the United States and this country is that the whole settlement of debts in America is in the hands of politicians."

BRITISH CAN'T STAND FINANCIAL STRAIN, CLAIM.

Chancellor Baldwin said that speed is necessary. He continued:

"We have been offered what the Americans contend are the best possible terms. The British cabinet must accept or reject them within a week. If we are unable to settle the thing quickly we will pounds annually and the five per cent interest rate, and let me tell you Britain cannot do it. She cannot stand the financial strain in her present condition.

"It is impossible to fund the debt in Britain. It is up to us to decide quickly. If we do not get action in this congress it is doubtful if we get any better terms from the next congress."

Baldwin predicted that the pound sterling would soon reach parity.

SOUTHAMPTON, Jan. 27.—(By the Associated Press.)—Stanley Baldwin described Americans as "a country, not an urban people."

"They have men of our way of thinking in the eastern states," he said, "but that does not cut any ice at all with regard to the other parts of America.

"If you look at the senate you will find that the majority of the members come from the agricultural and pastoral communities, and they do not realize the existing position with regard to the meaning of the inter-national debt.

BALDWIN SAYS DEBT AGREEMENT DISTANT IN U. S.

British Chancellor Declares Terms Are Blocked by American Politicians.

ics have no acquaintance with it. Great Britain lives on international trade, but in America this is not so. The people in the west merely sell wheat and hogs and other produce and take no further interest in connection with the international debt or international trade.

"They are in very much the same frame we used to be regarding reparations when a large number of people in this country thought that Germany would send bags of gold every Saturday night until the money was paid up. A great many people in America think that all we have to do is send money over there.

SETTLEMENT IS NOT EXPECTED THIS YEAR.

"The debt can only be funded on such terms as can be got through Congress and the Senate and that is the root of difficulty with which we are now faced."

Baldwin said that unless an arrangement were arrived at by which an agreement between the American debt funding commission and the British government were approved and ratified by Congress before March 4, the matter would be deferred until the end of the year. There was no chance, he said, of new proposals being put forward previous to March 4, because the funding commission in America had put forward the only proposals which were thought to have a chance of acceptance by Congress.

"They have gone to the limit in what they are likely to propose," he said.

"If no agreement is come to now the whole thing falls to the ground," Baldwin added.

FASCISTI FACTIONS MASS AT MUNICH.

MUNICH, Bavaria, Jan. 27.—Not only Bavarians but supporters of the Fascisti movement are gathering here from all parts of Germany for the three-day "convention."

Premier Von Knilling issued a proclamation warning the people to remain calm and forbidding outdoor mass meetings.

The chief fear was fighting between Fascisti and Socialists.

A "state of emergency" is modified form of martial law.

"Minimum Terms" For England Stated

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(By International News Service).—Confirmation was obtained at the United States treasury here this afternoon that the British debt envoys have carried back to London with them an American proposal to liquidate the $5,000,000,000 debt over a period of 62 years, at an interest rate of 3 per cent for the first ten years, and 3½ per cent thereafter. The proposition, it was announced at the treasury department, represents the "minimum terms" which the American commission would be willing to ask congress to endorse.

The treasury confirmed the main outlines of the American proposition after the International News Service had brought to its attention the statements of Chancellor Stanley Baldwin upon his arrival in London today.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(By International News Service).—A member of the American debt funding commission, who requested his name not to be used, informed the International News Service today that Stanley Baldwin was "not correct" in his disclosure concerning the American terms for funding the British debt of $5,000,000,000.

Chancellor Baldwin revealed the American proposition to be based upon an interest rate of 3 per cent for the first ten years, 5½ per cent thereafter, with a sinking fund rate of half per cent.

"That is not correct," said this member of the commission. The member, however, declined to state what the American proposition which Chancellor Baldwin has taken back to London consisted of, or in what respect his statement was erroneous.

The British are given to understand, according to reliable information here that 3½ per cent was the rock bottom figure at which the American commission could discuss a settlement.

Cooperation on Alameda Naval Base Promised

gram of making San Francisco bay the main operating base.

That the Pacific coast has not at the present time adequate facilities for the 208 vessels that make up the Pacific fleet, and that present facilities would be paralyzed were the Atlantic and Pacific fleets to be combined upon this ocean in a conflict with foreign power, was asserted today by Roscoe D. Wyatt, managing-director of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce.

"The Chamber of Commerce is keeping in daily telegraphic touch with Washington during the course of the present consideration of the subject and stands ready to do anything within its power to make the Alameda base a reality, doing so because we believe Alameda to be the best available site on the Pacific coast," Wyatt said.

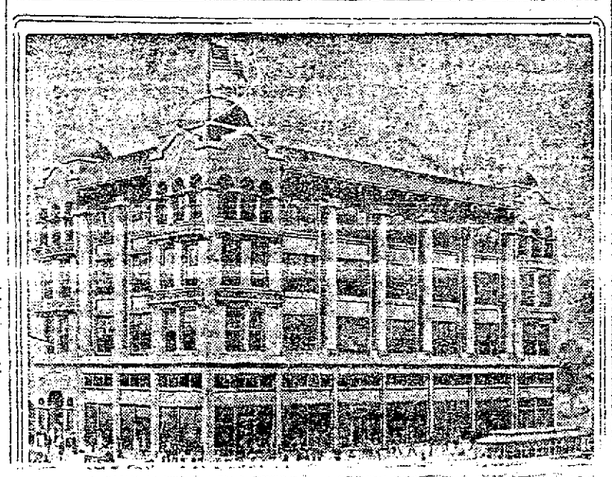

Praise was given Representative James H. MacLafferty today by officials of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce for the "full and impressive presentation of the Alameda Naval Base case" which he made yesterday before the House Naval Affairs Committee.

"The Alameda county representative quoted extensively from the records, and imperatively refuted sensational allegations," Managing Director Wyatt declared. "He centered the attention of the committee upon the important elements of evidence, especially the comprehensive statement of Admiral Rodman as to the absolute unsuitability of the Carquinez straits project."

Abandonment of Mare Island is not part of the navy's program in connection with its recommendation to place the great Pacific Coast fleet base at Alameda, but exactly the reverse is true, it was announced today.

Of the $5,000,000 which is to be asked for construction work auxiliary to the main base at Alameda, a large part will be spent in building a navy air station on the reclaimed flats at Mare Island, it is asserted.

Additional docking facilities will also be constructed at Carquinez straits, so that the investment at Mare Island may not be lost to the government.

$50,000 CRENT ... TO KILL BILL, SAYS WITNESS

Committee Secures Facts and Figures; Lawyers Report All Expenditures.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 27.—(By the United Press.)—The senate committee probing the campaign expenses of organizations which supported or endorsed initiative measures on the fall ballot, closed its activity late yesterday, after quizzing proponents and opponents of the Campbell law practice bill.

F. C. Colburn, San Francisco, secretary of the California Bankers' Association, which worked to defeat the measure, was the first witness called in the Sample bill hearing. His organization spent $59,000 in opposing the proposition. Colburn stated, of which amount $53,085 was raised through special contributions of banks which are members of the association. The balance came from the general fund, he testified.

NEWSPAPER CAMPAIGN.

Secretary Colburn was instructed to forward to the committee copies of advertisements which the bankers' association inserted in California newspapers, urging the bill's defeat.

President J. W. S. Butler of the California Bar Association told how the campaign was conducted in support of the Sample bill. Attorney Fred Mellmann, Oakland, who managed the campaign conducted by the Alameda County Bar Association, also testified. His organization spent $4154.10, Mellmann stated.

D. W. Davenport, Berkeley, secretary of the San Francisco district of the bar association, detailed further facts on how the campaign was managed. The San Francisco division spent $9561, Davenport testified. There were four other districts in the state, all of which had their own plans for advocating the Sample measure.

LAWYERS OBEY LAW.

The senate investigating committee agreed that the bar organizations of the state had as a whole not only complied with the law in the matter of filing expense statements, but in a number of instances had filed even more complete statements than the statute requires.

Activity of the Commonwealth club of San Francisco in supporting the budget bill, was also devled into by the committee. E. A. Walcott, secretary, testified that counsel had advised him that his organization was exempt in the matter of filing an expense statement, hence his failure to do so.

The committee advised Secretary Walcott that he had been misinformed and he agreed to speedily furnish the affidavit which the law requires.

Legislators Enjoy Week-End Holiday

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 27.—Members of the legislature today were making their customary week-end visits to their homes or remaining in the capital to rest, both houses having adjourned yesterday until Monday morning. The only activity in the capital today is a continuation of the hearings of the Jones committee of the senate which is inquiring into campaign receipts and disbursements of organizations which opposed or favored measures on the ballot last November.

The week-end period of relaxation enjoyed by the legislators will not be shared by attaches and officers of the state board of control, who are toiling night and day to complete the biennial budget which is scheduled to be presented to the legislature some time Tuesday. Portions of the budget bill already are in the hands of Governor Richardson for his perusal and indorsement.

NEGRI-CHAPLIN WEDDING RUMOR STIRS MONTEREY

MONTEREY, Jan. 27.—(By International News Service?)—For a second time since the arrival of Pola Negri at Pebble Beach Lodge, this winter colony was all excited today over a report that Charlie Chaplin was coming.

The beautiful Polish screen star did not give out the report that "Sharlie" was on his way. Neither did she confirm it. Instead, she disappeared to the inner rooms of her suite and was not seen at all.

But the rumor persisted and all awaited the coming of Charlie's big car in which he was reported motoring north. It failed to show. Likewise the hotel registers failed to show the famous comedian's signature.

Wise ones hinted he was here in seclusion and that all plans have secretly been made for a wedding but "Sharlie" and Poli could not be interviewed on the sugject.

Heads to Fall in Rail Commission

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 27.—A revised budget asking a total appropriation of $887,400 and representing a saving of $184,896 over the previous budget, submitted early in November, was placed in the hands of Governor Richardson late yesterday by Clyde L. Seavey, president of the state railroad commission. It is stated that about twenty employees will be dropped.

Desire to cooperate with the fiscal officers of the state in holding down expenditures on a level with probable revenues was given as the reason for the slash, in a letter accompanying the budget.

Cuts made in the budget of the rail body were itemized as follows: Materials and supplies, $10,000; salaries and wages, $120,600; services and expenses, $7600; saving for five months of 1923, $20,000; revised estimate of fund credit, $27,296. Total, $184,896.

In the letter which accompanied the budget Seavey said: "It is the opinion of this commission that these revised figures are the minimum amount which will allow the railroad commission to function for the coming two years without a serious breakdown in its organization and they are submitted in consonance with your expressed desire that while economy must be practiced, no economy should be attempted which will seriously undermine the work which has been undertaken by the progressive legislation during the past decade."

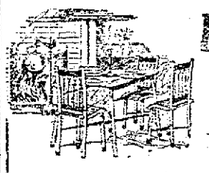

Seavey stated the commission would probably abolish about twenty positions, which would be an approximate reduction of one-sixth from the total force. The majority of those affected will be engineers, he stated.

Lawyer Accused of $100,000 Bank Fraud

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Lazarus Schanfeld, 31-year-old lawyer, was locked up at police headquarters just before midnight, charged with grand larceny in the theft of $100,000 from the Empire Trust Company and other New York banks by forging dormant accounts.

NEW MAN ON DRUG BOARD.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 27.—A. T. Johnson of San Diego was appointed yesterday by Governor Richardson to be a member of the state board of pharmacy. Johnson will succeed Raymond G. Lindley of Fresno.

An Oakland theater man's prediction about his stars in "The Varying Shore"

GEORGE EBEY SAYS

"Twenty thousand Oakland playgoers saw Katherine Van Buren triumph as 'Launa' in 'The Bird of Paradise' when every record for attendance was broken.

"I predict that Miss Van Buren will create just as great a furor and just as greatly charm our city in the wonderful role of 'Julia Venable,' the role created by Elsie Ferguson in 'The Varying Shore.' See her for yourself and judge.

"I predict that Stuart Sage will amaze you with his genius in the dual role of 'Julia's' lover and as 'Julia's' son—a role created by Rollo Peters. See him, and judge."

TECHNICAL SECT OF RADIO CLUB TO KEEP APART

Members of Branch Decide Not to Consolidate With O. T. R. C.

The technical branch of The Oakland TRIBUNE Radio Club is to remain a separate organization from the O. T. R. C. proper, following a decision to this effect at a meeting of the branch last night at the roof garden of The TRIBUNE building. An effort is to be made, however, to bring into the branch every member of the O. T. R. C. and invitations to this effect are to be mailed this week by the secretary, Mrs. Ethel L. Rice. All the members of the O. T. R. C. will be invited to attend the next meeting of the technical branch to be held on the evening of Friday, February 9.

The action of the technical branch last night followed the receipt of a letter from Miss Alta Wright, secretary of the O. T. R. C., suggesting the consolidation of the branch with the main club. The technical branch members believed that they had a particular work to do and that, insofar as much has been accomplished for those interested in the technical side of radio, they desired to remain a technical branch, but to extend to every member of the O. T. R. C. an invitation to join and enjoy the privileges afforded those technically inclined.

The O. T. R. C., of which Dr. C. R. Blake of Richmond is president and Miss Alta Wright of Alameda, secretary, will meet on March 16, its regular meeting dates being on the third Friday of each month composed of 31 days. All technical branch members are necessarily members of the O. T. R. C.; the members of the O. T. R. C. pay no dues, while the members of the technical branch pay 25 cents a month.

Preceding each technical branch meeting, KLX, The TRIBUNE'S broadcasting station, will announce the meetings and also those of the O. T. R. C. proper.

Vice-president N. J. Rice of the technical branch presided at last night's meeting in the absence of J. C. Malcolm, president.

An interesting talk on vacuum tubes was made by Edward M. Sargent, of the E. M. Sargent Radio Company, 1260 Franklin street. Sargent explained the functions of the tubes in such a way that their purpose in radio work was made clear to everyone. Sargent is giving a series of talks on radio before the technical branch, and this was the sixth of the series, which will last indefinitely.

Gilded Empty Cage Waits Songbird

By EDNA B. KINARD.

Is there a song bird in Oakland who is looking for a new home?

In a bright, sunny kindergarten room in the Stonehurst school there is a pretty gilded cage, new and empty, waiting to give comfort, love and honor to some feathered pet. Little hearts are beating with expectation of the day when the cage shall have its happy occupant and the school hour may be ushered in with the glad song of its gratitude.

Stonehurst Parent Teacher Association listened to the plea of the philanthropy chairman for a bird for the empty cage in the kindergarten room this week. Doners may communicate with Mrs. William Gall, 1285 One Hundred and Seventh avenue, Elmhurst 110, president. Along with the mothers' interest in the school goes a sympathy for the people of the neighborhood who have fallen on hard times. A lad who has become ill was the principal care of the women this week.

Opportunities to give Stonehurst school children musical training were announced before the business session. Free lessons in orchestral instruments have been secured. Instruction in piano is being offered at fifty cents a lesson and in drums for fifteen cents a lesson. The entire program is under the direction of the music department in the Oakland Public schools, Glenn Woods, director.

An elaborate supper, of which two score members and guests partook, concluded the session.

Ruhr Diagnosed By Experts for Sunday Tribune

WHILE the various capitals involved disclaim responsibility for the tangles resulting from the French invasion of the Ruhr, dire predictions are voiced as to the ultimate outcome. And once again, the SUNDAY TRIBUNE is enabled, through the special cables at its command, to supply its readers with exclusive, comprehensive pen pictures of the situation.

One of the features of tomorrow's contributions will be a warning by A. G. Gardiner, Britain's greatest Liberal editor, that France's course is demolishing prospects of peace in Europe for a generation and bringing on years of chronic warfare.

On the other hand, Andre Tardieu, French political leader and writer, urges even sterner measures on Poincare, charging that the government has been over cautious in its occupation methods.

From Maximilian Harden, German spokesman, comes the accusation that the iron masters of France are responsible for the seizure of the Ruhr industrial region, in their desire to get speedier shipments of coal to smelt the Lorraine ores.

Supplementing these features are others from European writers and still others from some of the leading journalists of the American continent.

FRANCE BLAMED FOR FAILURE OF WARSHIP SLASH

Prof. E. T. Williams, Who Attended Arms Conference, Tells of Balk on Subs.

France is responsible for the failure of the delegates to the International Limitations of Arms conference at Washington to reduce the number of submarines and destroyers when the warship quota for each nation was reduced.

Professor Edward T. Williams of the University of California, who attended the conference, placed the blame for the non-reduction of the marine fighting forces at the door of France yesterday, in an address before the members of the High Twelve club in the Hotel Oakland.

According to Professor Williams, much has been heard of the things the conference did not accomplish, but sight has been lost of the great good accomplished by this gathering of the representatives of the nations of the world at the suggestion of America.

REPLIES TO CRITICISM.

"It is true that the conference did not accomplish the establishment of permanent peace, but that was not the object it set out to accomplish," said Professor Williams. "There has also been much criticism of the results attained in limiting the naval equipment of the great powers of the world.

"The arguments has been advanced that the capital ships doomed to the scrap heap under the terms of the agreement had outlived their effectiveness as weapons of warfare and that their abandonment has therefore not reduced the possibilities of war. This may be true, but at the same time the limitation of the number of these warships effected a saving of millions of dollars for this country, England and Japan.

"It has removed the necessity for each of these nations to carry on great and extensive capital ship building projects every year and has reduced by hundreds of thousands of dollars the maintenance and operating expenses of the navy.

FRANCE HELD TO SUBS.

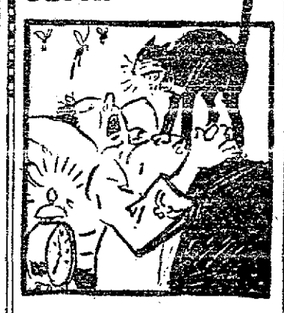

"The subject of reducing the number of submarines and destroyers and smaller naval craft, conceded to be the real fighting weapons of naval warfare, was taken up at the conference with serious intent and the only reason an agreement was not reached covering the limitation of these types of vessels was because France would not consent to reduce her submarine forces.

"Lord Lee of the British admiralty argued against the use of submarines in warfare, declaring that the World War had proved they were useless as legitimate weapons and were only effective against unarmed merchant ships and ocean liners, pointing out that England had transported 15,000,000 men to France on armed ships without a single loss."

Professor Williams, who is head of the Oriental languages department at the university, said that if the conference accomplished nothing else but the establishment of friendship between China and Japan this was sufficient to warrant its occurrence.

In conclusion, the savant voiced the opinion that the time is coming when "wars among nations like the old wars among royal families will be made impossible through the establishment of a federation of the nations of the world."

HOW TO SLEEP ON A BARE FLOOR

IT is more a matter of SLEEP, than of bed or bunk!

Some people can sleep sitting up, standing up, even while walking.

Many people can't sleep in the softest of downy beds; and all of us suffer occasionally from nerve-racking, wearing, tiring wakefulness at night.

There is always a reason for sleeplessness. Usually, it is a "sour" stomach, a liver that has "lain down" on the job, congested bowels, or biliousness.

Then, just before retiring, take Beecham's Pills. They soothe an uneasy stomach, encourage the organs of digestion and elimination to natural activity, and assure restful sleep no matter what!

12 CHARITIES GET SHARE OF JONAS ESTATE

Bulk of Half Million Left by Merchant Goes to Widow and Children.

Initial steps were taken today to probate the $500,000 estate of Abraham Jonas, Oakland merchant, who died in San Francisco January 16.

The filing of a petition for probate of the will yesterday afternoon brought to light the fact that twelve Oakland and San Francisco charitable institutions are made beneficiaries under the will. Mrs. Gertrude Herschman, a daughter, and Irving Jonas, a son, named in the will as executors are the petitioners.

The two executors are left $10,000 each, to be expended by them as they see fit and for which they are to make no accounting. The two are instructed to set aside a trust fund of $20,000 for the benefit of four grandchildren, Aimee and Janice Goltree and Dorothy and Gertrude Jonas. Each is to be given $5000 when she reaches the age of twenty-one.

The residue of the estate, with the deduction of charitable bequests, is divided, one-half to the widow, Mrs. Katie Jonas, and the remaining half to be equally divided among the four children, Mrs. Gertrude Herschman, Mrs. Corinne Goltree and Irving and Milton Jonas.

The charitable bequests are as follows: The First Hebrew Congregation is willed $500 to be invested in a scholarship fund, the income from which is to be awarded annually to the best Hebrew scholar; to the Jewish Relief Federation of Alameda county, $1250; Pacific Hebrew Orphan Asylum, San Francisco, $250; Mt. Zion hospital, San Francisco, $250; Hebrew Home for the Aged, San Francisco, $250; Daughters of Israel Relief society, $250; Jewish Relief Federation, $250 to be added to the gift to the society made on the Jonas' fortieth anniversary; Merritt hospital, Oakland, $500; Providence hospital, Oakland, $250; Kings Daughters Home, Oakland, $250; Associated Charities of Oakland, $250, and Fabiola hospital, Oakland, $250.

CLOUDY SUNDAY FORECAST GIVEN FOR BAY REGION

New Storm Off Vancouver Island Causes Official Some Quick Thought.

A new storm of rapid motion which appeared suddenly off Vancouver Island yesterday had the United States Weather Bureau officials a bit puzzled today to decide whether or not Northern California would have a fair Sunday. Forecaster G. H. Willson finally determined to be on the safe side and predicted increasing cloudiness with the probability of rain.

Snow in some sections and rain in others fell in extreme Northwestern California, Oregon and Washington during the night. It is possible that the disturbance may move quickly eastward and that the bay cities and the Sacramento, Santa Clara and San Joaquin valleys will escape without moisture. Nevertheless, the situation is doubtful. Southeast storm warnings were ordered displayed at Washington ports and at the mouth of the Columbia river.

Eureka reports .08 inches of rain but that city was as far south as the moisture extended.

Some people will hang an auto license on anything that runs.

ALAMEDA PLANS CAUCUS OVER APPORTIONMENT

New Plan Proposed Would Add to County's Seats; South Demands Action.

By E. VAN LIER RIBBINK.
TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, Jan. 27.—The air is thick with reapportionment rumors, and the desks of the legislators—and the wastepaper baskets—full of reapportionment propaganda with which the south is flooding the legislature.

The latest measure in respect to this burning question was introduced yesterday in the assembly by Charles W. Cleary of Tulare county and by F. G. Stevenot, whose enormous constituency—larger than many a European kingdom—comprises Amador, El Dorado, Alpine and Calaveras counties. This measure deserves no preference to any other, were it not for the fact that it would give Alameda county two additional assemblymen, making the Alameda representation in the assembly ten instead of eight. Furthermore this bill would reduce the San Francisco and Los Angeles representations to ten assemblymen each. The remaining fifty seats would be distributed among the other counties on a 30,000 population basis. As regards the senate, the bill would place the entire representation on a population basis, giving the south its heart's desire in that house. Thus, say the sponsors of the bill, the cowcounties will control the assembly, and the cities the senate—and all will be happy, maybe.

ALAMEDA TO CAUCUS

Senator Frank M. Carr of Oakland, chairman of the Alameda delegation caucus, informs me that he has called a caucus of the Alameda representatives for Tuesday next, to discuss re-apportionment, the threat of university division, and other matters.

In the past week legislators have been getting restless as to just what the Alamedans intend to do, and it is believed that considerable pressure is being brought to bear on the delegation to announce its stand.

As recently announced in The TRIBUNE, the movement among delegates from the south to ask a popular referendum in case re-apportionment is not granted, is now well under way. There was a report today that a huge campaign fund for the measure has been subscribed in Los Angeles.

SOUTHERN RESOLUTION

However, that may be, there certainly is something doing. Here is a joint resolution of the Republican county central committees of five southern counties, Orange, Los Angeles, Ventura, Santa Barbara and Inyo, which was today given to every assemblyman and senator and which embodies some remarkably plain language:

"Whereas, Conditions have arisen which seem to require prompt and immediate action on the part of representatives of Southern California in the state legislature, in order to secure proper re-apportionment of the assembly and senatorial districts of the state, in accordance with the provisions of the constitution, and

"There appears to be a disposition on the part of representatives of some districts within the state to utterly disregard their duties and obligations under the constitution and to delay unnecessarily and unjustifiably such re-apportionment, be it

"Resolved, By this committee, representing Republican county central committees of certain counties of Southern California, namely, Orange, Los Angeles, Imperial, Ventura, Inyo, and Santa Barbara counties, that we urge upon our representatives in the state legislature, that steps be taken immediately to secure such constitutional re-apportionment."

This interesting document is accompanied by a letter, addressing each legislator as "Fellow Californian." It is really quite touching, that happy faculty of the south to remember its solidarity with other parts of the state in some cases—and to forget it in others!

BUDGET CLASH.

There was a little "spat" in the assembly when administration leaders tried to fix a date for the consideration of the budget by the assembly, while members are yet in the dark as to when the governor intends to present his budget. It was clear that no legislator wanted to go home without having had an opportunity to go through the budget, discuss it with fellow members, and turn it inside out if necessary, thereby placing himself in a position to tell the home folks all about it.

Assemblyman Dan Williams and principal opponents of the administration proposal. A committee of three was eventually appointed to call on Governor Friend W. Richardson, and ask when the budget will be ready. When the assembly receives this information, it will fix a date for adjournment on some day next week.

SWEEPING ECONOMY PLAN.

A sweeping economy measure was introduced in the assembly by E. P. Bromley of Los Angeles. This would abolish the present state boards of accountancy, architecture, dental examiners, embalmers, notary examiners, medical examiners, optometrists, pharmacy and veterinarians. In their place would come a consolidated department of "Professional Standards" under a salaried director.

It is a pleasure in these days of the economy-guillotine, to meet state officers who are serene and not worried over the fate of their department. Such are F. M. Newbert and George Neal of the State Fish and Game Commission. Both pointed to the exceptional record of the commission, to the general good will demonstrated toward it by the administration, the legislature and the general public, which make it unlikely that the fish and game department will be in any way interfered with.

Newbert considers it likely that a bill will be presented, raising the cost of fish and game licenses from $1 to $2, since that seems to be the consensus of opinion among sportsmen in the state. He pointed out that a combined license in Washington costs $7.50, and in Oregon $5. Any such increased revenue, he declared, can be profitably used by the Fish and Game Commission for its splendid fish hatcheries and other [illegible]

'To Have and To Hold' Gives Noble Death To Famous Ship

BETTY COMPSON and BERT LYTELL, who are playing the leading roles at the Franklin Theater in the film version of "To Have and To Hold."

Bert Lytell and Betty Compson Are Co-Stars in Picturization Which Opens at Franklin Today

During the gold-rush days of early California a trading ship was plying between San Francisco and Honolulu, making side trips to the South Sea islands. It was known as the William G. Irwin. Many of the islands now seen on the charts have been put there due to the explorations of this history-laden craft.

The William G. Irwin is no more, for recently it fell into the possession of the Paramount studios. It was rebuilt into a pirate galleon, infested with such latter-day pirates as Walter Long, Raymond Hatton and W. J. Ferguson, later to be captured by no less a personage than Bert Lytell, of movie fame, and was finally burnt to the water's edge while the cameras were clicking merrily.

The William G. Irwin had a noble death, for millions of photoplay patrons are getting a real thrill at the sight of the proud little sailing vessel, and are reveling over the scenes of piracy, romance and action that take place on its decks

Bert Lytell and Betty Compson are the costars in a picturization of Mary Johnston's famous novel, "To Have and To Hold" which opens at the Franklin theater today for a seven days' run.

Associated with the two stars is Theodore Kosloff, the celebrated Russian ballet master. The story is of the seventeenth century, with old Virginia and England as the locale of the many and varied scenes. From court atmosphere in the reign of James I to Indian and pirate trickery in the newly-formed state of Virginia, the tale runs fast and furious. It is a formidable drama that is bound to hold the audience tense and on its toes

"To Have and To Hold" is proclaimed one of the best film dramas of the year and reports from San Francisco, New York and Chicago say that Lytell and Miss Compson, the girl who became famous overnight by her work as Rose in "The Miracle Man," are seen at their best

WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN CHAIR

ALAMEDA, Jan. 27. — Failure to see her neighbor, Mrs. J. E. Schooley, aged 67, around her home at 1416 Ninth street for the last three days, prompted Mrs. K. McGowan to report to the police last night and investigation by Policeman Louis Savina and Joseph Serventi resulted in finding the aged woman dead in a chair, with two gas burners from a stove in the kitchen turned on.

One of the burners evidently had been extinguished and flooded the house with gas fumes. Hugh Gallagher, branch coroner called into the case, reported the woman had been dead for several days and apparently had been overcome by gas while taking a nap in her chair. Mrs. Schooley was a widow and lived alone.

The body was removed to the branch morgue.

Courts to Settle Island Ownership

ALAMEDA, Jan. 27.—In an endeavor to determine the ownership of Government Island, which is being disputed by the cities of Alameda and Oakland, a suit will open in the Superior Court March 5, according to an announcement made today by William J. Locke.

Acting under the instructions of the City Council Locke has been securing data to present when the case is called. As part of the testimony which the city attorney will present is that of old sea captains and pilots who navigated the estuary before the tidal canal was constructed by the government.

Locke is of the opinion that such evidence will be valuable to Alameda in [illegible] the channels and shore lines of the estuary during the decade of 1870-80 and shows, according to Locke, that the boundary line of Alameda runs north of the island.

The United States Emergency Fleet corporation during the World War was given a lease on the island which does not expire until June 1, 1943.

At the conclusion of the determination of which city owns Government Island, definite action is to be taken for the cancellation of the lease.

Boy Scouts to Have Big Bicycle Club

ALAMEDA, Jan. 27.—Plans are under way for a formation of a cycling club for the benefit of all members of the Boy Scout organization in Alameda, it is announced by F. reenlee, assistant scoutmaster of Troop No. 2.

The club as now planned is open for membership to all scouts who are merit badge members or have first-class scout rating. Examinations for merit badges in scouting are to be held inside the next few weeks, it is said.

Greenlee is planning to have many bike excursions to nearby points of interest after the club is [illegible]

Breeden the pastor, will use as his theme, "Repent or Perish."

LAUNCH PLAN FOR INCREASING ATTENDANCE

The First Methodist Episcopal Sunday school is launching a unique and interesting plan for increasing their regular attendance and securing new members. The plan calls for a Mountain Climbing contest, which begins on the first Sunday in February and continues for two months. Each department of the school [illegible] climb. Large oil paintings of these mountains have been secured and on the mountains are laid out trails for each class. Each new member secured for the school counts one thousand feet on the trail for the class that brings him. But he must attend at least three of the first five Sundays following his enrollment; otherwise he will cause his class to slip back one thousand feet. From two hundred fifty to one thousand feet are also given each Sunday to those classes who have from sixty to one hundred per cent of their enrollment present. If less than sixty per cent is present, the class slips down the trail.

Interest is being manifested in this Mountain Climbing contest and already different individuals are offering prizes for the classes who stand highest on the mountains at the close of the contest.

Charter Draft Ready For Friday's Meeting

RICHMOND, Jan. 27.—The meeting of the board of freeholders held last night for the purpose of hearing views of the citizens along the lines of a new city charter brought out a packed council chamber and expressions of opinion from a number of residents. At the conclusion of the discussion President C. L. Abbott announced that at the next meeting the board would actually get busy on the new charter.

Municipal Expert H. A. Mason of San Francisco, who is employed by the board in an advisorial capacity, stated last night that he would have a rough draft of the first three sections of a new charter ready to submit at next Friday's meeting.

REVOLT OCCURS IN RANKS OF BIG PICTURE 'TRUST'

Value of Will H. Hays As "Adviser" Questioned By Producers.

By ROBERT A. DONALDSON.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27.—While the independent film producers and stars are gathering their clans solidly under the leadership of Douglas Fairbanks, there were rumblings today of a revolt in the ranks of the big producers of the motion picture "trust."

That there is a battle going on behind closed doors over the value of Will H. Hays, hired by them as "adviser to the motion picture industry," at a salary of $150,000 a year, seemed certain.

It is known that some members of this organization of producers and distributors feel that paying Hays this salary is putting overhead cost on producers, distributors and eventually on exhibitors, which is not worth the price.

LASKY AND ZUKOR PAT.

Jesse L. Lasky and Adolph Zukor, however, heads of the Famous Players-Lasky and Paramount organization, the biggest organization in the group, are known to be standing pat on Hays and his value to the motion picture.

"Mr. Hays' record is unimpeachable," Lasky declared. Since he has been the leader of the Motion Picture Producers' and Distributors' Association, the entire industry has been uplifted. He is a great benefactor and I have the utmost faith in him. All businesses need a leader and the film industry is a nationally organized business.

"I deplore the seeming division in the ranks of the industry, especially over the value of Mr. Hays, but I believe the recent furore is definitely a thing of the past."

In answer to questions as to whether there was to be a conference shortly by the trust producers to discuss Hays' value to the industry, Lasky said:

"It probably never will reach that stage. But if it does, I am for Hays, first, last and all the time."

LAEMMLE FOR SALARY CUT.

Carl Laemmle, sixteen years ago a retail clothing merchant in Oshkosh, Wis., but now head of Universal, one of the largest of the producers, has arrived for his annual inspection of Universal City, opening his arrival with a blast against the actors and actresses, whom he declares are being paid too much.

Laemmle also declared that theaters are charging too much for admission and he blames this on excessive salaries.

"Theaters now charging 50 cents ought to be given a chance to charge 25 cents and keep their theaters full," he said. "People would go twice as often. Now they are getting the 'once a week' idea."

Mills College Head To Address C. of C.

ALAMEDA, Jan. 27.—"Civic Improvements" is the subject on which Dr. Aurelia Reinhardt, president of Mills College, will address the members of the Alameda Chamber of Commerce at its annual banquet, which is to be held in the Eagles' clubhouse in Oak street, Thursday night, February 8, as announced by Ernest R. Neiss, chairman of the committee in charge of the evening.

Other details, including decorations and music, are in charge of Mrs. William Wahmuth, and will be announced next Monday night at a special meeting of the banquet committee called by Edward Babue, president. The meeting will be held in the council chamber, city hall, at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Lincoln Will Lecture on "Life"

Red Triangle Sets Program For Year

The Red Triangle, men and women composed of those who served the Y. M. C. A. overseas, are perpetuating the memory of the eventful days of their service during the war period by meeting at intervals in Oakland and San Francisco.

CURTAIN CALLS

By WOOD SOANES

KATE STANLEY, famous half a century ago as an actress and singer, lessee of the Royalty theater in London, and author of the play "Mixed Relations" adapted from Sardou's "Divorcons," is dead.

Miss Stanley, whose name was once one to be conjured with, died this week in Brighton, England, where she has been living since her retirement in 1894. Her last appearance was as Carrie Cuthbert in "A Night in Town."

The veteran actress was a native of this country and made her first appearance in pantomime as the Fairy Queen. In the sixties she went abroad where she appeared with Charles Kean making a name for herself as Jessica in "The Merchant of Venice" her opening piece in Edinburgh.

It was with the song "The Bells Go A-Ringing for Sarah," first offered at the Oxford Music Hall, that Miss Stanley made her first big hit as a vocalist. The song created a furore. Later she appeared in London in a burlesque. "The Stranger, Stranger Than Ever," in support of Lionel Brough and at the Drury Lane in the pantomime "Beauty and the Beast."

Along in the early seventies Miss Stanley returned here appearing in "The Black Crook" and "King Carrot" which she played in London on her return there. She was the Serpolette in "The Chimes of Normandy" and her last tours were in "Vetah" for which she wrote the libretto and "Indiana."

Eleanor Parker Returns as "Mrs. Fair"

Mrs. Eleanor Dudley Parker Wells, wife of Major Ward Stanley Wells, which is just another way of saying Eleanor Parker, is coming back to the Fulton theater to join the company and will make her debut in the role created by Blanche Bates in "The Famous Mrs. Fair" which will be presented during the last weeks of February.

Miss Parker's return is after a long absence. She was for some time a leading woman for Harry Bishop, John J. MacArthur and George Ebey and at one time co-starred in a brief road engagement with Will Lloyd, playing "Hobson's Choice." She returns to play second business but will be more or less starred in her opening.

On Tuesday last there was a little story in this column about Valerie Valaire. It told how Miss Valaire, seen here in "The Bat," was general understudy in "It Is the Law" and was suddenly called upon to play Alma Tell's leading role. Unlike fiction Miss Valaire played the role for one night and then reverted to her maid's role.

At the time it was announced that Miss Valaire would be given a real part in a future production, yet her name appears as "A Guest" in Maude Fulton's "The Humming Bird," now playing at the Ritz where Miss Valaire appeared with "It Is the Law." Such is life in the remote east. The young woman now plays her maid with Alma Tell at the Bayes and then taxis over to the Ritz to do a society woman.

WOOD QUESTIONS REFUGEE TITLE TO OCEAN HOMES

Admiral Says Ships Belong to Kerensky Regime and Not to Soviets.

MANILA, Jan. 27.—(By the Associated Press).—It is reported here today that the one ship of the Russian refugee fleet reported wrecked off Formosa yesterday was small but it is not known how many persons were aboard. All other vessels of the fleet either are in quarantine at Mariveles at the entrance to Manila bay or reported en route from Formosa.

Admiral Stark, commander of the Exiles, said the four ships presumably on their way here should arrive in the next few days unless stormy weather compels them to take refuge at some northern port. He added that he had confidence in the officers of these four vessels and believed that none had deserted.

Governor General Wood questioned Admiral Stark today regarding the title of the refugees to their ships. The admiral said they had belonged to the Kerensky regime, the last Russian government which the refugees recognized. He declared that his men were holding the vessels in trust for such stable government as might finally be established in Russia. He explained that the Vladivostok officials refused to recognize the soviet government.

According to Russian officials there is about $10,000 in American gold aboard the ships.

Governor General Wood, on his return to Manila from Mariveles, said he would ask the government at Washington to allot part of the Russian relief fund for the refugees here. He added that nothing had been determined regarding their final disposition.

SPECIAL TRAIN FURNISHED MOB, RAIL MEN ASSERT

Enginemen Head Demands Inquiry Into Actions of Arkansas Raiders.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 27.—(By the Associated Press.)—The charges that a "mob special" carrying armed men was run over the Missouri & North Arkansas railroad for the purpose of inflicting punishment upon striking employees of the railway, were made in a statement made public today by D. B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

Robertson communicated with the governor of Arkansas asking a thorough investigation of the riot trouble at Harrison, involving the lynching of a striker by unidentified men and the expulsion of a number of other strikers by a "citizens' committee." He has promised the governor that his organization would co-operate with the state by bringing to justice all guilty parties regardless of who they may be.

The brotherhood directors have voted to set aside $10,000 for the relief of striking firemen on the Missouri & North Arkansas line and $500 also was voted to the widow of E. C. Gregor, the union machinist who was hanged at Harrison, Ark.

"No definite statement has yet been made as to the position of the brotherhood of locomotive firemen and enginemen concerning the outrages committed in the state of Arkansas, when an armed mob was carried on a special train over the Missouri & North Arkansas for the purpose of inflicting punishment upon employees and their families who, about two years ago, left the service of the railroad and engaged in a legal strike in protest against an arbitrary and excessive reduction in their wages made effective by the management in violation of the transportation act," said the statement.

Preliminary press reports were somewhat vague, Robertson said, but indicated that the Arkansas affair was the culmination of public sentiment against the Missouri and North Arkansas strikers, but he declared it seemed unbelievable that the railroad management knew nothing of the running of what he termed the "mob special."

"The 'spirit of the mob' seems to have ruled the entire situation from the time the train was started on its 'mission' until it reached Harrison, Ark., and the striking members unmercifully beaten, one of their associates hanged from a railroad trestle, and the families of all the strikers separated and driven into the woods of Arkansas without food or shelter," he said.

UK. SUN'S ARMY LEADER SLAIN IN CANTON COUNCIL

Return of Ousted Chief Delayed: Soviet Looks to China Alliance.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 27 (By International News Service).—As Dr. Sun Yat Sen was boarding a boat today to sail for Canton he received a telegram from the civil governor of Sun's former capital advising him not to sail as Sun's leading general in the recapture of the city had been assassinated during the war council. The message added that Canton was tense following the assassination and further trouble feared. Dr. Sun hastily cancelled his sailing plans.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 27.—(By the Associated Press).—Growth of a powerful alliance between soviet Russia and the southern faction of China headed by Sun Yat-sen is seen in an editorial today in which Eugene Chen, personal secretary and right hand man to Dr. Sun, discusses the cordial conference yesterday between the Canton leader and A. A. Joffe, envoy extraordinary from Moscow to China.

"Russia," he writes "shares with China a strain of blood high in Asia. Scratch the Muscovite and it is said you find a Tartar. Is it this call of blood that has turned the face of Russia toward China?

RUSSIA LOOKS EAST

"We can leave this thought to the attention of the post-war policy of the Anglo-Latin conquerors, for it is to Clemenceau's cordon sanitaire and its Caesarian implications that one must assign the presence of Russians at Angora, Teheran and Cabul, in sight of the roads to India and Peking, and it may have to be added, Tokio. Thither seems the diplomacy of the old Mandarin capital sending the revolutionary heir of old Russia, but there is a possibility that the orientation now has disappeared through the intervention of Sun Yat-sen.

"This is one meaning of the conversations between Sun Yat-sen and and Joffe. There are other meanings: the menacing secession movement tearing the outer Mongolian body has been arrested, and the same may be said of a parallel development in connection with the Chinese-Eastern railway which appeared to threaten combinations that could result only in war for the three nations in Northern Manchuria.

RUSSIA AND CHINA

"There is a suggestion that the ultimate outcome of the policy underlying the conversations depends on the attitude of the great powers toward Russia and toward Sun Yat-sen. That outcome might be the co-operation of Russia and China in making available their resources to the uses of humanity, or a continued hostility to Russia and what appears like hostility to Sun Yat-sen on the part of certain great powers might force an iron alliance between China and Russia directed to other ends.

"It is clear that the conversations necessarily alter the international rating of Sun Yat-sen, and he emerges a world force. The support of Russia seems pledged him.

"Despite the economic blockade Russia actually is a great power and potentially, perhaps the greatest power of tomorrow. Russia must soon reenter the economic life of the world through recognition, long overdue, and immediately her transport system is set in order, she will remerge powerful and decisive in the affairs of nations. And this resurgent Russia will be the friend and ally of Sun Yat-sen."

PIEDMONT, Jan. 27.—Search is being made today for two unidentified men who late Thursday evening stepped upon the running board of an automobile driven by Mrs. A. C. Dawson society matron, living at 472 Wildwood avenue and ordered her to stop the machine.

The men boarded the machine within a couple of blocks of her home as she was going to the Key Route station at Fortieth and Piedmont, to meet her husband, a San Francisco stock broker.

Instead of complying when the men ordered her to stop her car she stepped on the gas and the machine lurched forward. One of the men was thrown to the street and the other clung to the machine until it swerved around a corner, when he was forced to jump.

At the time of the attempted holdup Mrs. Dawson was wearing a platinum wrist watch and valuable rings.

Visiting Pastors in Many Pulpits Tomorrow

Lions of the Day Discussed at First Presbyterian

Visiting ministers and evangelists are occupying many of the Oakland pulpits tomorrow and are presenting subjects which vary from the missionary work in Japan to the individual needs of the people of Oakland.

Dr. Frank M. Silsley, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, is presenting a special sermon tomorrow night on "Taming the Lions of Broadway," in which he is to discuss a number of angles of the present day city life.

First Presbyterian

"Taming the Lions on Broadway" is the subject for Dr. Frank M. Silsley's evening sermon at the First Presbyterian church tomorrow. Questions to be considered during the sermon include:

What are the Lions at-large today? What great besetting sin is one of the Lions? What about the money-mad materialists who are Lions? What of the antagonists of the faith, who are Lions? What of mad motorists and too much Jazz company that are Lions? What will tame these Lions?

The Temple Choir of fifty voices under the direction of Walter B. Kennedy, have arranged a program of music for tomorrow night. The quartette will sing, "Hide Thou Me," by Hyatt and the choir will render R. Huntington Woodman's master anthem, "And In That Day," a work of intense power and majesty. The organ recital program is of especial interest, being transcriptions of three well known numbers: the first, an orchestral selection from Mascagni's most popular work; the second, a piano piece by the noted Polish pianist and statesman, Paderewsky; and the third, a Russian folk song filled with pathos and longing, arranged by the former organist of First Church, Clarence Eddy.

At the morning service, Dr. Silsley has for his subject topic, "Facing the Storm."

First Universalist

"Why grow old, or at least why act old?" is the query of Rev. Bernard C. Ruggles, pastor of the First Universalist church and his answer is to be in the form of a sermon to be delivered before the church tomorrow on "The Secret of Your Presence; The Spirit of Youth."

The young people of the church are to be in evidence tomorrow and to take an important part in the program to make it a happy lively day for all. At an afternoon service to be held at 5:30 the young people will listen in on a sermon to be broadcasted by Rev. Stanley Manning who recently was in the city. The sermon is to be broadcasted from Boston and is to all the young people of the Universalist churches in America.

Beginning with the first Sunday in February and during that month Rev. Ruggles will give a series of addresses on "These Universals are Our Fundamentals."

Thousand Oaks Baptist

Meetings of the Thousand Oaks Baptist church will be held tomorrow in the school auditorium, Colusa and Tacoma avenues, Berkeley.

"Heroes of the Church," will be the subject of the talk to boys and girls by Rev. Albert Ehrgott, previous to the morning church service, when he will speak on "The Fire Brand." "Love That Can Hate" will be the topic of Rev. Ehrgott at the evening hour.

A bus service is conducted from the Albany Baptist Mission to the morning service at the Thousand Oaks church.

First Congregational

"The Advantages of Being Honest", will be the theme of Dr. Herman F. Swartz at the First Congregational church tomorrow morning. He states that he will show in this sermon that there are certain fundamental moral laws in God's universe, and that anyone who transgresses these laws is bound ultimately to meet disaster.

"Honesty and fair dealing may sometimes mean temporary loss for the honest man but, in the long run, they are bound to result to his advantage because of the moral nature of God. Righteousness and prosperity must ultimately go hand in hand," he said while discussing the sermon.

At the evening service, Capt. David Doull of Australia, will give an illustrated lecture on "Australia, Savage and Civilized." Captain Doull is a widely known lecturer on foreign countries who has circled the globe twice and who fought in the Gallipoli campaign with the famous Anzac contingent in the World War. Stereopticon slides illustrating this lecture are of interest, portraying the life and customs of the Australian aborigines or "blackfellows," who inhabit the great central desert of the Australian continent. Many of these tribes are cannibals and Captain Doull will tell of this almost last stronghold of primitive savagery left on the globe.

The next regular communion service and reception of members will be held Sunday morning, February 4, at which time quite a number of new members will be received.

Golden Gate Baptist

At the evening services tomorrow of the Golden Gate Baptist church, Rev. Williard Fuller, the pastor, will speak on "Testimony of the Dust," using a large chart to illustrate his address. Of all the events transpiring in these passing days, there is nothing of such startling interest as the recent discovery of the tomb of King Tutenkhamun in the Valley of the Kings, according to Rev. Fuller.

"No course of Bible study can be complete without some knowledge of the testimony of Bible truth by the dumb witnesses that have been unearthed in recent years in Egypt, Babylonia, Syria and other eastern lands," declared Rev. Fuller, while speaking of his sermon.

"Testimony of the Dust," is the title of a small pamphlet gotten out some time ago by Rev. Fuller.

Old St. John's Episcopal

"The Conversion of St. Paul," will be the morning sermon subject at old St. John's Episcopal church, where Rev. John Barrett, the pastor, will preach both morning and evening.

"Next after Christ, St. Paul is the great outstanding figure in the New Testament, for none of the others, not even St. Peter or St. John counted for so much in the beginnings of the Christian church. The knowledge of his determination and purpose cannot help but be an inspirational power in the crises of life," said Father Barrett in speaking of the sermon.

The evening sermon will be a doctrinal one, upon "Reasons For Confirmation," yet the subject will be interpreted in a popular and practical way.

The play given last week by the ladies of St. John's Dramatic Society will be repeated in response to a request received.

Arrangements are being made to have a big service of more than ordinary merit on February 2, in order to celebrate Candelmas Day. This always is a big event at St. John's.

Danish-Norwegian Baptist

The Danish language will be used at the morning service of the Danish-Norwegian church when Rev. P. Petersen, the pastor, will speak on "The Children's Relation to the Father in the Heavenly Family." The evening service will be conducted in English, and Rev. Petersen will speak on "The Children's Relation to Each Other in the Heavenly Family."

The Young People's meeting held before the evening service will be conducted by Group No. 4. Special music is to be presented at all the services.

At Plymouth Congregational church, Dr. Charles L. Kloss, the pastor, will preach tomorrow morning on the subject "The Quality of Boldness"

In the evening, there will be a picture sermon presented in five reels featuring Frederick Warde, the eminent tragedian. Sunday evening subject for February 4 is "The Soul's Measuring Rod"; Sunday evening, subject for February 11 is, "Two Emancipators—Darwin and Lincoln."

The music at Plymouth, under the direction of Lowell Redfield, the new music director, is attracting favorable comment. Redfield has scheduled an interesting program for both services next Sunday.

On Thursday, February 1, there will be an all-day session of the newly organized Woman's League, with luncheon at noon. A special program under the direction of Mrs. J. H. Barker, president, will be carried out.

"The Wonders of Evolution"

More wonderful than the theory of creation, as described in the book of Genesis, is the scientific theory of evolution. The astronomer today observes the process of world-making. The geologist reads the history of the rocks and sees evolution still at work. Evolution enables man to find God within the universe. Modern man looks for God not in miraculous experiences and supernatural revelations. Every sunrise and sunset is an open road leading to God.

What Is a BLUE SUNDAY?

FREQUENTLY you hear about BLUE Sunday laws. What is a BLUE Sunday? Would your attendance at church make your Sunday a blue one? On a stormy Sunday many a motorist enjoys a very blue day. Concessionaries experience Sunday blues when rigorous weather keeps the buying crowd at home. Doesn't the "blue" part of a blue Sunday depend upon the individual point of view?

Would you condemn the pastor of this church if he preached on Sunday morning, and played golf on Sunday afternoon? Would you gossip about a church baseball team that played its games on Sunday mornings? Is there a Sunday double standard for living,—one for church people and one for others?

Strip the Sunday observance argument of all its fol-de-rol:—what is Sunday for?"HOW SHALL WE SPEND SUNDAY?"—that's a mighty interesting subject for any fair-minded man to consider! Hear it discussed by a fair-minded man—Dr. John Snape—Sunday night at 7:45. You'll find a big group of men at our Sunday night services—always! There's a reason.

Dr. Snape's topic Sunday morning: "A Puzzle for a Botanist"—the Parable of the Mustard Seed.

Quarterly Meetings Planned

The executive committee of the Eastbay Local Assembly of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, consisting of the president Charles Spurgeon of Christ's church, Alameda, with the four vice-presidents, Thomas W. Statler, Christ's church, Alameda; E. A. Peat, Trinity church, Oakland; Fredrick A. Anderson of St. Peter's church, Oakland, and George Harlow of St. Edmund's church, Richmond, together with the secretary, Alfred Auze of St. Clements church, Berkeley; treasurer Davis of Trinity church, Oakland; Rev. D. W. Wallace, St. Augustine's church, Oakland, and National Council Member S. Morris, met this week to formulate plans for the year 1923.

They have planned for four quarterly meetings for the year; each meeting to be one of vital importance with the best speaker that can possibly be obtained.

The first meeting will take place on Tuesday, at 8 p. m. at Christ church, Alameda, the speaker being Rev. Paul Little, a Methodist minister of Richmond, Calif., who is studying at the Berkeley Divinity school to be a priest of the Episcopal church. There will be moving pictures and several musical numbers, and men and boys from all the different parishes will be warmly welcomed.

Olivet Congregational

Dr. Frank Bernard Solin of New York City is to deliver the address at the evening service of the Olivet Congregational church tomorrow. He will use as his topic "The Relationship Between Judaism and Christianity." Dr. Solin who states that he is devoting his life in an endeavor to bring the Jew and Christian closer together in the bonds of faith and love is representing the Williamsburg Mission to the Jew, an institution of New York City.

At the morning services Rev. Harold Govette, the pastor of the church wil speak on "Little Rulers and Great Prophets."

In this sermon Rev. Govette says he proposes to show that, the reason so many rulers have lost their thrones and crowns is because they have first lost their faith in God. The greatest rulers according to the speaker have been those who have looked to God for wisdom and grace.

For their own sakes, for humanity's sake and for the sake of His Kingdom, He wanted them to love one another."

The musical numbers for the morning service will be an anthem "In Heavenly Love Abiding" (Klein) and a tenor solo, "Hosanna" (Granier) by Guy Brown.

The Observer

by Frank B. Schumann.

Notable among the plans made for the coming year by many of the churches is the increased interest shown in the work of the young people. The extension of the week-day Bible school, special departments in the Sunday-school, better programs for the young people's meetings, and a definite part in the work of the church are among the new activities that are being entered into during the coming year.

One church in Alameda has elected two young people, both under twenty-one to the board of trustees of the church, a Berkeley church has also elected one of its young people to the board of trustees. It will be of interest to see what effect this new venture will have on the church bodies. One of the churches referred to above is in a state of re-organization while the other has been established for some time and is working out a progressive program.

The First Unitarian church of Berkeley had a most novel service last Sunday when the entire service of the church was turned over to the young people. Miss Irene Rode, a University of California student, delivered the sermon, which was enthusiastically received by a large and responsive congregation which attended. Miss Rode did not select an intricate subject, although the question is one that is receiving much consideration from various angles, namely: "Why Go to Church?" An incident in the class room at the University suggested the text of her sermon which she described as follows:

"In a public speaking class at the University of California last semester a student spoke, quite incidentally, but in a somewhat derogatory tone, about the custom of going to church. After the student had finished his speech the instructor made this remark: 'About going to church—you know it's all very well to talk about God's great open world being the finest place for worship; of course you can be religious up on the mountain top, but are you likely to be? More than likely you will become absorbed in chasing chipmunks or something else, and forget all about being religious.'"

Another mark of progress is the selection of women by a number of the churches to positions of trust and responsibility. These positions, at least some of a like nature, have long been held by women in the church, but the women, as a rule, have not received recognition of their work by being selected to administrative boards of the congregation, as in recent cases.

"The Religion of the Twentieth Century," is the sermon topic to be discussed by Rev. Gordon Kent, pastor of the First Unitarian church of Alameda at the morning service tomorrow morning. This sermon begins a series of ten sermons on that subject.

Rev. K. W. Towner of the First Baptist church of San Jose will conduct services on Tuesday and Thursday evenings."

Internat'l Bible Students

The International Bible Students will be addressed tomorrow night by R. V. Loutjian at the Odd Fellows hall on the subject "The Jew." During his talk, the speaker wil discuss the question "Who is to possess Palestine, Jews or Gentile?

In speaking of his sermon for tomorrow Loutjian stated:

"In view of the fact that current events point to a great change in world affairs and have, up to the present, resulted in the overthrow of the arrogant and oppressive old world powers, it is indicative that Bible prophecy is being fulfilled."

Emanuel Swedish M. E.

The speaker tomorrow evening at the Emmanuel Swedish Methodist Episcopal church, Berkeley, will be Dr. Herbert Buell Johnson, for eighteen years a missionary leader in Japan, now superintendent of the Japanese Missions of the Methodist Episcopal church, west of the Rocky mountains.

Presbyterians of the Bay region are joining forces in the entertainment of the moderator of the denomination, Dr. Calvin C. Hayes of Johnstown Pa., who arrived in San Francisco yesterday morning.

Dr. Hayes was accompanied by Dr. W. S. Holt, associate secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Ministerial Relief and Sustenation.

A reception in honor of the two distinguished churchmen was held yesterday afternoon at the First Presbyterian church of San Francisco, and a banquet was given in their honor at the First Presbyterian church of Berkeley last night. Churches of Oakland and Berkeley are uniting in the entertainment of the two men while here.

This morning the party visited the Seminary of the Presbyterian church at San Anselmo and a banquet will be given in their honor this evening at the First Presbyterian church of San Rafael, by the churches of Marin county.

Tomorrow morning Dr. Hays will speak at the First Presbyterian church of San Jose and in the evening at the Presbyterian church in Palo Alto. On Monday evening the concluding banquet will be given at the Calvary Presbyterian church of San Francisco.

The visitors wil leave Tuesday morning for Fresno from where they will go to Los Angeles.

First Baptist

The subject to be discussed by Dr. John Snape, the pastor, tomorrow night at the First Baptist church will be practical and should be interesting, it being, "How Shall We Spend Sunday," or "The Fourth Commandment." Preceding it, Orley See, first violinist of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, will play "Romance," from "Violin Concerto." At the morning hour Dr. Snape will continue his series of sermons on the parables of the 13th Chapter of Matthew, preaching on "Parable of the Mustard Seed," or "A Puzzle for a Botanist."

Tomorrow is "Denominational Day" for all B. Y. P. U's, and the topic to be discussed by the Intermediates, Seniors, and Service Legion, is: "What are the Rightful Claims of our Church Upon Us?" Also, at the Service Legion, Rev. E. A. Fridell will begin a course in "The Survey" on which the New World Movement of the Baptist denomination is based. This will include a discussion of the vast amount of progress already made both in foreign fields and at home.

Mills College Vesper

The Rev. Gordon Kent of Alameda, will address the students and faculty of Mills College at their Sunday evening Vesper service, tomorrow. His subject has been announced as "At Home in the Universe."

Much appreciation has been expressed for the Sunday services at Mills College this spring: the last two Sundays of each month being given to off-campus speakers, the first Sunday to an organ recital by William W. Carruth, and the second Sunday to the president of the College, Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt. President Reinhardt has announced as her subjects, the religious message of Robert Browning, Elizabeth Barrett Browning, Alfred Tennyson, and William Wordsworth. Last Sunday, president Reinhardt gave the first of the series. February eleventh she will discuss Mrs. Browning's religious message.

Is Christianity a failure? What would happen if all the churches in the United States were closed for six months? Were the French justified in invading the Ruhr?

The Sunday school will be in charge of Mrs. D. S. Collins, assistant superintendent, with special music by the junior choir. The junior choir recently has been reorganized under the direction of Miss Dorothy Nelson, with Miss Lila Nelson as pianist.

Interest Is Keen in Week Day School

Interest has been displayed during the past two weeks in the registration at the Week Day Church School which is being conducted in Berkeley.

The school is an interdenominational affair and is being fostered by the Protestant Episcopal churches of Berkeley who have raised a budget of $10,000 for the school.

A competent staff of teachers has been selected and is carrying on the work at the various churches. The following program has been outlined and is being followed out.

Center 1, Monday, for the children of Franklin and Columbus schools at the Westminster Presbyterian church; Center 2, Tuesday for the children of Whittier, Hillside and University Elementary schools at the Calvary Presbyterian church; Center 3, Wednesday for the children of Washington, McKinley and Emerson schools at the First Baptist church; Center 4, Thursday, for the children of Lincoln, LeConte and Longfellow schools at the Knox Presbyterian church; Center 6, Friday for the children of Jefferson, Oxford and Thousand Oaks schools at the Northbrae Community church.

Other centers will be established if the need of them should arise.

GAMES TOMORROW MAY SETTLE TRIBUNE LEAGUE FLAG RACES

BUSINESS OF GETTING A MATCH FOR CHAMPION JACK DEMPSEY ENTERS THE FUNNY STAGE

Only 3 More Games Booked In 'B' League

More Than One Team in All Divisions Have Chance To Win Championship.

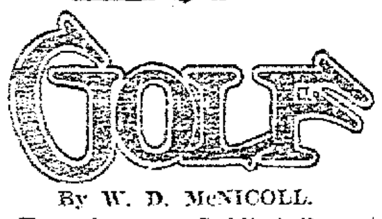

With only three more games on the schedule for the Western, Eastern and California Division, and four more for the Pacific Division teams, followers of The TRIBUNE Class B League are showing more interest than ever in the pennant chase, as in almost every division there is a chance for several teams to cop honors.

The West Berkeley Athletic club hopes to do a lot of good for itself tomorrow when it meets Wedgewood Camp, W. O. W., at San Pablo playground at 11 o'clock in the Western Division. The Fitchburg fans should witness a fast and snappy game when the Fitchburg Merchants tangle with the Oakland Sciots at Lockwood school at 11 o'clock. Marre Bros., who have upset the dope by defeating a couple of the leading teams lately, will meet the Oakland Druids at Allendale playground at 11:30 a. m., while the Golden Gate Merchants will leave their home lot to tangle with the Hayward Camp W. O. W. at Hayward Booster Park in the afternoon.

The big event in the Eastern Division is slated at High and East Tenth streets for 1:30 o'clock. The Dwight-Shattuck Merchants will meet the United Dry Cleaners No. 1 at that diamond; both teams are up in the running. At Melrose in the morning, the Knights of Pythies will tackle Forest Camp of Woodmen in what should be a good game, while at Hayward Booster park in the morning Old Orchard Camp W. O. W. will meet the College Avenue Merchants. At James Kenney park, Eighth and Delaware, at 12:30 o'clock, St. Joseph's Athletic club of West Oakland which is at the top of the ladder, will meet Kream Bread.

The California Division should provide plenty of excitement with the Risdon Bakers meeting St. Joseph's Sodality at Fruitvale depot at 2:15 o'clock, and the Rainbow Barbers meeting Fiorio-Figoni Hardware at Bay View playground at 11:30 o'clock. The West Berkeley Merchants will leave their home lot to keep a date with the Key System Mechcanics at Alberger field at 11:30 a. m., and the Kessler's Army Store nine will meet Oak Camp of Woodmen at Bushrod playground at 1:30 o'clock.

Three games are on the Pacific division. The first will be in the morning at 10:30 at San Leandro where the Mathews-Boitano team, leaders of the division, will meet the Pacific Motor Supply Co. At James Kenney park in Berkeley at 2:45 o'clock West Brae will entertain Mother's Cookies who will leave Allendale. The Paraffine Co. Inc. and Alpha Camp Woodmen of World, will tangle at Golden Gate playground at 1:30 o'clock.

By W. D. McNICOLL.

Yesterday was Caddies' Day at Claremont when about 90 boys participated in an 18-hole medal contest at handicap. Harry Haynes recorded the splendid gross score of 71. The course was very heavy on account of recent rains, but Harry took the air route all the way, and putted and pitched through the casual water with judgment. No less than ten boys scored 80 and under, and the popular winner of the low net prize was August Stuckel, a one-armed boy, who holed out in 103, his opponents thought they had him severely enough handicapped with [illegible] with his drives and putts and approaches as well as the two-armed [illegible] William Grandison, Fred Wetmore and James Cronin, who tied at 69 for first place. Fred Wetmore with 74 gross tied with Edwin Lester for the second cash medal score turned in. "Pops" Grandison, the colored champion, was also a hero with the gallery, his 85-16-69 had him in line for a share of the second money prize. Edwin Lester, with 74-2-72, just fell short of the prize [illegible]ter, had the playing abilities of his assistants well calculated, as the following detailed scores will indicate:

August Stuckel	103-35-68
William Grandison	85-16-69
Fred Wetmore	74- 5-69
James Cronin	[illegible]
Arnold Holsted	80-10-70
Wilbur Ballard	80-10-70
Tom White	77- 6-71
Lionel King	83-12-71
Harry Haynes	71- 0-71

After the tournament the boys were given a feast in the clubhouse. Mr. Singleton, the club manager, excelling himself in catering to the healthy appetites of over eighty boys. Oscar Morgan, assisted by Charles Bates, Clarence Johnson and R. M. Fitzgerald, presided over the evening's festivities. The presentation of a souvenir pencil to every boy gave the cheer leaders their opportunity to register the popularity of the different boys. Oscar Morgan gave the boys a little talk and thanked them for the high standard of efficiency they had attained in the art of caddying, a standard not excelled by any others in the state.

Ernest Russell at the piano with songs, and Harry Bell with card tricks and balancing stunts had the boys crowding around him to discover how he made cards disappear [illegible] pockets.

R. M. Fitzgerald, the club president, concluded the entertainment with a talk to the boys.

CUNNINGHAM GETS RAISE.

Billy Cunningham, San Francisco boy, who went from the Seattle Indians to the New York Giants, received his contract from the latter club yesterday, and it called for a substantial raise. Cunningham immediately signed and returned the contract.

Johnny Buff

Johnny Buff Is Expected to Arrive Today

Johnny Buff, former champion in two divisions is expected to arrive here from the south today to box California Joe Lynch at the Auditorium next Wednesday night. Buff has been training in the south for the past two weeks. Matchmaker Simpson has been busy lining up a good card to back up the main event and yesterday announced the entries as follows:

Sammy Pelsinger vs. Chick Roach.
Harold Farese vs. Dynamite Murphy.
Ray Pelkey vs. Charlie Martino.
Eddie Gorman vs. Pete Francis.
Jack Russo vs. Joe Kane.
Tommy Harris vs. Billy Springfield.

Simpson will probably sidetrack Kane after the latter's poor showing in Los Angeles last night when the bout was stopped in the second round. Joe showed no evidence of being able to fight. He is a protage of Buff, having been brought west by Manager Lew Diamond.

Sugar Magnates and Men of Stage Are Getting Most of the Publicity.

By HENRY L. FARRELL,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27. — With the arrival of a few sugar magnates from Cuba bearing offers of several plantations and the flash of a roll of a couple more stage men, the steaming pot will be allowed to simmer back to normalcy for a while.

The orthodox art of steaming up and the ballyhoo is being followed religiously, only a little more humor is being injected into it than was the case in the warming up of the Dempsey-Carpentier thing.

Dan McKetrick, Dempsey's eastern representative and the first lieutenant of Jack Kearns, furnished the big laugh last night when he was asked about the Harry Frazee's offer of $500,000 for a Dempsey-Willard fight.

McKetrick refused to discuss the offer because "to do so would bring publicity to Mr. Frazee and would be unfair to him."

(Mr. Frazee owns the Boston Red Sox and he puts on a lot of Broadway shows.)

As was predicted, Tom O'Rourke did the dive out of the picture last night. He said he didn't exactly mean that he would give Dempsey $1,000,000 for three fights but he thought the champion could make that much out of them. Anyway, O'Rourke got mad and withdrew his offer.

William A. Brady, Broadway producer; George M. Cohan and Charles Dillingham haven't made their offers, but they can be dug up if the press agent's copy runs low.

Meanwhile, Tex Rickard sits back and allows the storm to blow over. It perhaps amuses Tex that no other promoter thought of plugging the ears of Kearns with $1000 notes. It amuses him also to figure that perhaps no other promoters have $1000 ready cash to plug up managerial ears.

Ray Winner Of Mile Run in Middle West

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—Joie Ray, crack runner of the Illinois Athletic club performing for the first time since his suspension in the A. A. U. was lifted, last night won the one mile run by ten yards in the I. A. C. invitation track meet here, his time being 4:24 2-5. Ray started from scratch.

Ray Watson, formerly of the Kansas Aggies and running last night under the I. A. C. colors, started from scratch and took the 1000 yard run in 2:22 2-5. Blakeley of Iowa State with a handicap of five yards took the 600 yard run in 1:17 1-5.

Ed Knourek of the I. A. C., former national champion, won the pole vault with a leap of 12 feet.

The Iowa State team won the two mile relay race with Notre Dame's runners second and the University of Chicago runners third.

The Illinois Athletic club team won the one and seven-eighth mile relay, with Ray as one of the runners. University of Illinois team was second. The time was 7:56 2-5.

Alameda Sciots	0	11	.000

Although the close of the season of the Alameda City Midwinter League is but a few weeks in the offing, no changes in the present standing of teams is expected to be made tomorrow, when all of the first division clubs meet second [illegible]

Theoretically, the Alameda Elks appear to have the easier task in playing the Alameda Sciots at Lincoln park in the morning. But the Sciots, although they are in the cellar, have been displaying better fight than any of the other second division teams and can be counted upon to put up a stronger brand of competition than the Bay Shores, who play the leaders, the Perry All-Stars, at Lincoln park in the afternoon.

The game between the West End Merchants and the Park Street Merchants will probably develop into the best on the bill. The West Enders defeated the Park street club in their first engagement and have been strengthened considerably since that time. Consequently a close game, with the Park streets as favorites to win, is expected tomorrow when the two clubs clash at Washington park in the afternoon.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT OF SPORT By Wood Cowan

Until the past year or so Eugene Criqui, the French featherweight who has licked everything his size in Europe, has been an in and outer. This prize thumper has fought as many scraps as Johnny Kilbane, although the Frenchman is but 27 years old. Before the war he was not rated high because he lacked a punch. But this could be laid to his extreme youth and inexperience. He always has been a clever boxer.

Four years in the trenches evidently toughened him considerably, and now, by mastering the art of delivering a K. O. wallop, Criqui has arrived. A wound in the jaw from a machine gun bullet almost put an end to his boxing career for part of his munching bone was shot away. Still the fists that have since thumped his chin have never succeeded in doing any material damage to the artificial section that patched the jaw bone together.

The past year Eugene's greatest victory was his defeat of Billy Mathews, featherweight champion of England, whom he K. O.'d in seventeen rounds in London.

But Mathews is no whirlwind. In his visit to this country a few months ago he was out-pointed in his only fight here by Billy De Foe. The English champion just proved an ordinary thumper. Still it took the French phenom seventeen rounds to finish him, and reports say that Mathews got up and came back for more no less than seven times in the seventeenth round. That does not speak very well for Criqui's punching ability.

Kilbane is 34, well past his youth as prize fighters go, but his consenting the meet the Frenchman is good reason for thinking that the reports of his prowess is just a wee bit exaggerated. For Johnny, the fox, loves his title better than life almost, judging by the way he has held on to it for ten years. You can bet that if he thought for a minute he could not beat the French champ, he would never climb into a ring with him. Evidently Johnny had his scouts on the job at some of Criqui's recent fights.

Kilbane is one of the greatest defensive fighters the game has seen in recent years, and he can hit too, but inactivity has gotten in a lot of licks on Johnny while the pride of Europe was never more active in all his long career.

Better get busy with a few prelims, Johnny.

A. L. Will Meet At Philadelphia On February 19

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—The spring schedule meeting of the American League will be held in Philadelphia February 19, President Johnson announced last night.

The decision to hold the meeting in Philadelphia instead of here was reached because the annual banquet of the Philadelphia Baseball Writers will be held on that date. President Johnson, together with Ty Cobb and George Sisler, will be the guests of honor. More than 1000 will attend.

The principal question to be considered at the meeting will be the adoption or rejection of the plan to cut down the epidemic of fluky home runs. The National League, however, opposed it, and Commissioner Landis has since stated that he does not favor it, and that it will not be adopted by both major leagues.

It is possible, however, that the American League will act independently. The plan is to restrict home run territory to anything beyond 315 feet from the home plate. While the plan may appear to be radical, President Johnson said it would not be a handicap on the real home run hitters, such as Ken Williams and Babe Ruth.

Pools a Menace To Great Game, Says K. M. Landis

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 27.—Baseball pools are the greatest menace facing the national game, declared K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner, in an address here tonight at a dinner to William E. (Wild Bill) Donovan, manager of the New Haven Eastern League club. Commissioner Landis' declaration of war on the baseball pools brought the more than 300 men at the dinner to their feet with cheers.

"With the help of the fans of the country," said the commissioner, "I hope to drive the baseball pool operators from the game in the five years I have left to serve as baseball commissioner."

Colonel Tillinghast L. Huston, part owner of the New York Yankees, mentioned professional gambling as the greatest enemy of the national game. Commissioner Landis was given a mahogany clock.

Meier, owner of the club. Jake ("Tiny") May, star left-handed pitcher, will start with the other Tiger heavers, Maier said.

ALL SIX GAMES IN CLASS A BRANCH ARE RATED MAIN EVENTS

Del Montes, Who Meet Magnavox, Have Chance to Cinch Championship; Leaders in National Race Meet at Berkeley and Emeryville

By EDDIE MURPHY

The biggest day thus far this season for the followers of The Oakland TRIBUNE Midwinter League will be tomorrow, when games will be played by teams in the American and National Division of the Class A branch. Only six games are on the schedule of the two divisions, but everyone of them looms up like a main event. With most of them having a bearing on the pennant fight, the biggest crowds of the season are expected to be on hand. In the National Division, the Pleasanton Merchants and Shattuck Avenue Merchants are tied for first place, and the Coney Drugs are only half a game behind. In the American Division, the Del Monte Cafe had a two-game lead, with only three more games to be played. The Magnavox and Best Tractor teams are tied for second honors in that division. The other teams are all out of the pennant fight, but their playing through the season entitles them to consideration.

The Magnavox team will have a chance to pull the Del Montes down the line by meeting the leaders at the General Electric diamond at Fifty-fifth avenue and East Fourteenth street at 2 o'clock. A win for the "Mags" will put them within a game of the Del Montes, otherwise the latter team will be in a position where they will be assured of being tied with the Best Tractors at the worst when the season ends. The Magnavox must win tomorrow in order to remain in the fight, and so must the Best Tractors, should the "Mags" fail to do their stuff. Everything points to a dandy battle at General Electric diamond. The "Mags" are chock full of confidence of winning the game, as they defeated the Del Montes in their last meeting, and in one of the best games of the season. Jimmy McNamara will do the chucking for the Del Montes, with "Dutch" Kaiser or Paris Buttisbach working for the "Mags."

Three Other Attractions In the American Branch.

While the big game will be on at General Electric field, there will be lots of fun provided by American teams at San Leandro, Melrose and Lockwood School. At the latter place the Durant Motors will be on the job to settle an old dispute with the Oakland Natives No. 50. The two teams battled to a 3 to 3 tie at the Coast League Park. Carol (Dummy) Land for the Durants and Andy Phillips, "Lefty" Fein or "Red" McKinnon will be the twirlers. This game will start at 2 o'clock.

At High and East Eighth streets in Melrose the Melrose Merchants will entertain "Pop" Arlett's Chevrolet Motors. It will be the first visit of the season to Melrose for the Chevrolets, and Arlett is promising to show the Melrose fans that he has a snappy set of players. "Lefty" Vinci will do the hurling for the Merchants, with Dick Arlett working for the Chevrolets. The Chevrolets are out to finish ahead of the Durant Motors in the race.

San Leandro and Hayward fans are worrying very little about the outcome of the other American games, although the one between the Del Montes and "Mags" means a lot to the Tractors. All they are talking of out in the cherry town and land of boosters is the game to be played at San Leandro tomorrow afternoon between the Best Tractors and Hayward Boosters. The Boosters will visit at San Leandro for the first time and are determined to put their old rivals, the Tractors, out of the running. Tommy Hammond for the Boosters and Paul McFadden for the Tractors will be the pitchers.

Big Opportunity for Coneys at Alberger.

The big fireworks in the National division will be at Alberger field, Fortieth and San Pablo and San Pablo Playground in Berkeley. At Alberger field the Shattuck Avenue Merchants will make their debut to the fans of Emeryville when they meet the Coney Drugs. A win for the Coneys will put them ahead of the Shattucks or otherwise out of the running. It is possible for the Coneys to take the lead in the pennant fight. They would have it by winning their game and the Maxwells defeating the Pleasanton Merchants, whom they meet at Berkeley. The Maxwells have played good ball all season and stand a very good chance of trimming up the Pleasanton [illegible] Pleasanton says the town will be well represented at Berkeley, as everybody is out to put Pleasanton on the baseball map by winning a championship.

A win for both Coneys and Pleasanton will leave the Shattucks in third place, but they will still have a good chance, as they have another date with the Pleasanton team. They have to play off a tie, which will probably take place a week from tomorrow. No matter which way you try to dope the two National games tomorrow, there is always a chance left for the Shattucks and Pleasanton to be in the running another week. Heinie Lay for Pleasanton and Clark for Maxwells will be the pitchers at San Pablo Park, while at Alberger field "Chic" Hafey for Shattucks and Gene Kersten or Jack Kason will work for Coneys.

The Fiorio-Figoni Hardware and Calatone Water teams will remain idle for a Sunday.

John Black Is Wearing Regular Golf Suit Now

THE City Hall can take a walk up Washington street; Jack Dempsey can fight for a $35 medal; Cal Ewing can take Billy McCarthy to dinner and nobody will be surprised. Not after what the Los Angeles golfers saw yesterday when they stepped forth on the links and observed John Black arrayed in knickers, heather hued stockings and all the trimmings that go with an up-to-date golf outfit.

John has not worn knickers since he was a kid at school. Even at the national open championships at Skokie last year when he came in second John was attired in long pants and an old shirt.

Nobody knows what caused John to invest in the golfing outfit. He retains the pipe.

St. Mary's High to Play St. Vincent's

The St. Mary's high school basketball team will meet the five of St. Vincent's at Vallejo tomorrow afternoon. "Chick" Stanley, tackle of the St. Mary's varsity football team, is coaching the local preps, who have made a fine record this season in local high school circles on the court after getting away to a late start. Tech, Poly and Lowell are among the victims of the young Saints.

FOUR FEATURE MATCHES ON SOCCER PROGRAM TOMORROW

WINGED "O" BASKETBALLERS PROVE TOO FAST AND DEFEAT THE LOCAL QUINTET 33 TO 30

Athens Club Is Defeated By Olympians

Local Athletes Lead at End of First Half; Absence of Hjelte Felt.

The Athens Athletic club fell before the powerful attack of the Olympic club of San Francisco in the second half of play in the first game of their series last night at the Municipal Auditorium by a score of 33 to 30 in one of the best games of the year. Leaving the floor at the end of the first half with the count standing 14 to 10 in their favor the Athens athletes looked like winners, the all around work of Eggleston, Coop and Theis featuring the play of the local club

Eggleston, who has been on the sick list all week, was unable to return to the game in the second half and the Olympians, taking advantage of the absence of the star running guard, put their scoring machine to work with LaDar leading the attack

The Athens club was further weakened by the fact that George Hjelte, star center, who has been one of the main cogs on offense in the previous games played by the local club, was among the missing.

The game continued on even terms until the final whistle, the two teams keeping within four points of each other throughout.

Milt Lautewasser, former St. Ignatius college star, was among the bright stars of the evening, entering the game late in the second half to co-star with LaDar on offensive.

Berndt, the veteran guard of the Olympic club, was one of the most conspicuous figures on the court his defensive work breaking up the close formations of the Athens club boys time after time as they made a drive for the basket and forcing the local clubmen to resort to long shots.

Although Forrest Theis, standing guard of the Athens club, was put out of the game on four personal fouls, the game itself was allowed to border a lit[tle] too much on the edge of roughness.

Los Angeles to Have a Classy Inner Defense

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27.—The infield of the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast Baseball League this season will be as good as the San Francisco infield last year, according to Charles Lockhard, business manager.

Three or four players will fight it out for the first base position but Art Griggs of last season's team and Walter Golvin, who was with the St Paul club of the American Association, appear to have the best chances of landing the job.

Marty Krug, formerly of the Chicago National League club, is expected to play second base. Jas. McAuley and Clyde Beck of last season's Angels will try out for the short stop berth.

Charles Deal, former major base for the Angels, having signed a two-year contra[ct]

Howard Lindim[ore], who played second base for the Angels last year, will be utility man. Half a dozen semi-professional players are seeking this position.

Forty players will try out for positions on the team this season, according to "Red" Killefer, manager.

San Antonio Tournament To End Today

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Jan. 27.—The second and final day of the Texas open golf championship play was started today in a fine drizzle which promised to send scores, some of which dropped below 70 Friday, well over the 70 mark among the leaders. The rain was felt mostly on the greens where the players have been having trouble getting used to fast greens one day and slow the next.

Trojans have Good Baseball Squad at Work

U. S. C. Will Have Best Nine In the Field In Recent Years

LOS ANGELES, Jan 27.—Baseball prospects are exceptionally promising this year according to Coach "Bill" Hunter who will be in charge of the squad "Bill," who hails from Oberlin, has the reputation of being a whirlwind when it comes to turning out baseball [teams] He is planning to put the boys through their paces on the Exposition Park diamond on February 15.

In spite of the loss of several of last year's performers, the material Hunter will have to choose from is splendid Eight letter men who will be on deck, including Archie Thornton the star twirler; He[...] last year's first sacker; "Dutch" Everets on the keystone bag and Russ Turner, who also hung out on second: Farrar, the veteran shortstop; Riddle on third base and Raney and Tills in the outfield.

"TONA" ON DIAMOND.

New men that will don spikes this season includes "Tona" Wayhan, who should make a great backstop, "Chief" Newman, who formerly hurled for the Sherman Indians, and who will this year be on the mound for the Trojans; Johnny Hawkins, who will try for a place in the outer garden and Otto Anderson, who intends to give Riddle a race for the position at third.

There was fear for a time that [...] which was injured in the Penn State football game, would keep the big fellow off of the diamond this season but it has rounded into shape and he will undoubtedly be used in one of the practice games The "Chief" will fill the gap left by "Dutch" Hinrichs ineligibility

LIST NOT COMPLETED.

This year's schedule has not been completed, but the coach is angling for a couple of fast practice games during the first part of next month These games will be played on the Exposition Park diamond and will give Hunter an opportunity to get a line on the ability of the men he is not already acquainted with.

Dental college and law can always be depended upon to send some competent men out for the nine, and this year will be no exception Altogether, Hunter is satisfied that the Cardinal and Gold should finish close to the top in this year's race for the conference pennant.

SEATTLE, Wash, Jan. 27.—Darriel L. Pratt, secretary of the Pacific International Yachting Association, representative of clubs on Puget Sound and in British Columbia, in a convention of Pacific Coast yachtsmen that is to open in San Francisco today, is instructed to do something to get southern flags to fly in the international regatta at Vancouver B C, next summer.

Although the Northwest and California clubs have tentatively scheduled regattas for next summer, it is hoped to arrange dates so that every club on the coast may be represented at Vancouver. Northern sailors, it is pointed out, have won many honors in southern waters, but the California navigators have not been seen up this way in large numbers.

Pratt will seek to have all dates set so that all clubs may participate in regattas at Santa Barbara and San Francisco and in the Puget Sound meet, which is to be held at Vancouver.

CHICAGO, Jan 27.—How much should a baseball umpire get for breakfast?

This question came up before directors of athletics of the western conference here yesterday when a resolution was made public today and branding expense accounts of many officials as exorbitant was adopted.

One expense account of an official who went to umpire a game at the University of Illinois showed the following: He started with a $3 taxi bill from his home to the station; ate a $1.25 breakfast, a $1.75 dinner and a $2 supper. There were two charges of 25 cents each for a taxi for two blocks from the station to the Champaign hotel and a $1.50 bill for hotel room but the offender reached Champaign at noon and left at 6:25 p. m. and umpired the baseball game in between. He spent $28.08 to earn his $15 fee

FEATURE CONTESTS ON SOCCER PROGRAM SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Rangers and Neps Meet in Alameda; Tanks and U. I. W. to Settle S. F. Championship; Three Local Teams in Cup Tie Play.

By DOUG. MONTELL

Two cup tie contests, the final championship match of the San Francisco Football League and a humdinger of a game that will go a long ways toward settling the championship of the Bay Cities Soccer League, are on tomorrow's soccer program for the bay region.

Interest on this side of the bay centers on the match in the Bay Cities League between the Alameda Neptunes, winners of their first cup tie game last Sunday from the Thistles of Stockton by a score of 5 to 2, and the Rangers, contenders for the championship of the local soccer league.

As a result of the inactivity of the Neps in the local league play last week the Sons of St George now hold the leadership by a margin of one point. The Sons will be busy tomorrow with a Cup tie game in San Francisco and the Neptunes, by turning in a win over the Rangers at Washington park, Alameda, will not only eliminate the Rangers from any possibility of winning the championship, but will also resume the lead in the Bay Cities league once more.

Neptune Should Eliminate Rangers.

The Rangers met with an unexpected reverse last Sunday at the hands of the Ancient Order of Foresters and unless they pick up in their game tomorrow over that played last week they will take the count at the hands of the Neptunes.

The Italia Virtus club eliminated from the Cup Tie series last Sunday by the Olympic club, will be inactive tomorrow, being the only Eastbay team not in action

The Ancient Order of Foresters and the Golden Gate Merchants both members of the Bay Cities league, will play in their preliminary match to the Cup Tie series, the winner of which goes into the first round of competition against the Riverside club of Sacramento Fortunately the game tomorrow was booked by the regular schedule of the Bay Cities Soccer league so that it will be killing two birds with one stone for the winner The match is scheduled to start at 1 p m at Tobin Field at 13th and Mission streets in San Francisco.

Tobin Field will be the scene of the other Cup Tie match of the day at 2 30 p m when the Sons of St George, leader of the Bay Cities Soccer league meet the Thistles of San Francisco. The Thistles have a chance to come out in a three way tie for the leadership of the San Francisco league the result of the Olympic club-Union Iron Works contest to decide the league.

Sons Will Meet Thistles of S. F.

The Sons of St George-Thistles contest should be one of the best exhibitions of soccer of the day. The Thistles have a slight edge going into action but the Sons are a vastly improved club over the team that entered the first round of the Cup Tie series a year ago and will give a good account of themselves in action tomorrow.

The feature attraction of the day for San Francisco fans will be the meeting of the Tanks and Winged "O" kickers at Memorial Field at 1 p. m. in the deciding game of the San Francisco Football league The schedule ended in a three way tie with the Olympic club, Thistles and Union Iron Works having an equal claim to the top rung of the percentage column

In the first game of the playoff series two weeks ago the Olympic club nosed out the Thistles in a hotly contested game Last week the Thistles staged a comeback at the expense of the Union Iron Works, thus holding their own in the playoff series.

Should the Tanks upset the dope tomorrow and defeat the Olympians the three clubs would be once more tied and it would be up to the officials of the San Francisco [...] ter of the championship.

The line-ups of the Golden Gate Merchants and Foresters follow.

Crystal Laundry To Play St. Mary's

The Crystal Laundry team, winners of the Coast division championship of The TRIBUNE Class A Midwinter League, will play the St Mary's Independents tomorrow afternoon at the local college grounds, according to an announcement made by Graduate Manager Louis LeFevre this morning.

Manager Bob Carter of the Crystals is anxious to keep his team in shape for the play-off series to determine the championship of the Class A league, while Coach Guisto seeking to get a line on the recruits on his St. Mary's squad before making a cut next week, will give all the new men a final tryout tomorrow. The game is scheduled to start at 2:30

Oregon Basketball Team Making Good

EUGENE, Ore., Jan. 27.—Things are looking fairly bright for a big Oregon year in basketball. Of course, it is a little bit early for predictions but aginst Mulnomah and in the conference opener with Whitman the wearers of the green showed class, and class tells in the long run.

The Oregon combination seems to be about fixed save for one forward berth. Gowans, who has been working with Zimmerman at this position has shown lots of stuff but lacks experience. Thus far Coach Bohler has been altering between Gowans and Altstack for Zimmerman's running mate.

Bruin Tennis Team To Have Six Veterans

Wallace Bates Heads List of Blue and Gold Racquet Wielders to Return

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Jan 27.—With an abundance of excellent material on hand, California's chances for a successful tennis season in 1923 look bright. Six letter men are on deck and are ready to start the season in about two weeks. In addition to these men there are several promising men from last year's freshmen and some new men who have not had a chance to show their wares.

SIX LETTER MEN BACK.

Captain Bates Conrad Casey, Weinstein, Jensen and Whitehead are the letter men who constitute the nucleus from which a squad will be developed The Varsity elimination tournament which was held last semester, brought out many good players who will probably make bids for place on the squad.

The two outstanding men brought out by this tournament were Stafford and Betters both of whom are already well-known in the tennis world.

BATES RANKS THIRD.

It has been a long time since such a number of famed players have been together at the same time at California Bates is ranked third among the intercollegiate players of the country, while his team mate Conrad is placed fifth in the same ranking. Weinstein's name appeared sixth in the ranking list of the Pacific coast men's singles Many of the other men who will compete for position are also well known to the followers of the racquet game. With this situation on hand the competition this year for berths on the squad promises to be very keen.

FRESHMEN PROSPECTS GOOD.

The freshmen outlook is prosperous also. Many former high school men are reported to be on hand and working out. Among these men is "Bud" Chandler, who ranks among the first five junior players of the country.

Challenge matches for position on the squad will take place on both the freshmen and varsity squads when the season starts, about February 1. With the competition promising to be keen, the Blue and Gold should be represented by a team which will probably put California in front in the intercollegiate tennis world.

Somebody's Stenog Will Be Seen Daily, Sunday, in Tribune

What can the love-sick boss' son do when the blonde-haired, blue-eyed stenographer insists upon letting another fellow send her flowers? What is there to do but go git on a railroad track and wait for the express to come along and end it all for him?

At least that's one of the things that one boss' son did all because of the tantalizing ways of Somebody's Stenog, otherwise known as Miss Cam O'Flage that nationally-famous creation of Cartoonist Hayward that is to begin appearing daily in The TRIBUNE tomorrow.

DRY FLEET WILL HUNT RUM CRAFT

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—A "dry fleet," consisting of super-speed motorboats, is to be used by local prohibition agents to pursue bootleggers who operate from ships along the California coast, according to assertions made today by Samuel F. Rutter, Federal prohibition director.

"A lot of bootleggers have been in the habit of landing liquor from Canadian and Mexican ports upon the coast of California," Rutter explained. "The boats we are going [illegible] that traffic."

Two fleet bases will be established for the "dry fleet," according to Rutter — one in San Francisco bay and the other in Los Angeles.

It was intimated that the inauguration of the plan to chase bootleggers on the high seas is a result of the recent visit here of Federal Commissioner Roy Haynes and his announced determination to fight the local liquor traffic "to a finish."

The motorboats, it is declared, will be of the fastest type obtainable, and will be able, it is said, to run down virtually any kind of craft that the sea-going bootleggers may employ.

NAVAL RESERVE AGE LIMIT CUT

NEW YORK, Jan. 27—Boys who in the past have been disappointed at not being able to join the United States Junior Naval Reserve because they were too young can now look forward to membership provided they have attained ten years. The organization has taken down the bars against youngsters under fourteen and will now accept them as naval apprentices. The "junior" juniors will wear a distinguishing mark on the right sleeve of the uniforms.

Up to the present time the reserve has admitted boys only between the ages of 14 and 21. Now they may join between the ages of 10 and 14. On reaching the age of 14, the new category will be transferred into the ranks of the reserve proper.

The young recruits will not be expected to attend night drills, or carry a gun. They will not be brought in contact with the older boys but will assemble in their respective districts on Saturday afternoons under the command of older cadet officers, and be instructed in marching and interesting rudiments of boat knowledge. Where circumstances permit arrangements will be made for beneficial hikes and entertainment, interesting visits aboard ships in the harbors and other programs that cannot fail to benefit and interest real boys, whether they ever expect to "follow the sea" or not.

If you see it in The TRIBUNE tell them so.

Politics and Piccolos To Mingle In Knave Comment

POLITICS and piccolos!

While municipal concerts in San Francisco are attracting the attention of the whole country there is evidence they are being regarded with a peculiar interest by politicians who would ride to office on the oboe. The Knave has some inside information—harmony and discord.

The voting machine bobs up again, the naval office is gone. In Sunday's TRIBUNE these subjects and many others will be touched upon by a writer whose sources of information are close to the seats of the mighty. The Knave tells of supervisorial amenities and of gossip of the Supreme Court bench—there is a large grist of good things from a commentator who is an established California institution.

Counterfeit Stamp Brings High Price

BERLIN, Jan. 27.—One of Germany's oldest postage stamps, the three-pfennig stamp of Saxony, has been illegally produced and circulated to collectors recently, according to information obtained by the police. It has been found that a young man disposed of numerous of these forged specimens at an average price of 150,000 marks.

PARIS, Jan. 27. — Jean Stern, former managing director of the steamship company Affreteurs Reunis, was arrested yesterday charged with misappropriation of 5,000,000 francs of the company's money. The complaint was made by a number of shareholders.

MOTHER OF LARGE FAMILY

Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Other Mothers

Windom, Minn.—"I was so run down that I was just good for nothing. I was to become the mother of my ninth child and I thought I did not have the strength to go through with it. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has surely done all I could ask it to do and I am telling all my friends about it. I have a nice big baby girl and am feeling fine. You may use this letter to help other sick mothers."—Mrs. C. A. MOEDE, Box 634, Windom, Minn.

My First Child

Glen Allen, Ala.—"I have been greatly benefited by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for bearing-down feelings and pains. I was troubled in this way for nearly four years following the birth of my first child, and at times could hardly stand on my feet. A neighbor recommended the Vegetable Compound to me after I had taken doctor's medicines without much benefit. It has relieved my pains and gives me strength. I recommend it and give you permission to use my testimonial letter."—Mrs. IDA EYE, Glen Allen, Alabama.

RAISIN GROWERS FARE FINER THAN MOST PRODUCERS

Plan of Pooling and Selling Crop Declared Salvation of Industry.

FRESNO, Jan 27.—Raisin growers have received a higher price for their product, based on the cost of production during the past two years, than the producers of any other farm product, according to James A Brogdon, sales manager of Sun Maid Raisins.

This fact is recognized among growers throughout the country, and they are hastening to pattern after our organization and methods so far as they can be applied to their various products," continues Brogdon.

"The year just past has been the most difficult from a marketing standpoint of any since this company began operating.

"At the beginning of 1922 we had on hand 70,000 tons of raisins, of which 19,100 tons were sold for shipment during the early part of the year. Due to the general collapse of all markets at that time requests were received from the majority of buyers for deferred shipment or cancellation of their orders. Both jobbers and retailers were heavily stocked, and financial conditions were such that buyers were not able to meet their drafts, so that an attempt to enforce delivery on contracts would have resulted in many law suits and a further weakening of an already demoralized market.

"It seemed to be the better policy to accept cancellations in many cases, on the theory that the market would recover in a shorter space of time if raisins were retailed in our possession than if they were forced into the hands of weak holders, who would be compelled to sacrifice them because of their financial difficulties. Later developments proved this to have been the proper plan.

"We have just handled the largest tonnage ever produced in [illegible] and it has been effected with less friction and less expense than any previous crop. We believe our facilities, except in a few of the newly planted sections, are ample to handle the present volume.

"We have sent to the consumer this year the cleanest and best packed raisins that have ever gone out of California.

"Any effort to obtain a price above the general level of similar products will result in turning consumption to other products and an accumulation of raisin tonnage in the hands of our organization which would very soon result in disaster.

DEFIANCE BURNS TO WATER'S EDGE IN THE SOLOMONS

Local Shipping Men Are Wondering if Mutiny Is Responsible For Loss.

Word was received yesterday that the schooner Defiance had been burned to the waters edge at Faisi, the Solomon islands. This cable followed close upon a previous one from Captain Clark announcing trouble aboard the vessel and the request to the authorities to arrest his two mates and cook on mutiny charges. Local shipping men are awaiting further news from the Solomons as to whether the three men under charges were responsible for the burning of the well known local craft. According to the cable received the men on the Defiance all made shore safely. They will be taken to Australia on the first vessel that puts in to Faisi.

The Defiance had delivered a cargo of lumber from Portland at Sydney and had returned to the Solomons and Fiji islands for the purpose of loading copra. She is said to have been loaded to capacity with the dried cocoanut meat when the fire occurred. This would account for her complete destruction in the short time that she was burning.

Although the defiance has operated from this port for some time her managing owner is Ernest Johnson of Portland.

Not more than $10,000 insurance had been written on the schooner Defiance, in Portland, according to word received from Portland. A few shareholders had insured their holdings.

Shipping men in Portland have expressed doubt that the fire which destroyed the Defiance was caused by spontaneous combustion in the cargo of copra. They said copra had not heretofore been known to heat.

Philadelphia Is To Tell the World

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27.—Philadelphia will send throughout the country a motion picture film which will tell the importance of this port to the nation. The film has been in course of preparation for some time and will be ready for distribution after a final review by city officials.

The city fathers became peeved at the picture taken by the United States Shipping board which dismissed this port with a view of two antiquated piers, neglecting entirely the modern structures that have been built the last few years. Therefore they took their own. The picture will be exhibited in hundreds of cities under a contract arranged by Sproul, director of the department of wharves and docks.

FREIGHTER HAS BIG CARGO OF TIN FOR CANNING

Alameda County Plants Will Take 1500 Tons Brought By Santa Isabel.

Tin shipments for the coming canning season are beginning to come into Oakland in increasing amounts from the east coast of the United States. The Santa Isabel tied up at the Lawrence Terminal yesterday and commenced the discharge of 1500 tons of tin plate and canning material. This will all be converted into cans and tin boxes to care for the summer and fall output from Alameda county.

The freighter Sagadahoc is to arrive on Tuesday with 2500 tons of tin plate. A large amount of this shipment will be absorbed by the Alameda county canneries but the greater proportion will go inland to the central California fruit and vegetable canning districts of the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys.

According to cannery men and importers of tin plate, there is little likelihood of there being a shortage in tin this year as the supplies have been coming through with fair regularity.

A [illegible] demand for California fruits and vegetables last year severely taxed the local can factories and canning plants. Preparations have been made during the present winter season to meet this demand this summer and fall.

The outlook for the fruit and vegetable canning season has never looked brighter than at present. The warm winter along with plenty of water promises abundant crops.

The Dog Watch

By FRANK CLIFF

The world's hard-luck ship has come to the front again. This time it is the liner Acropolis of the Black Sea line. The steamer reached New York this week with 371 passengers, mostly Greeks, aboard. The liner was held up for a considerable delay in sailing because of Greek political troubles. This was only the beginning of her hard luck. After passing Gibraltar she encountered such severe storms that but little progress was made. The fuel ran out, and it became necessary to use the deck furniture and partitions to keep the boilers going. The crew then went on strike, and to add further interest to the trip, the long delay through storm resulted in the food almost giving out.

New York was finally reached, and the passengers were informed that the immigration quota for Greece had been filled and it would be necessary for the passengers of the Acropolis to be kept aboard at the expense of the steamer until February.

Then the officers had their turn at bad luck. When they went to deliver the ship's papers and secure their pay they were informed that there was none of the latter, as the Black Sea line had gone bankrupt while the ship was battling her way across the Atlantic, and as a result was unable to meet its obligations. The Acropolis was from November 2 making the trip, having stopped for supplies at Patras, where the crew trouble occurred.

MARINE ENGINEERS TO DANCE.

The Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association, No. 35, will spend Saturday evening, making merry at the annual ball and entertainment of the organization. The affair will be held in Eagles Hall, San Francisco.

The evening will be featured by sea songs, ballads and dances of the deck. "Ferry Boat" Caruso will be the star vocal feature of the evening with his sea songs. Trixie Leach and Hazel Boyd will furnish singing [illegible] and the musical program will be directed by Hughie Robinson. The committee having charge of the affair consists of Thomas J. Healey, general chairman; J. M. McGillan, chairman of floor committee and Fred Graham, chairman of reception committee.

NORTH BEND IN TROUBLE.

The schooner North Bend had to put back into port last night in distress as a result [illegible] outside the heads. Her steering gear went out and it was necessary for the crew to rig a jury rudder in order to make port. This is the second time in two weeks that the North Bend has had trouble. The last time the storm tore away part of her masts and sails.

CAPTAIN AND SAILOR HURT.

The schooner Mary Winkleman, bound from Puget Sound to Honolulu with lumber was compelled to put into San Francisco yesterday in order to land Captain John Colstrup and William McGee, member of the crew, who had been injured. Both were taken to the Harbor Emergency Hospital. Captain Colstrup had his right hand crushed and lacerated when a chain lashing broke and caught him. McGee was smashed against the side of the house and had two ribs fractured. Both men will be able to proceed with their ship.

EGYPT IMPORTS BOXES.

The Admiral Sebree which arrived from Puget Sound yesterday afternoon had aboard 14,100 bundles of box shooks for trans-shipment to Alexandria, Egypt. The steamer also brought into port 275,000 feet of lumber.

Dock Congestion Brings Rate Raise

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 27.—Dock congestion at Municipal Terminal No. 1 was the subject today of a conference between the public dock commission and [illegible] the draymen's association, who had given notice that drayage rates were soon to be increased because the present congestion slowed down the work of hauling materially.

LUMBER BOAT IS TO CARRY CARGO 1,200,000 FEET

New Lumber Carrier For This Port to Be Built in Portland Shipyard.

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 27.—Contract for a wooden steam schooner for the A. B. Johnson Lumber company at San Francisco that will have a carrying capacity of 1,200,000 feet of lumber, has been closed by G. T. Matthews and work on her will be started at once at the Peninsular Shipbuilding company yard. The new vessel will make the third of the type laid down there by Matthews. The Q[illegible] was finished in 1920 and the [illegible] Gray, launched November 15, is to undergo her trial trip at San Francisco next week.

The steamer North King which is en route from San Francisco for Portland will enter the Portland-Alaska salmon trade. She was purchased by the Alaska-Portland Packers association, to replace the [illegible] which was wrecked last year. She will be the first steam driven vessel to enter the trade out of Portland. Heretofore sailing vessels have been used.

A considerable number of passenger bookings are reported for the British steamer Highland Heather, due here February 2 to take a heavy shipment of apples and some 75 passengers for the United Kingdom. She also will visit Puget Sound ports.

The steamer Las Vegas from Australia arrived in the river today and after discharging coal at Astoria, will come here to load lumber. She will go to Grays harbor to finish.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 27, 1923.

THE RUHR DEADLOCK.

A state of seige has been declared in Treves, the Aix La Chappelle and Kreuznach districts. The French ring of steel has been closed tight around the Ruhr. A deadlock continues with the best news being no news of serious outbreaks.

Encouragement may be found in the fact that a critical week has passed in Europe without recourse to arms and in the efforts in Italy and elsewhere to bring about the end of a situation which is generally believed to be fraught with the gravest of danger.

In Congress there is talk, again, of asking the President to call a world peace conference. No one close to the President or to Secretary Hughes, indeed no one who has read the messages of the one or the statements of the other, doubts but such a conference will be called at that moment when there is any assurance it will be welcomed and may be effective. Those men who are asking for this conference agreed as to the advisability of the United States refusing approval of the Ruhr occupation, and concurred when the administration stated its position of disapproval. They seem to wonder because France is acting alone.

France will not be called back from her purpose because of the call for a new conference. If she changes her policy it will be because of a discovery that the rewards will not be commensurate with the cost. The time for the calling of a conference will come when there are indications that this disclosure is being made. Perhaps that time will be next week; it may never come.

Secretary Hughes has voiced the position of the United States on more than one occasion. Europe knows this country is ready to act as host to a conference or as a participant. If the formal call comes at the right time it will have its effect. By falling too soon it can only delay the hope of a settlement.

UNCLE SAM PAYS RENT.

When Uncle Sam's annual rent becomes due he is forced to dig down into his striped trousers for something more than twenty millions of dollars. He is a rent payer extraordinary and in that fact lies an argument and a hope for new postoffice buildings in the cities that need them.

Of the $26,350,153 rent item of The United States, $11,660,076 is charged to the postoffice department. Whenever a postoffice is outgrown additional space nearby is rented. In some cities the main postoffice is situated in a building not the property of the Government.

When Postmaster-General Work and Secretary Mellon, of the Treasury Department, submitted the rent bill to Congress they recommendations in 140 different cities, and this quite aside from the recent recommendation of Mr. Work to the effect that the Government should own all buildings used for Federal purposes.

The postal business has had an abnormal growth during the past ten years. Parcels post, established in 1913, has expanded rapidly until three and a half billions of packages are handled annually. As the average weight of these packages is four pounds the statistician may conclude the parcels post carries approximately 7,000,000 tons a year.

Next to the postoffice the Internal Revenue Service has been the greatest sufferer for lack of space. The addition of duties of enforcing the Eighteenth Amendment and the requirements of the Veterans' Bureau have increased the personnel and demands. The last named bureau alone is now paying $459,272 rent annually for commercial space. It has rented branch offices in nearly all the large cities where the Government owns buildings because it has been impossible to find quarters.

While those who have clamored for the recall of American troops from the Rhine may rejoice that they are now on their way, the troops themselves are probably not all rejoicing, and there is undoubtedly distinct bereavement in the intimate circles they have left behind. It has long been made apparent from unofficial correspondence that "the boys" were by no means suffering from their expatriation. Living there has been cheap when reckoned in American money, service conditions have not been onerous, the people in general have been hospitable. So that the soldiers who were on the Rhine may not enthusiastically appreciate the patriotic sentiment of their native land and the other causes that have resulted in their presence.

END OF THE SPECIAL "DAY."

A message of relief has come from Sacramento. There are to be no more of the thousand and one "days" which individuals and organizations have, in the past, succeeded in slipping into the calendar.

Some of those "days" were good days. Doubtless each found persons ready to celebrate them in the manner suggested, but there were too many and the demands too varied. At least fifty days upon which the populace were asked to eat this or that, others upon which it was asked to regulate its conduct in one way or another, and some which demanded no more than a word or a thought went into history with 1922.

Governor Richardson has announced he will proclaim no special days not on the regular holiday list. This will not mean certain national and worthy movements, as fire prevention and safety first, will be ignored but, on the contrary, will afford them an emphasis because of the absence of the trivial "celebrations."

The special day is to go because it was overdone. With more of these days and weeks proclaimed than there is space on the calendar, they overlapped and piled up until no one paid them any attention. Governor Richardson is wise not to give them state sanction.

THE REAL SOUTH SEAS.

There is no one more cold of heart than the scientist. What does your man of research care for romance unless romance be the object of his particular quest? He sets out, as did the Natural History Museum's expedition, with notebook and dictionary of scientific terms and looks forward to the day when he may return to confound the dreamers and the sentimental.

The Natural History expedition sailed for the South Seas, not to look for moonlight on the atolls, slender forms dancing on the silver beach, or the stuff of which South Sea fiction is made. It was in search of the Truth, wanted to know, for instance, who made the ukeleles dusky Taniaff plays and whether or not a Danbury hat company fashioned the crown of Tahiti's chief.

To the one who holds to the romance of Melville and would take O'Brien in preference to a consular report the expedition's findings are particularly discouraging. Tahiti, the scientists say, is not much different from any other place. Even Rikueru, 400 miles east of Tahiti, has motor cars, movies and jazz!

So rapidly is civilization taking in all parts of the world it is to be hoped when the next seat of romance is discovered provision will be made to bar all visitors who might carry back disillusionment.

The statistician who has time to figure how many walnuts there are in a pound may revel a while with paper and pad calculating the total of the 656,886 pounds which were shipped from Contra Costa county in 1922. Those who prefer to dwell more upon quality than numbers may find opportunity in the further revelation that the Contra Costa crop averaged 97 per cent, which is as near the top as any crop has reached.

SCHOOLS AND POLITICS.

[illegible] the West from which can befall the country is political domination over the educational system. Schools which get into the grip of politics start on the downward path, as far as educational efficiency is concerned. It is when politicians constitute the boards of trustees that schools begin to exist for the patronage they can bestow upon teachers and others, regardless of qualifications, instead of existing for the greater purpose of giving the children the best opportunities possible. It is then that inferior teachers are likely to be employed, and that the whole school administration may be expected to become subverted for the benefit of a limited group.

Evils of this kind are bad enough when they creep into a district or city school. But their dangers are multiplied in number and extended in scope when State educational institutions fall into political clutches. It is with alarm, therefore, that we read of certain legislation proposed at Sacramento which would cut the term of the regents of the University of California from sixteen years to eight years, make them subject to recall by voters, and provide for open meetings by the board. The provisions of this proposed bill will be defended easy enough by a lot of talk about "democracy, the voice of the people, the people's rights," etc. But any one who knows anything about higher institutions of learning knows that they are in safer hands when entrusted to the supervision and decisions of small but well-qualified groups of trustees than when the snap judgment of the uninformed and unthinking "public at large" shall have the control. Autocracy is not a popular word in America these days. But there are manifestly certain cases in which autocratic methods seem wiser than more democratic ones.

However innocent the motives behind the proposed bill affecting the university regents might be, the provisions would open the gate to the politicians and the mob, and the University of California would suffer.

Similarly, the recurrent efforts to gain representation for certain interests on the board of regents should be defeated. The interests which aspire to such representation seek it usually, not for the good of the university, but for their own aims, and that is not as it should be. Men and women sitting on the board of regents should be chosen for their special fitness for that office, and too many strings should not be attached to their tenure. The fact of being a representative of this or that should not be a reason for or against one's eligibility to the board of regents if he possesses the right qualifications otherwise.—Palo Alto Times.

OUR OWN WALL MOTTOES.

NATURE FORCES YOU TO WASTE
ONE-THIRD OF YOUR LIFE
SLEEPING.

ARE YOU GOING TO WASTE ANOTHER THIRD OF IT WORKING?

. . . as such.

Somewhere in our checkered career we have fallen a prey to the dot habit. Glancing back over what we have written, we find all of our work liberally sprinkled with . . . that sort of thing. We use only an average amount of ordinary punctuation. We are not inordinately addicted to commas or semicolons or colons or dashes or interrogation points. Yet try as we will, these strings of periods keep creeping in. . . .

A friend of ours has asked us just what we mean by them, just what effect we are aiming at when we use them, and, frankly, we cannot explain. No doubt we mean different things at different times. The dots are instinctive. We sit at a typewriter, composing a poem or an essay or an epigram, and . . . suddenly we find one hand down at the lower right-hand corner of the keyboard, pecking away at the period key.

But they certainly make a difference, these dots. Take a common First Reader sentence:

The cat chases the mouse.

It is distinctly a plain sentence. But now look at it again:

The cat . . . chases the mouse.

It has a new air about it. It suggests all sorts of possibilities. Why does the cat chase the mouse? Are its intentions honorable? The mouse itself—is it just a plain house mouse or is there a certain indefinable difference about it?

If a few periods can do all that to a simple declarative sentence lifted from a First Reader, how infinitely much more they can do to a grown up sentence! Here is something a little more intricate:

In the house among the pines lived a man and a woman.

Could anything be simpler? Doubtless thousands of men and women live in houses among pines. But—

In the house among the pines lived a man . . . and a woman.

And there you are again. It has become the opening line of a novel or a short story or a smashing piece of free verse. In fact, now that we look at it, we believe we shall write a novel around it. We will use that line as the first and last in the book.

And this is far from being the only use that one can make of these rows of dots. They force the reader's attention forward to what comes after them. They throw the reader's attention back to what before after them. Powerful weapons! And we are at a loss to explain their power.

Perhaps some of their force may be accounted for in this way:

All of us when we are young, read books, both in and out of school, that have been expurgated. And the place where the expurgated passage was found is usually marked, not by an X, but by three or four periods. We shall never forget a line in a book of Early English Ballads, which we found at the age of twelve or thirteen:

The dragon then, he . . .

and the rhyme for this line, which appeared just above, made the meaning of the dots perfectly plain.

Is there, then a feeling in all of our minds, picked up when we are very young, that "points of suspension" (we believe that is the correct name for them) indicate an expurgated and therefore highly desirable passage? Is there, perhaps, the unrealized hope that not all the expurgation necessary has been done at the place where the dots appear?

The uses of the three successive periods—there must be three; no more, no fewer—are varied and interesting. We some times suspect writers of free verse of employing them simply with an eye to an artistic balancing of the black and white masses. But free verse when it is good (as it sometimes is) is so highly compressed that perhaps the device is necessary to the sense.

The uses of the dots are frequently put is that of checking a digression and bringing the writer quietly but firmly back to what he was saying:

The author of a novel is wandering in his hero's mind. He starts with an old letter that has come to light in a house-cleaning. The sight of it takes the hero back six years to Mary Walcott, the little girl in gingham; and the time his motor broke down in front of a farmhouse in Ohio. The hero begins to see pictures which are somewhat extraneous and rather too vivid for the good of the story's marching . . . Back comes the author to the subject in hand. Usually the hero tears the letter across with an air of finality.

Then, there is the slowly dropped speech in quotes, the voice that trails off:

"Perhaps, then, she meant what she said. Perhaps I will" . . . In this case the dots, literally translated, mean, "see her again at Deauville and be able to win her love!"

The subject is interesting . . . We may return to it another time. . . .

EXCERPTS from the NATIONAL PRESS

Oregonian: "There is hope that, when the 24 additional federal district judges begin work, they will clean up the arrears of 172,000 cases that have been awaiting trial from six months to two years. It is a trite saying that delay of justice is denial of justice, but that applies to the people whose law is violated as well as to the accused lawbreakers. Delayed trial permits many a rascal to escape through death or disappearance of witnesses or documentary evidence and through waning of public interest."

Washington Post: "Many persons had hoped and others had feared that, with the franchise at last secured, women would show up in overwhelming numbers whenever and wherever votes were to be cast. A third class said: 'Give women the suffrage and things will go on as usual.' It is this last opinion that events seem to have justified. At the last election out of 54,521,832 eligible voters 27,763,976, or more than 50 per cent, did not take the trouble to go to the polls."

New York Times: "With a fairly good imitation of seriousness, Senator Reed is proposing or suggesting or demanding that our British and French friends pay their debts to us, or a part of them, by transferring to us their possessions in the West Indies. The senator's scheme has the support—also seemingly serious—of an American newspaper or two, but the general reaction to it has been a more or less vehement refusal."

New York Sun: "The old joke about selling horseshoes in Venice ought to be brought up to the minute by applying the news that Venice, according to the statistics of city authorities, harbors 60,000 cats. Not catfish or alley cats, but house cats. The report says these pets of the Venetian families appear even in the gondolas, riding serenely over the black water of the canals. Probably a still greater tribe of pussies could thrive in the island city. The old superstition about cats hating water must have been dispelled by modern science."

Christian Science Monitor: "Can not some way be found to stop the shooting of birds for the sole purpose of determining skill with the rifle? The Hercules trophy, for instance, in the Great Eastern handicap which was shot off the other day, near Reading, Pa., resulted in the destruction of no less than 190 birds by the eight leading competitors. And who is a particle the better for this inhuman sacrifice?"

Medfor Mail-Tribune: "Disposal of a cold is aggravating work, owing to the elusiveness of the affliction. Chased out of the lungs, the fugitive settles in the knees and runs out of that locality, it sojourns to the back of the neck, and so on. Some wear out a cold, like a pair of pants, but this is dangerous, owing to liability of disintegrating ahead of the cold."

Brooklyn Eagle: "Burglars who robbed a Presbyterian parish house in New Castle, Pa., got nothing worth while and missed $22 in bills that was between the leaves of a Bible on an open desk. As a safety deposit place any copy of the Holy Scriptures is invaluable. Robbers may be able to read, but they are never intent on hunting texts."

It would appear logical for Governor Richardson to use some of his ointment of economy on the legislators who were Friday reported planning to get away early in week-end recess. THE WHITE OAK.

The white oak keeps its leaves till spring when other trees are bare,
And who will take the time to look, will find the young bud there.
The young bud nestled snug and warm against the winter's cold,
The young bud being sheltered by the knowledge of the old.

And when the spring shall come again—and gentle turns the day,
The youthful bud swell with strength and thrust the old away:
The youthful bud will seek the breeze and hunger for the sun,
And down to earth will fall the old
with all its duty done.

Then heedless of the parent leaf,
the youthful bud will grow
And watch the robins build their nests and watch the robins go:
Then something strange will come to it when that young leaf grows old,
It, too, will want to shield its babe against the winter's cold.

It, too, will cling unto the tree through many a dreary day
Until the spring-time comes again and it is thrust away;
Then it will flutter down to earth
with all its duty done,
And leave behind its happy child to drink the morning sun.

How like man's life from birth to close! How like the white
Which keeps a shelter for its young against the storms, are we!
We guard our children through the night and watch them through the day,
And when at last our work is done,
like leaves we fall away.

SKELETON OF A MAMMOTH.

The first complete specimen of Siberian mammoth skull has arrived in London. The skull belonged to a female mammoth recently dug from the Arctic ice of one of the Siberian islands, and was purchased by English ivory merchants. The superior quality and original clean white appearance have been well preserved by their untold ages in cold storage.

Pieces of skin were still clinging to the jaws, and study of the teeth, enabled the experts to determine the sex and relative age of the animal. The tusks are set in the skull like an elephant's and do not curl upward and outward in the exaggerated way that one sees in the conventional pictures of restorations. In the opinion of these experts ivory from these mammoths would make better billiard balls than the tusks of modern elephants.

A number of years ago the carcass of a mammoth was dug out of Arctic ice. The flesh looked like ordinary frozen meat, but decayed at once after being exposed to the air.—Salt Lake Tribune.

LIKES CANADA'S WAY.

To the Editor of the Tribune:

I am much interested in the debt suggestion of Albert Rupp of this issue. He is right as to the same language, customs, ideas, etc., but as to Canadians being in favor by an overwhelming majority of union with us, history says different. In 1773-1812 and 1867 delegates visited them to show the value of such union, but met a warm or rather a hot reception. The Taft reciprocity treaty in 1911 was defeated by a big majority, and the big argument against it was that it meant annexation. Perhaps they have changed their mind only the Canadian papers do not say so. The Canadians are like a small boy taking castor oil, they do not know what is good for them.

Now that debt business, as it was in saving civilization for three years before we got into it, that it was contracted, and also we were making a big profit from it, while England is ready to pay as soon as we are ready to take the goods perhaps the gratitude should be on the other foot.

The main difference in the two countries is in the system of government. Canada has a Parliament responsible to the people, while here it is very slow, take 1918 for example. The President and Cabinet on one side with Congress and Senate on the other. A deadlock for two years and the same now again, or in March when the two parties are so equally divided that nothing will be done, besides the idea of having men voted out doing business for four months afterwards would not do in Canada. They want a little more speed, it was good enough in the days of the ox cart but not now. Another trouble would be in the way the law courts are run. A case of murder on now where it took two weeks to get a jury, in Canada the man would be sentenced to hang or go free in that time, but then their judges do not have to go chasing around getting votes for the job, so that may make a difference. When there is a union it will be Canada and not England that will have the say abou it.

BHUTAN'S DRY STRIP.

Running across the southern boundary of the semi-independent state of Bhutan in the Himalaya mountains of northern India, is a strip of territory ten miles wide and 150 miles long, in which the sale of intoxicating liquor is prohibited by law. The story of this "Cherokee strip" is a curious one and one not wholly creditable to the authorities on either side of the border.

On the borderland between Bhutan and the British Province of Bengal are many tea plantations owned by British tea planters. Some years ago the numerous drink shops along the border made much trouble with the coolies employed by the planters, and a movement looking to the closing of the shops was inaugurated by the planters who appealed to the British commissioner on the Bengal side for relief. So the British deputy commissioner expostulated to Sir Ugyen Wang-Chuk, the Maharaja of Bhutan, explaining how wicked it was for the Bhutan drink sellers to degrade the coolies and proposing that Sir Ugyen proclaim a prohibition zone five miles wide across the southern border of his state.

Sir Ugyen agreed that it was wrong to debauch the natives in this manner, but pointed out that the process was a profitable one and that he derived a revenue of some 70,000 rupees annually from the liquor business of the strip. He urged that he could not be expected to forego this needed revenue for the benefit of the British drink sellers.

The British commissioner answered that the argument was sound and proposed that if a five-mile prohibition zone on the Bhutan side was decreed the British would pay the Maharaja's treasury the 70,000 rupees.

Then the Maharaja declared that the evil was growing and the revenue an increasing one. He proposed, for the benefit of the poor coolies, to decree the zone ten miles wide and 150 miles long if the benevolent British authorities would make the "damages" annually 100,000 rupees instead of 70,000. The deal was made on this basis.—Christian Herald.

NEW TRAFFIC RULES MADE FOR AUTOS

Five Amendments to Downtown Ordinance Agreed Upon at Conference of City Officials and Civic Leaders

Five new amendments to the downtown traffic ordinance were decided upon last night in Commissioner Frank Colbourn's office, at a conference of city officials and representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, Merchants' Exchange, Merchants' Association, and the traction company.

The five changes, to be incorporated in an ordinance, will include the following rules:

1—Parallel parking throughout the city. All automobiles must be parked alongside the curbs, with three feet between cars.

2—Extension of the 40-minute parking law through all the downtown districts.

3—No right-hand turns when traffic signals are adverse. An adverse signal by a traffic officer will stop all traffic. No machine can slip around the corner.

4—No left hand turns at Twelfth and Washington, Thirteenth and Washington, and Fourteenth and Franklin.

5—No parking in the streets between 2 and 3 a. m. except for express trucks and physicians' cars.

RIGHT TURN FORBIDDEN.

The third proposition, forbidding all right-hand turns when signals are adverse, called for the greatest discussion last night, as several citizens asserted that the new rule would invite congestion of traffic. They held that, at present, a car can slip around the right-hand corner and thus get out of line quickly, whereas this car would otherwise be one of a long string of vehicles held up until the policeman gave the signal to go.

"But the pedestrian has to be protected," said Colbourn. "At present, with cars swinging around the corner, the pedestrian finds trouble in every direction."

The conference was unanimous on the advisability of parallel parking; in fact, it was agreed that most autoists now park parallel by habit anyhow.

NIGHT PARKING BANNED.

As for parking in the early morning hours, Colbourn said he found that many citizens found street-parking cheaper than garage rent and were keeping their cars out in the streets all night. After the ordinance passes, any car found loitering in the streets at early morning hours will be "run in," except for night express cars and doctors' automobiles.

The city officials present at the conference included Commissioner Colbourn, Police Chief James T. Drew, Fire Chief Sam Short, Superintendent of Streets W. W. Harmon, Traffic Sergeant Charles Hemphill, and the city attorney. Various merchants appeared at different times to give their ideas, and George H. Harris, superintendent of the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railways, attended for the traction company.

HOUSEWIVES TO ASK MILK AT 11 CENTS

Leagues Seek Meeting With Retail Grocers to Obtain Benefit of Cut in Price, Announced by Dairymen

Eleven-cent milk is to be asked of local grocers by the housewives' leagues of the Eastbay cities, as the result of the price reduction announced yesterday by the Associated Milk Producers of Alameda county, according to Mrs. J. Platts, president of the Oakland Housewives' League.

A committee composed of the leaders of the Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda Housewives' leagues will seek a conference next Tuesday morning with officials of the Retail Grocers' and Merchants' association, to urge them to pass the announced two cent price drop on to their customers, Mrs. Platts said today.

If the grocers accede to this request, Mrs. Platts declared, a campaign will be started by the housewives' leagues to urge all women in the Eastbay district to patronize these grocers, and to carry their milk purchases home with them rather than continue to pay 13 cents to have it delivered.

This, Mrs. Platts predicted, eventually would result in a reduction of the price charged by the creameries for milk delivered at the doors.

"This action of the dairymen in eliminating the middlemen and selling direct to the stores at a lowered price, ought to mean that the stores can tell to the consumers at a similarly lowered price," Mrs. Platts said today. "If the grocers should merely take the opportunity of making a larger profit, however, and continue selling at the old price of 13 cents, there will be nothing to compel the creameries to reduce their rates, and we will have gained nothing by our boycott of the action of the dairymen.

"Consequently, we are going to make a personal appeal to the grocers to pass the two-cent price reduction on to their customers, and to sell milk over their counters at 11 cents a quart."

The committee which will confer with the grocers, provided the latter consent to a meeting, probably will consist of Mrs. W. T. Cleverdon, president of the Berkeley and the State Housewives' Leagues, and Mrs. H. J. Platts and Mrs. Kate Hooven, presidents of the Oakland and Alameda Housewives' Leagues respectively, it was asserted today.

S. F. MAN IS SLAIN, BOYS ADMIT CRIME

Insurance Employee's Body Found Buried in Desert Sands; Killed by Two Youths Whom He Aided

Frank Campbell and Charles Davis, each 18 years old, were arraigned today in El Centro on the charge of having murdered and robbed Leslie L. Nichols, San Francisco insurance man, whom they are alleged to have shot and beaten to death while he was giving them a "lift" in his machine across the Mojave desert. They are said to have confessed.

The body of Nichols was found last night buried in the sand about 50 miles southeast of Mecca by a searching party, which was led to the spot by the youths.

PRISON HINT OF CRIME.

The murder of Nichols came to light as the result of the arrest of Campbell and Davis on the charge of stealing an automobile. A turnkey in the county jail at Riverside is said to have overheard them, as they talked together in their cell, discussing the slaying. Questioned about their conversation they made a complete confession, the officers say.

For two weeks no word had been heard from Nichols by members of his family, or by the Northern Assurance company, by which he was employed. A week ago his wife went to Los Angeles, to join him when he should have returned from Blythe, where he had gone on business.

Nichols was 31 years old, and was an overseas veteran of the world war. He belonged to Golden Gate Post, No. 40, American Legion, of San Francisco. His widow is also a member of Golden Gate Post, having served as a yeomanette during the war.

The couple lived at 619 Balboa street, San Francisco, where an uncle and aunt of Nichols lived with them.

VICTIM SHOT, BEATEN.

According to the alleged confession of the two youths, they killed Nichols after he had offered to let them ride in his automobile. They are alleged to have shot him, and then when he struggled to get a revolver out of the pocket in the door of his automobile, to have beaten him to death with rocks.

When the body of Nichols was discovered, two bullet wounds were found in it. The head had been crushed.

Campbell and Davis stripped the body of Nichols after killing him, according to their alleged confession. Clothes worn by Campbell at the time of his arrest were said by friends of Nichols to have belonged to the insurance man. A report from San Bernardino was that a watch owned by Nichols had been located in a pawnshop there.

The two youths were driving Nichols' automobile when they were arrested at Blythe.

Campbell, it is reported, was recently discharged from a United States destroyer at San Diego. Davis is said to have lived until recently at Section, Alabama.

U. S. Nation of Button-Pushers, States Jay Nash

Greatest Thing in World, Recreation, Neglected, Says Speaker.

"We have become a nation of button pushers and lever pullers. There isn't a man in the world today who is not just as lazy as machinery will let him be. We spend months and years on some invention to save labor, but we neglect the greatest thing in the world—recreation."

These were the statements of Jay B. Nash, superintendent of the Oakland Recreation Department yesterday, who spoke before members of the Optimists' Club at their luncheon at the Hotel Oakland.

The subject of Nash's address was "The Constructive Use of Leisure Time." His talk had to do with the problems that confront great cities such as Oakland with the youth of today, and was the same as given at other luncheon clubs recently.

He pointed with pride to the fact that the younger generation is taught constructive accomplishments rather than wasteful habits in a good portion of his spare time.

One of the features of the meeting was a vocal solo by George Carson, a member of the club. Plans were discussed for the organization's dinner and dance entertainment which will be held at the Pergola Inn Tuesday evening. Arrangements for the party are being made by a committee headed by Jim Teddy.

DRY RAIDERS MENACED BY CROWD

U. S. Agents Clash With the Town Marshal at Concord and Citizens Threaten to Mob Prohibition Officers

CONCORD, Jan. 27.—Shouts of "Lynch them" were raised by a street crowd here yesterday afternoon when one of five federal prohibition agents attempted to put handcuffs on Town Marshal Edward S. Slattery.

Slattery and Deputy Marshal George Rogers quelled the disturbance in the crowd, and with the other four federal officers rebuking the one who had threatened Slattery with handcuffs the five drove away, after being served by Marshal Slattery with papers to appear before Justice E. P. Jackson next Wednesday on the charge of violating Concord traffic ordinances.

The five federal men had just raided three soft drink places—the Central hotel, Mrs. Capell's and the First and Last Chance, and arrested the proprietors on charges of violating the prohibition laws.

Marshal Slattery says the federal agents refused to give him their names, but he obtained the number of their automobile, 569,698, said to be registered in the name of C. G. Deregalado of San Francisco. One of the five kept his face concealed behind a newspaper throughout the time the party was in town, according to the marshal.

OAKLAND TRADE MAKES GOOD GAIN OVER YEAR AGO

Bank Clearings, Postal Receipts and Other Figures Show Changed Conditions.

During the last six months of 1923 Oakland department stores showed an increase of 4.4 per cent in business over the same period of 1921, according to the January business letter of the Oakland Bank, covering business and financial conditions for December and the fore part of January.

With regard to local conditions, the letter says:

Retail trade in Oakland for December was unusually good, and is continuing into January in volume much larger than during the corresponding period of last year. Department store sales for December were close to 9 per cent greater than in December, 1921, and about 75 per cent greater than November, 1922. For the entire year, department store sales were 3 per cent less than for the year 1921. This is due to the falling off of business in the early part of 1922, business having bettered in the last six months of the year to the extent of showing an increase of 4.4 per cent over the same period of 1921. Stocks on hand December 31, 1922, were 18 per cent less than on the same date a year ago, and 10.9 per cent less than November, 1922.

BANK CLEARINGS.

"Total bank clearings in Oakland for 1922 showed an increase of $126,961,718 over the preceding year, the clearings for 1922 having amounted to $669,053,882, as compared with $543,092,166 for 1921.

"Building permits for December totaled 523, as against 723 for November, the value of the permits for the two months being respectively, $2,070,582 and $2,584,752. For the year 1922, 7651 permits were issued, with a value of $24,468,223, as compared with 7058 permits valued at $15,791,661 in 1921. The outstanding feature of building construction during the past year is the increase in buildings of the frame type as will be noticed from the following table showing the cost of brick and steel construction as compared with the preceding year:

	1921	1922
No. permits..	7,058	7,651
Total cost...	$15,791,616	$24,468,223
Frame con...	1,152,964	16,685,965
Concrete	3,069,327	4,205,987
Brick	476,393	2,553,100
Tile	144,673	325,000
Steel	47,260	965,846

POST OFFICE RECEIPTS.

Oakland post office receipts show a net gain during 1922 of 17 per cent over 1921, the total receipts for the year being $1,025,234, as compared with $876,822 in 1921.

Estimates based upon new installations by public service corporations place the gain in population in the neighborhood of 6 per cent for the year. A total of $898,000 was expended in extending the telephone service of the Eastbay territory, and 4500 new telephones were installed.

SHIPPING FIGURES.

The increased use made of our waterfront by shipping is one of the most important features of Oakland's progress. Ships from practically all of the lines plying between the Pacific and Atlantic ports now touch at Oakland docks, and entire cargoes are being loaded and received in traffic between this port and Atlantic and foreign harbors. As indicating the increase in the volume of our water traffic, inbound freight shipments through the Lawrence terminal increased 2750 per cent during the past year, while outbound freight increased at the same time 2141 per cent.

The United States employment service reports the number of persons employed in Oakland at the first of the year 36 per cent greater than a year ago. In December, fifty-six firms in this city were employing 3510 more people than at the same time last year.

BUSINESS and FINANCE

By H. S. SCOTT

Next move in the financial battle in which William C. Durant is storming the heights of General Motors through a stock "unit" system of his own, was awaited with interest by Wall Street today.

Following his offer of $200 a share for the entire common stock output of Fisher Body, Durant was subjected to attacks in which his system whereby shares of stock were split up into units among five smaller investors, was severely criticized. Answering his challenge, Durant declared he would buy back the stock at $200 a share, with a bonus of $2 on each unit, making the total cost to him $215 a share. This offer, involving cash payment of $100,000,000, still stands.

Durant Motors opened today at 71½ and gained ½ point in early trading.

Discussing the Durant offer for Fisher Body, the New York Post today says:

"Wall Street was greatly interested in Mr. Durant's reported offer of $200 a share for the entire capital stock of Fisher Body and the stock showed the effect of the announcement by recovering substantially from the low levels of the past days. Even in circles friendly to Mr. Durant, however it was admitted that the offer was scarcely to be construed as more than a gesture, intended to reassure the many thousand faithful followers of the former General Motors head, who have exchanged their savings for non-transferable shares in his various motor car companies. Even those who expressed the opinion that Mr. Durant could finance the deal, were his offer accepted, admitted that the chances of his having to make good were exceedingly remote."

Principal interest in today's brief and irregular stock market session centered in the further depreciation of foreign exchanges and buying demonstrations in obscure shares whose fluctuations ordinarily do not influence the general trend. Heaviness cropped out in a number of the standard shares, particularly Baldwin, Bethlehem Steel, and some of the foreign oils.

Baltimore and Ohio enjoyed a brief period of strength on publication of the December earnings statement showing an increase of nearly $3,500,000 in net operating income. St. Paul preferred moved to higher ground. Royal Dutch, General Asphalt and Republic Steel preferred sold off 1 to 2 points.

Kresge was pushed to a new high at 210 on the showing of its earnings. Willys Overland preferred dropped one point. Advances of 1 to 1½ points were recorded by Columbia Gas, Crucible Steel, Savage Arms and Spicer Manufacturing, American Can, Chandler Motor, United Fruit, American Smelting and Standard Oil of California also moved to higher ground.

Foreign exchanges were easy. The German mark fell to .0037 cents or approximately 27,000 to the American dollar.

Sales approximated 250,000 shares. The closing was irregular.

RAILWAYS REPORT CAR SURPLUS NOW.

Railroads January 15 came closer to establishing a balance between the number of freight cars demanded by shippers and the number available than they have been able to do for several months, according to figures made public today by the car service division of the American Railway Association. The carriers had 28,282 cars in good repair, but not needed by shippers, and so declared to be surplus, while the day's total demand of shippers was 70,442 cars more than could be immediately supplied.

The simultaneous existence of both a car surplus and a shortage was explained by the service division as due to the fact that cars are not always immediately available at the point of demand. Most of the shortage was in the coal fields.

ALBERS BROTHERS REPORTS PROSPEROUS SIX MONTHS.

The report of earnings of Albers Brothers Milling Company for the last six months of 1922 shows operating profit of $490,529. Net profits for the six months period, after deducting interest, general expenses depreciation, etc., were $227,194, or nearly three times the dividend requirements on the 7 per cent preferred stock.

Every one of the company's nine branches earned a profit.

December also proved a very good month, although the cereal companies seldom lay much store on the holiday season. Albers' gross operating profit in December was $76,645, while the net was $45,215.

COSTS OF FOOD ARE STILL TRENDING UP.

Final figures by the bureau of labor statistics show that in the country, as a whole, the cost of living in December, 1922, was 69.5 [illegible] month in 1913, the year before the world war; 2.8 per cent lower than in December, 1921, and 1.9 per cent higher than in September, 1922. Food costs for December showed an increase of 46.6 per cent from the average of December, 1913; clothing an increase of 71.5 per cent; housing costs an increase of 61.9 per cent; fuel and light an increase of 86.4 per cent, and furniture an increase of 108.2 per cent.

This plan is expected to clear off the bank loans under which the company is sweating and of which $1,000,000 has been paid from earnings the past year and leave it with ample capital to do business.

MORE FREIGHT CUTS ANNOUNCED BY S. P.

Reduction in freight rates to and from California on such diversified commodities as periodicals and magazines, calcined magnesite electric storage batteries stoves and steel plate furnaces and peanuts are announced by the Southern Pacific. Practically all magazines and periodicals are now being sent to the great distributing centers by freight several weeks ahead of publication date. The reductions range as high as 30 per cent.

Rates on crude or calcined magnesite to Chicago and points east are now 75 cents per 100 pounds. This rate will be reduced to 60 cents. Rates on electric storage batteries to eastern points will be reduced from $3.38, the present rate to New York, to $2.89; from $2.66½, the present rate to Kansas City, to $2.40; and other points in proportion. These eastbound rates will be in effect March 9.

Present rates on newspaper and periodicals from New York to California points are $3.08 per 100 pounds. The new rate will be $2.28. Stoves and steel plate furnaces now take a rate of from $2.75½ from New York to $2.33½ from St. Louis. These rates will be reduced to $2.07 and $1.75, respectively. The rates on peanuts range from $2.48 at New York to $2.10 from St. Louis. The new rates will be $1.80 at New York, to $1.57 St. Louis. These westbound rates are effective March 7.

PURE OIL BRINGS IN NEW WEST VIRGINIA WELL.

Pure Oil Company has brought in a well in its Cabin Creek field of West Virginia making 210 barrels a day and indicating an important broadening of the big producing streak through the company's large holdings in this section. The well is the company's number 219, located on the Williams Coal Company tract in Boone county. It was located as an edge well, but its producing rate shows a widening of the big pay at this point.

This well is slightly less than a mile ahead of the Pure Oil Company's 205 which has made a notable earning record since its completion in October, 1920. It has made 125,000 barrels at an average price of $5.50 a barrel, and it is still flowing 100 barrels a day.

Pure Oil's production in the Cabin Creek field has shown extraordinary earnings because of the premium grade of the crude, which has always commanded a price above the Pennsylvania grade. The company's well number 88, drilled in June, 1917, has earned over $700,000, and is still producing at the rate of twenty barrels a day. The Pure Oil Company is using all of the production from this field through its Cabin Creek refinery for the manufacture of its motor oils, and the stability of its production here has made it possible to maintain quality consistently.

MONTGOMERY-WARD TURNS DEFICIT INTO PROFITS.

Net profits of Montgomery, Ward & Co., the Chicago mail-order house, for 1922 were $4,562,607, as compared with an operating loss of $8,887,396 in 1921, according to the firm's annual report, made public today.

In addition to paying the full year's dividend on the preferred stock and the arrears from the last quarter of 1921 arrears in the sinking fund and other charter requirements for 1920 and 1921, totaling $1,000,000, were eradicated by the 1922 earnings.

Net sales for 1922 were reported as totaling $84,738,826, an increase of nearly 24 per cent above 1921.

Increased buying power, due to improving agricultural and business conditions, was partly due to the increased sales, the report said.

"During the year we made over a million new customers," President Mersels said, "which is a good barometer of the substantial increase in the buying power developed in the agricultural districts. He expressed the opinion that 1923 business would be better than that in 1922."

CONTRA COSTA GAS TO SELL BONDS.

Mallinson Profits Jump 100 Per Cent

The annual report of H. R. Mallinson & Co., silk manufacturers, for the fiscal year ended October 31, 1922, shows net profits before federal taxes of $741,324, equivalent after preferred dividends to $2.75 a share on 200,000 shares of common stock. This compares with $338,357 earned in 1921, an increase of more than 100 per cent. Most of profits shown were made in the last quarter of fiscal year.

Outstanding preferred stock was reduced during the year from $2,850,000 to $2,705,000 by operation of sinking fund, and further substantial reductions have been made since end of fiscal year. No good-will is carried in the balance sheet, although over $12,000,000 has been spent on advertising in the twenty-five years Mallinson has been in business.

INDUSTRIAL GAINS ARE REPORTED BY RESERVE SYSTEM

Lumber Shows 50 Per Cent Gain Over Year Ago; Stores Doing Record Business.

Increased industrial activity, record Christmas sales and improved conditions in nearly all of the basic industries of the district were shown in the monthly report of John Perrin, Federal reserve agent for the Twelfth Federal Reserve district, made public today.

"Industrial activity which has been steadily increasing during the past year, continued through December with less than seasonal diminution," says the report. "The volume of trade in the lumber industry was approximately 50 per cent greater in December, 1922, than in December, 1921.

"The mines of the district have, temporarily at least, stabilized production at levels much above those prevailing a year ago. The total value of the district's production of five principal metals (gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc) was $163,340,471 in 1922, compared with $101,638,967 in 1921.

OIL PRODUCTION.

"Production of petroleum in California continues to exceed consumption and stored stocks were increased by 1,430,204 barrels during December, reaching the record figure of 61,184,928 barrels on January 1, 1923.

"Building permits issued during December, 1922, were greater both in number and in value than in December, 1921, but the percentages of increase were not so great as in previous months of 1922.

"The 1922 pack of canned fruits and vegetables has proved to be the largest ever produced in the district, exceeding the small 1921 pack by almost 75 per cent.

"Seasonal decreases in employment have been smaller this winter than in the past two years.

"Reporting department stores of the district transacted the largest volume of business in their history during the past Christmas season. Sales were 11.8 per cent greater in value than in December, 1921, and 8.1 per cent greater than the previous record month of December, 1920.

WHOLESALE TRADE.

"Sales in all of the ten reporting lines of wholesale trade increased in December, 1922, compared with December, 1921, the increases varying from 3.5 per cent to 31.4 per cent and being over 15 per cent in seven of the ten.

"Final estimates of the United States Department of Agriculture show that the physical volume of agricultural production in this district in 1922 was approximately the same as in 1921, but that the aggregate value of the crops grown was 10 per cent greater in 1922 than in the previous year. Prices for livestock and livestock products have returned moderate profits to producers during the major portion of the year, and the livestock industry is now in appreciably better condition than it was a year ago. The recovery is restricted in the present active demand for breeding animals to be used in rebuilding flocks and herds. Heavy rains and snows during recent weeks have benefitted fall sown crops, stimulated the growth of feed for livestock and practically assured an adequate supply of water for irrigation purposes later in the year."

All Records for Making Paper Broken in 1922

Production of Newsprint Reaches 2,600,000 Tons in U. S. and Canada.

MONTREAL, Jan. 27.—With the United States manufacturing 1,448,000 tons and Canada 1,152,000 tons of newsprint paper, all records for a year's papermaking in North America were broken in 1922.

The previous high mark of 2,400,000 tons was made in 1920, it was reported today at the annual meeting of the newsprint service bureau here.

The total North American production of 2,600,000 tons included 60,000 tons made in New Foundland and 10,000 tons produced by the one newsprint paper mill in Mexico.

Advertising enlarged Sunday and daily newspapers and wider circulations were said in the report to have been the three influential factors in the record output.

The newspapers fared much better than the magazines in advertising on 1922 for of the $800,000,000 spent in newspaper and periodical advertising the newspapers received about $700,000,000.

It was predicted that 1923 would scale the billion dollar mark for United States and Canada in advertising by the printed page; and that paper manufacturing in North America would soon be a billion dollar industry.

Banks Agree to Cash Pay Checks

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 27.—Banks in Seattle began today to cash warrants issued against the Seattle Municipal Railway Fund, concerning which they came to an impasse with the city administration Wednesday. The Seattle Clearing House Association made the announcement after the council had passed a resolution that no appropriations shall be issued from the fund except to pay outstanding warrants, beginning January 30, and that daily receipts from the cars will be placed in this fund until all warrants are paid.

Fate of Road Hangs On Odd Lawsuit

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 27.—Whether bondholders who bought the International Great Northern railroad at public auction recently must abide by contracts executed by former owners, whereby general shops and officers of the company were located permanently in Palestine, was argued in federal court here.

Attorneys of the railroad declared that the fate of the road hangs in the balance; that the suit looking for removal of the line's headquarters and shops to Houston be dismissed.

EASTERN MARKETS

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—With offerings rather free and but limited demand, the wheat market had a downward tendency today during the early dealings. The opening, which varied from unchanged figures to ⅝c lower, with May $1.16½ to $1.16⅞ and July $1.11 to $1.11½, was followed by a moderate general setback and then something of a reaction.

Corn and oats declined with wheat. After opening unchanged to ⅜c lower, May 72¾c, the corn market underwent a setback all around.

Oats started unchanged to ⅛c off, May 41⅝c. Later all deliveries were down a little.

Prospects of continued liberal receipts of hogs weakened the provision market.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Further commission house liquidations prompted a generally lower opening in the cotton market today, with first prices unchanged to 19 points under last night's close. Rallies followed quickly, however, on week-end coverings, a renewal of trade prices and new speculative buying. There was more or less reversing of straddles between the old and new crop, which was reflected in a relatively firm ruling of the latter. At the end of the first twenty minutes prices recovered all the initial losses and showed net gains of 5 to 20 points.

Northern Pacific to Issue 17 Million Bonds

The Northern Pacific railroad obtained permission from the Interstate Commerce Commission today to issue $17,859,000 in 5 per cent refunding and improvement mortgage bonds, of which $10,000,000 are to be sold immediately at 96.5, while the balance will be placed in the corporation's treasury.

The Northern Pacific, the commission's order explained, has recently paid off indebtedness maturing against its subsidiary corporations to an amount equal to the total of the contemplated bond issue and desires to reimburse its treasury for the outlay.

COOPERATION OF U. S. FARMER IS RATED TOP HEAVY

Methods in America and Ireland Compared Closely by Sir Horace Plunkett.

The desirability of building co-operative agricultural organizations from the bottom up rather than creating an overhead organization and building from the top down is stressed by Sir Horace Plunkett, leader of Irish co-operation, who is now making a survey of the agricultural situation in the United States of federal and state policies in promoting agriculture, as well as of the movement on the part of farmers for bettering their own condition through co-operation.

"A notable characteristic of the agricultural co-operative movement in the United States is that the organizations are builded from the top down," said Sir Horace. "We don't build in that way. When we organize we build from the bottom up and not from the top down.

FARMING AS INDUSTRY.

"To develop the agricultural community you must look upon farming as an industry, as a business, and as a life," he said, in enunciating the formula "Better Farming; Better Business; Better Living" by which agriculture in Ireland is being guided. "By better farming we mean the teaching of the farmer everything that he wants to know in his industry as the United States Department of Agriculture is doing here. Any intelligent farmer who really wants to improve his industry has here a more complete scheme for assisting him than in any other country in the world.

"Better business means teaching farmers to combine. When farmers join together to market some single commodity, they can undoubtedly develop a very great commercial power as has been the case with the citrus growers in California, as well as your elevator combinations and many of your dairying combinations.

IRISH METHODS.

"In Ireland we attach so much importance to the co-operative spirit that we try to get farmers to organize co-operatively for every purpose of their industry, always beginning with some very simple transaction, such as buying fertilizer, or perhaps selling their eggs or something of that sort, to try out the method and get them to understand the principles involved. We maintain that the co-operative principle is the only sound principle for farmers' combinations as the capitalistic or joint stock system nearly always ends disastrously.

"Every year that passes it becomes harder to keep young men on the farm. You have got to brighten country life by making it a really progressive social and intellectual life. This depends mainly upon education, but a fundamental principle is that you don't try to bring into the country the things of the city. All these things develop so much more rapidly in the city than they can possibly develop in the country that the more you introduce these things into the country the more you widen the gap in these respects between the country and the city. You must get the country people to realize the inherent interest in the science of agriculture, in plant and animal life—try to get them interested in the beauties of the country.

ADVICE TO FARMERS.

"I think you will find that the splendid educational facilities at the hand of the farmer today will be put to far wider and far better use by farmers who are co-operatively organized than by farmers who are not organized at all or who are organized under joint stock plans. The co-operative society of farmers that brings people together in the business of their life will be a far better foundation for the social and intellectual movements that you want to bring into the country than any uplift movement, any emotional movement or movement by some emotional person, that creates temporary enthusiasm and then simply dies out when that person gets tired of it or goes and dies."

GRAIN.

Price of Oil Again Jumps In Mid-West

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 27.—The Prairie Oil & Gas Company announced an advance of ten cents a barrel in the price of crude oil today.

The increase affects Kansas, Oklahoma and North Texas.

The Prairie's advance makes the minimum price $1.20 a barrel and the maximum $2.30 a barrel.

SHREVEPORT, La., Jan. 27.—A second advance of ten cents per barrel of all grades of North Louisiana and South Arkansas crude oil was posted here today by the Standard Oil Company of Louisiana.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Jan. 27.—North Texas crude oil prices were advanced ten cents per barrel today, making the price now $2.30. The Prairie announced the advance, which was met by the gulf.

PRICE OF SUGAR SLIDES AGAIN; IS AT $6.90 BASE

Imperial Valley Crops Reported in Promising Condition by Produce Buyer.

Sugar prices took another drop of 10 cents today when both the California and Hawaiian Sugar Refining Corporation and the Western Sugar Refinery announced a base rate for refined cane of $6.90 per 100 pounds, against $7 yesterday. The new rate is effective at once. The beet rate at the sam etime fell to $6.70.

The Imperial Valley crop prospects are reported excellent by Eugene W. Austen of the Hunt, Hatch Company, who has just returned from a trip through that section and parts of western Mexico with acreage at average. According to Austen the acreage for cantaloupes this season will be about 25,000. The lettuce acreage he estimates at 15,000 acres with a good market in the east and prices from $2 to $2.50 f. o. b. Tomato acreage is slightly above the average and the weather for the winter season has been admirable for the early maturity of the crops.

The 1921 report of the Hawaii Agricultural Experiment station, describes and figures some of the new and appetizing fruits which are being developed in Hawaii. Especial attention is given to avocados bananas, mangoes, citrus fruits and grapes. Very interesting results are being obtained with the papaya, which is becoming recognized as the standard breakfast fruit of Hawaii, its popularity being due to its delicious and wholesome flavor and appetizing appearance. Canning companies are utilizing papaya by the ton, either in preserved form, or as a jam combined with a by-product of the pineapple. It is also used as a relish and as a dehydrated fruit.

Considerable attention is being [illegible] gation of the macadamia nut, a highly ornamental tree, which produces a very nutritious nut with a pleasing flavor.

A report from Horticultural Commissioner Everett L. Smith of San Luis Obispo county says:

"Warm weather which has prevailed during the past few weeks has greatly accelerated the activity of fruit trees, especially almonds in San Luis Obispo county.

Growers are somewhat concerned about the damage which may result if the warm weather continues.

Some of the older orchards along in the region immediately adjoining the ocean are in full bloom at the present time, although the large commercial plantings in the vicinity of Paso Robles are much more backward. Even around San Luis Obispo the earlier blooming varieties, especially No Plus Ultra, are beginning to come out."

Slump In France's Bonds Regarded As Reflection On That Nation's Policy

By STUART P. WEST

By Consolidated Press, Leased Wire to Tribune. Copyright, 1923, by OAKLAND TRIBUNE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—The same conflicting movements have occurred in the markets of the world this week as in the week before. The value of European continental currencies has continued to depreciate with the unfolding of the French program in the Ruhr. Along with this, French and Belgian public securities have kept on their decline and the external dollar loans of France have sold on the New York Stock Exchange well below the lowest on record.

The security markets, on the other hand, have remained calm and on the whole have gained ground. This is true of London, as well as New York. It is plain that whatever possibilities may be conjured up as the result of the French attempt to collect indemnity claims by force and the ensuing German resistance, holders of stocks and bonds are not disturbed over the prospect.

FRENCH BONDS LOW.

The low selling prices of French government bonds may not, in the end, prove to have been significant, but at the moment, it must be admitted that the position is dubious. To be sure, Anglo-French bonds, guaranteed jointly by the two governments, sold well below the present prices of the two French external issues dealt in here, and yet substantially were paid off at par. But their decline occurred at a time of serious financial crisis when all securities of whatever rank were being thrown over by hard pressed corporations and individuals.

The French securities are selling at their present heavy discount under conditions where the investment market is showing unexampled strength, where industrial companies, which two years ago could not have borrowed at any figure, are able to float their securities on less than a six per cent basis and where even new offerings of new industrial stocks are snapped up with such eagerness that the subscribers receive only a small percentage of their applications. Therefore the present prices of the French bonds cannot be regarded in any other way than as a serious reflection upon French credit. They mean that the international bank community is decidedly skeptical over the outcome of events in the Ruhr. That community does not share the confidence expressed in official quarters in France that the Germans will yield to French coercion.

COMPROMISE HOPED FOR.

It would be hazardous in the extreme to venture a prediction as to the outcome of the situation at the Rhine. The best to be hoped for is that some sort of compromise will result under which, with an impartial commission as umpire, the Germans will resume reparations payments in return for French evacuation of the territory lately seized. But even this result would mean a very substantial lowering of the sums which France originally hoped to collect, and the deficit would have to be made up by increased taxation and by new French internal loans.

ALARMISTS UNCERTAIN.

Some observers, as yet unconvinced by the comparative composure of the security markets during the crisis of the past fortnight, maintain that in the end our business and financial situation may feel the effect of the troubles ahead. They have, however, othing but the vaguest idea of how this is going to happen. There is some wild notion of one nation after another falling after the manner of a house of cards.

It does not seem to occur to these people that America, and for that matter, Great Britain, can be hurt only through foreign trade, a general state of bankruptcy. In the extremely unlikely event of among the continental nations that were participants in the World War it would still be true that those nations would not cease producing. The German mark may sink to the level of the Austrian crown, the French franc may have a further indefinite depreciation. But Germany and France will continue to turn out goods that they can sell to the rest of the world, that they exchange for food and raw materials. Consequently they will have a certain buying power in the American and English markets no matter what happens.

China, Mexico and Turkey all at times, have been unable to meet their obligations. They have been virtually bankrupt. But this has not afficed the productive capacity of their citizens. They have maintained a trade with the rest of the world which, although less than it would be if their credit were normal, has still constituted a very respecable total.

NEW OFFERINGS ABSORBED.

The bond and stock markets closed the week in very much the same shape as they began it. The ease with which new offerings are absorbed is a powerful sustaining consideration for the general bond list. The stage of safety may be reached later on but there is no suggestion of it yet.

As for the stock market, there is little fresh outside buying but there is still less selling. Hence the situation from day to day is readily controlled by the Wall street pools and large individual operators who are able to maintain, on the other hand a rising tendency in prices. The under-lying feature, is of course, the trade reports which are favorable almost without exception.

UNDER SUPPLY OF LABOR.

The statement by the president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, in submitting the annual report, gave a good picture of the situation as a whole. He said that there was enough work on hand to keep the plants busy at full capacity but that it was thought advisable to maintain an eighty per cent scale of operations, owing to the scarcity of labor and the difficulty of securing adequate railway facilities.

This means that instead of the unemployment problem of a year ago we now have the problem of an under supply of labor.

It means that in the steel trade and in many other lines the volume of business is larger than in pre-war times. But it also indicates while a deficiency of railway car capacity has been considerably lessened within the last six months, the remedy has by no means been complete.

Industry Normal After Big Storm

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 27.—Industry is normal again in this section of the south after the setback caused by the most severe blizzard in ten years. The storm did damage exceeding $1,000,000 to public utilities and caused suspension of many factories dependent on electric power.

Wholesale dry goods houses report enormous sales of cotton goods at present prices, indicating the confidence of the retail dealers that raw cotton prices will be maintained or go higher. Local retailers are enjoying a fine trade in spring lines

Sinclair Oil Reported in Big Russian Deal

By JOHN GRANDENZ
United Press Staff Correspondent.

MOSCOW, Jan. 27.—The Sinclair Oil Corporation has obtained from the soviet government a 36-year concession to an oil tract a thousand versts square on the island of Sakhalien in the North Pacific ocean, it was announced today.

Two of a number of conditions of the remarkable contract are that the United States shall not commit any hostile act against Russia and that recognition of the soviet government comes within five years.

Oil, gases and shale abound on Sakhalien, whose 15,000 square miles of wealthy soil lie just north of Siberia. The Sinclair company, by terms of the contract, is entitled to select two spots on the island for harbors, these to remain under control and the property of the Russian government. The company agrees to spend 100,000 gold rubles in the first five years and to pay a rental of five percent of its total sales, or 100,000 gold rubles a year if no sales are effected in the first five years. A complicated system of taxation is also established.

SAN LEANDRAN TRIES SUICIDE

SAN LEANDRO, Jan. 27.—With a slight gash in his throat, a small pocket knife clasped in his hand and a half emptied quart of moonshine whisky in his pocket, L. A. Byers, 55, of 519 Sybil avenue, this city, was found [illegible] at the corner of East Fourteenth street and Broadmoor boulevard yesterday afternoon by H. Farrell, of Oakland, who was passing in an automobile at the time.

According to Farrell, [illegible] attempted to pick the [illegible] up [illegible] to [illegible] and slash his throat a second time. With the assistance of two other men who appeared on the scene, Byers was forced [illegible] from [illegible] to the [illegible].

The wound was superficial [illegible] [illegible] but would [illegible] broken [illegible] or perhaps [illegible] if the knife had been sharp.

WELL AT LAST

Oakland, Dec. 26, 1922.
My son, Harold, has been troubled with bloody urine for several years. He tried other physicians but none seemed able to do him any good. One said that no relief could be obtained without an operation.

One of our friends who had been cured by the FONG WAN HERBALIST suggested that we try him. He supplied my son with herbs to cook at home. After having drunk the tea for a little more than two months, Harold is now in the finest condition.

Although words cannot express our happiness, we are glad to give this testimonial regarding the ability of the FONG WAN HERBALIST.
JOHN P. HODGE.

The Fong Wan Herb Co. prints five times more testimonials than any other herbs company. The fact that the Fong Wan Herbalist is educated in English as well as Chinese, is of decided advantage to both patrons and company, eliminating the necessity of an interpreter, forestall's misunderstanding and complications, insures confidence and saves time.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

I take this method of expressing my sentiments of appreciation to Dr. Wong Him for the wonderful cures he has effected in cases where several members of my family, including myself, were afflicted with serious maladies.

I also desire to be the means of guiding any one who is in need of medical advice, as he will find Dr. Wong Him to be a thoroughly reliable health specialist and absolutely conscientious. Through an occurrence experienced by a member of my family I can, with the greatest regard for sincerity, state that after a consultation, unless Dr. Wong Him is convinced that his herbs will effect a complete cure, he will under no circumstances accept the case.

Want Ad Classifications appear in numerical order, and all related classes are grouped together. For example: All advertising of Rooms To Let is numbered 20 to 23. The numbers appear on the headings, so if you seek room and board look through the "20s;" "Board" is No. 25, and always follows "Housekeeping Rooms (24). Note—Every "For Sale" or "To Let" heading has a "Wanted" classification with the same number, but followed by the letter "A".

My Marriage Problems

Adele Garrison's New Phase Of

Revelations of a Wife

THE WAY MADGE "OVERPLAYED" WITH MOTHER GRAHAM.

Not even Lillian's "alibi" served me with Mother Graham when that august lady learned within an hour of dinner-time that Allen Drake and my father would be with us for the meal, and that the brilliant agent of the secret diplomatic service would be our guest for an indefinite period.

"You needn't try to tell me, Margaret, that you didn't know until just now that they were coming," she said, her face reddening with resentment. "I suppose you think it was a smart trick to play me to keep me in ignorance that your father is coming home and is bringing Mr. Drake. Though the land knows I don't like him much, yet Allen Drake has been in every capital in Europe and this continent, too, and has seen everything and everybody, and is as fastidious as a cat—I'll wager Katie has cotton sheets on that guest room bed!"

"No, she hasn't, for the bed isn't made. It simply has a cover spread over the mattress," I said. "I told her yesterday when she cleaned, not to keep that bed made up."

"It's a wonder you had that much sense," she retorted grudgingly. "Now you get out those linen sheets and pillow-slips and the best pair of blankets and that silk coverlet, and send Marion to me. She's splendid help making a bed, that little thing, and then do you get some flowers picked and up there, and a pitcher of fresh water and a glass, and a book and some magazines, and matches, and—all the rest," she finished vaguely.

"I'll attend to everything," I said meekly, glad to get off so cheaply, and making for the staircase on my way to the linen closet. "By the way, what do you think I'd better wear for dinner?"

"OF ALL THINGS!"

She snorted violently, and I knew that I had overdone the patient Griselda pose. With a vivid memory of the time she had accused me of dressing for Tom Chester's approval, I had thought to disarm her by my request, but instead I found that I only had provided her with a whip for my flagellation.

"Of all things!" she began. "Well, I'm going to sit right down now and wait for the world to come to an end. YOU asking ME what you'll wear for dinner when there's a good-looking man as a guest. It would be a pile of use my telling you, wouldn't it? Judging by that performance the night that young whipper-snapper of a Tom Chester was here, you'll dress up in your best bib and tucker. Don't ask me, for I haven't any advice to give you. If you don't know what's proper and fitting, at your age, nothing I could say would teach you anything."

With an effort that brought every nerve into play, I grimly put down the impulse to answer her outrageous tirade. Instead, I walked calmly to the linen closet, took out the articles for which she had asked, carried them into the guest room and laid them upon the bed. Then still silent, I left the room, and sought the flower garden, where I gathered a big cluster of scarlet and orange nasturtiums relieved their vivid color with a few blossoms of white cosmos, and a spray or two of feathery vine and arranged them in a bowl of brown pottery. Then I stepped back and admired my own handiwork with the listening of tense nerves which flowers and their arrangement always bring to me.

DR. PETTIT'S REPORT.

"That's perfectly breath-taking, Madge!" Lillian's admiring voice sounded behind me. "Where are you going to put it?"

"In Dad's room." I returned, wondering a second later why I had answered as I had. I certainly had intended the flowers for the guest room assigned to Allen Drake, but at Lillian's question there had suddenly flashed [illegible] my putting them there.

"Have you time to do something for me?" I asked.

"Loads," she answered promptly.

"Then I wish you'd fix something in the flower line for the room of His Lordship, Mr. Drake," I said. "Mother Graham's on the war path up there, putting the best linen and everything else on display, and she's depending on me to do the fancy things. But if I look up the other articles she wants, I shan't have time for the flowers, or to dress."

"Of course, I'd do anything you like," she said, "but I'm no such dabster at flowers as you are, my dear. However, I imagine he'll not linger long over posies when he knows what's up. I didn't tell you about Herbie's report."

"No," I returned, laconically. In truth, I had been slightly piqued that after Dr. Pettit's return from attending the man Smith at the Briggs home, she had said no word to me of the result of the physician's call.

"It wasn't much," she said, "except that the gifted Mr. Smith will have to spend nearly a week with his foot upon a chair, which just suits my plans perfectly."

"I trust, Mr. Borum," said Miss [illegible] about to depart, "that you will spend one more afternoon with us before we move into our new house." "Delighted, I assure you, Miss Cutting," replied Borum. "By the way, when do you expect to [illegible]" "I'm not positive as to the exact date," she answered, "but the workmen began excavating for the cellar yesterday, and papa expects the house to be finished in about eighteen months."

The Song Appeal

With a swing—
That started the audience to swaying—
The orchestra in the pit—
Started to work—
Musicians—
Playing tin-pan melody by the hour—
For so much per hour—
Just as man lays brick—
A twentieth century addict—
Of Hungarian Rhapsodies—
Soon finds his way to the poorhouse—
While jumping jazz brings home the doughnuts—
A frog-voiced performer—
Relic of the coon song days—
Commits assault and battery—
On every rule of harmony—
While singing to hundreds of huddled faces—
Ghostly in the semi-darkness—
About his m-a-m-m-e-e-e-from A-l-a-b-a-m-e-e-e-e—
There's a look in his eyes—
That somehow appeals—
For we know that his voice—
Has seen its best days—
And that look in his eyes—
Seems to say to each one—
Friends—I know it's not good—
It's the best I can do—
Won't you give me a hand—
Just for life's auld lang syne—
And applause long and loud—
To be sure—Sympathetic—
Shakes the roof as he leaves—
For an audience knows when a man does his best—
And rewards him.
A woman steps out—not young nor yet old—
And she sings of the silver entwined in the gold—
And old folks bow low—
Lost in memory's spell—
Then a maiden in voice that is coaxing and sweet—
Sings a song of young lovers—
Who sigh 'neath the moon—
And she sings of the vows—
That are made there to her—
And she pictures a cottage—
Half hidden with vines—
Where true love has welded two hearts into one—
And a youth and a maid—
Sit closely hand locked—
And drink in each word that falls from her lips—
And believe—
But a man sitting there—
With a cynical smile—
Leans over and says to his tired looking mate—
On whose lap is crumpled a still sleeping child—
"Say—Kate—that's the bunk—
That's the way I was hooked—
I was snared—
By a popular song."

CHAPTER VI.

Nina was duly dressed for the tea party the next day, and when to show herself to her mother while Harriet dressed. The young girl really did look her best in the filmy white with its severely plain ruffles, and with a wide white hat on her thick, smoothly dressed hair. Miss Field, too, although she was very pale today, looked "simply gorgeous," as Isabelle expressed it, when she saw them off in the car, although Harriet's gown was not new, and the little flowered hat she had crushed down upon her splendid hair had been Isabelle's own a season ago. Harriet was in no holiday mood; she felt herself in a false position; this was to be one of the times when she paid high for all the beauty and luxury of her life.

". . . so then when she came to me," Nina was recounting the reception of some celebrity at some celebrity at school, "of course I was awfully shy; you know me!" She was suddenly diverted. "But I'm not as shy as I used to be, am I, Miss Harriet?" she asked, confidingly.

"Not nearly!" Harriet made herself say, encouragingly.

"Well, then," Nina resumed, "when she came to me I don't know what I said—I just said something or other—I can't for the life of me remember what it was! Probably I just said that I had seen her in her last three plays or something like that, anyway—anyway, she said to Miss King that she had noticed me, and she said, 'It's an aristocratic face!' Amy Hawkes told me, for a trade last. The girls were wild—they were all so crazy to have her notice them, you know, and I thought—I thought of course she'd speak of Lucia or Ethel Benedict or one of those prettier girls; although," said Nina, with her little air of conscientiousness, "Ethel didn't look a bit pretty that day. Somestimes she does; sometimes she looks perfectly lovely! But that day she looked sort of colourless. 'Aristicratic'!" Nina laughed softly. "Well, I'd rather look aristocratic than be the prettiest girl in the world, wouldn't you?"

Harriet glanced at her with something like pity. This was Nina in her before-the-party mood. Her confidence and complacency would all begin to ooze away from her presently, an dthe words that came so readily to Harriet would refuse to flow at all to any one else. She would come home saying that she hated parties because people were all so shallow and uninteresting, and that she couldn't help what her friends said of her, she just wouldn't descend to that sort of nonsense.

"Here we are!" Harriet rather drily interrupted the flood. Nina gave a startled glance at the lawns and gardens of the Jay mansion already dotted with awnings and chairs, and sprinkled with the bright gowns of the first arrivals. They were early, and their hostess, a handsome, heavily built woman with corsets like armorplate under her exquisite gown, and a blonde bang covering her forehead, came forward with her daughter to meet them. Francesca was as slight as a willow, with a demurely drooped little head and a honeyed little self-possessed manner.

"Very decent of you, Miss Field!" breathed Mrs. Jay, in a voice like that of a horn. "You girls run along now—people will be comin' at any minute. I'm going to take Miss Field to the table. Three hundred people comin'," she confided as Harriet followed her across the lawn, and to the ratheer quiet corner of the awninged porch where the tea table stood, "and Mist' Jay just sent me a message that he won't be here until six. My older daughter, Morgan, is stayin' with the Tom Underhills—you know their place—lovely people—well, now, I'll leave you here, and you just ask for anything you need—"

The matron melted away; Harriet looked after her broad, retreating back indifferently. Everyone knew Mrs. Jay, a harmless, generous, good-natured and hospitable target for much secret criticism and laughter. The odd thing was, old Mrs. Carter had sometimes pointed out to the dutifully listening Harriet, that the woman really came of an excellent family, so that her little affectations, her fondness for the phrases "my older daughter, Morgan," and "lovely people, loads of money, you know them?" were honest enough, in their way. She would have loaned Harriet any amount of money, the girl reflected, smouldering, she would have shown her genuine friendship and generosity in a crisis. But she would not introduce people to Harriet this afternoon, and in a day or two she would send Harriet a bit of lace, or a dainty waist, as a delicate reminder that the courtesy had been a business one, after all.

The afternoon was the perfection of summer beauty, and after a few moments' solitude Harriet began to feel it's spell. She put her cups and spoons in order, and chatted with a hovering maid. Some elderly persons came out and sat near, and were grateful for the quiet an dthe tea. From the reception line, on the lawn, came such a brainless confusion of jabbering and chattering as might well appall the old and nervous.

And presently the sun came out for Harriet in the arrival of a tall, swiftly-moving, dark-eyed woman some ten years older than she was herself—Mary Putnam, one of the real friends the girl had gained in the last four years. Young Mrs. Putnam, Harriet used to think, with a little natural jealousy under her admiration, had everything. She was not pretty, but hers has a distinguished appearance and a lovely face; she had the self-possessed manner of a woman whose whole life has been given to the social arts; she had a clever, kindly, silent husband who adored her; her home, her garden, her clubs and her charities, and finally she had her nursery, where Billy and Betty were rioting through an ideal childhood.

"Harriet—you dear child!" said the rich and pleased voice, as Mary's fine hand crossed the tea table for a welcoming touch. "But how nice to find you here! I'm trying to get some tea for Mr. Putnam's aunt and mother, but, my dear—it's getting very thick out there!"

"I can imagine it!" Harriet glanced toward the lawn.

"I've been wanting to see you," Mrs. Putnam said in an undertone. "But suppose I carry them a tray first. Harriet, you are prettier than ever. I love the green stripes! I've just been trying to think how long it is since I've seen you."

"Not since the day you lunched with Mrs. Carter, and that was almost two weeks ago!" Harriet's hands were busy with cups and plates; now she nodded to a maid. "Mayn't Inga carry this to your mother, Mrs. Putnam?" she asked. "And couldn't you stay here and have some tea yourself?"

Mrs. Putnam immediately settled herself in the neighbouring chair.

"I'm chaperoning little Lettice Graham for a week," she began, in the delightful voice upon which Harriet had modeled her own. "But Lettice is trying her little arts upon Ward Carter. Dear boy, that!"

"Ward? He is a dear!" Harriet said, innocently.

"No blushing?" Mary Putnam asked, with a smiling look. The colour came into Harriet's lovely face, and the smoky blue eyes widened innocently.

"Blushing—for Ward?" she asked.

Mrs. Putnam stirred her tea thoughtfully.

"I didn't know," she said. "You're young, and you know him well, and you're—well, you have appearance, as it were!"

Harriet laughed.

"Ward is twenty-two," she observed.

"And you're——?"

"I shall be twenty-seven in August."

"Well, that's not serious," the older woman decided, mildly. "The point is, he's a man. Ward has fine stuff in him," she added, "and also, I think he is beginning to care. It would be an engagement that would please the Carters, I imagine."

The word engagement brought a filmy vision before Harriet's eyes, born of the fragrance and sunshine o fthe summer. She saw a ring, laughter and congratulations, dinner parties and receptions, shopping in glittering Fifth Avenue.

"Perhaps it would," she said, with a hint of surprise in her tone. "They are really very simple, and always good to me! But old Madame Carter," she laughed, "would go out of her mind!"

"A boy in Ward's position may do much worse than marry a lovely and sensible woman," Mrs. Putnam said. "Well, it just occurred to me. It is your affair, of course. But looking back one sees how much just the—well, the lack of a tiny push has meant in one's life!"

"And this is the push?" Harriet said, her heart full of the confusion and happiness that this unusual mood of confidence and affection on Mary Putnam's part had brought her.

"Perhaps!" The smooth, cool hand touched hers for a second before Mrs. Putnam went upon her gracious way. Harriet hardly heard the bustle and confusion about her for a few minutes. She sat musing, with her splendid eyes fixed upon some point invisible to the joyous group about her.

Milepposts

"THE EASIEST WAY."

The Eugene Walter play of this name ends with a horrible cry, the wail of a lost soul who has bartered virtue, self-respect and love for a drab existence. The pressure of poverty was great, but anything was to be preferred to "the easiest way."

Mary Ball was a Spartan mother and her illustrious son, George Washington, never quite got over his fear of her. But she did this for him: He was not permitted to dawdle or loaf. From his earliest childhood he was given a job, some household responsibility, and expected to carry his end of the load. The hatchet story may be a myth, but the character of America's first President is no myth.

It is no wonder many boys go wrong. They ride to school in autos, have too much spending money, and at home are neither given nor expected to take any responsibility. Such a task as getting up in the morning and looking after the furnace is unthinkable.

Willie must sleep late on Sunday morning, for hasn't he been out every night of the week? He barely passes in school and is more interested in the latest dance step, vaudeville jokes and mush extravaganza than in books. The manliest thing he does is to stand behind a cigaret in various angles of lassitude.

Not only the boy lapped in luxury, but every boy, is in danger who is not made to understand that every bit of worthy achievement has in it a certain amount of hard work that cannot be escaped. The business of parents and teachers is to see that our youth do not dodge the responsibility that makes moral fiber. Phillips Brooks put a world of wisdom into these words:

"Oh! Do not pray for easy lives! Pray to be stronger men! Do not pray for tasks equal to your powers; pray for powers equal to your tasks! Then the doing of our work shall be no miracle, but you shall be a miracle!"

Radio to the Rescue

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

POLLY NELSON lived next door to Wayne Lowell, young lawyer. Occasionally, as they waited for a streetcar, they exchanged greetings and commonplaces. Lowell admired her as a rather serious young woman of uncommon beauty and was unaware that his professional air, and the formidable books he carried, had caused her to regard him with something akin to awe.

One evening as Lowell walked by on his way from work Polly, tearful and appealing, stopped him.

"I am wondering if you won't help us. It's about 'Delbert. We need legal advice and I couldn't call at your office." She ushered him into the living room where her mother was waiting. Lowell stiffened. There was grief here almost as of bereavement. The girl lost no time.

"Delbert works for Lynn and Fraser, or he did. You know him, my younger brother? Well, they have accused him of stealing a purse that was left on the desk and have let him go. Mr. Lynn says if he will admit the theft there will be no prosecution, and—well, Delbert did not take it."

With the two women Lowell went over the story and when Delbert was summoned, heard it again. Lynn had left the office at 8 at night, leaving the purse on the desk. At 9 he remembered it and sent his son with the key. The younger Lynn had found the purse gone. There was no one else, save Fraser and Delbert, who had keys to the place.

[illegible] then," Lowell said to the young man, "that the purse was taken between 8 and 9 o'clock on last Wednesday evening. Don't you remember where you were at that hour?"

"That's just it," Delbert answered, his pale face twitching. "I was here at home fooling with my radio, but Mother and Polly were at the movies and Lynn has nothing but my word. He thinks I did it, but I will go to jail before I'll say I stole when I didn't."

"You won't go to jail," said Lowell. "and you won't have to say you stole the purse. I know Lynn and I'll see to that."

"But can you clear him? You will, won't you?" The questions came from Polly and there was so much confidence in her expression that the young lawyer promised.

Later Lowell wondered how he would make good. Delbert was the sort of youth who, in appearance, would suggest one who might be tempted. He had the only key, unless yes, there was a chance young Lynn had taken the money. But how would a man convince a father of that? made him almost wish Polly had not sought his aid. Then he thought of the girl and the chance to make her happy. It was toward morning when he had his plan ready.

"Mr. Lynn," Lowell said next morning, "you are a father and the last man who would condemn an innocent boy. I wish to prove to you Delbert Nelson did not steal your purse. Will you give me half an hour this afternoon in my office?"

Lowell, in his office, sat facing Delbert and in the next room Lynn listened and watched through a crack in the door. The boy, unaware of the presence of his former employer, wondered at the examination, but gave his answers bravely and almost defiantly.

"Have you ever heard Madame Elfredge sing?" the lawyer asked.

"On the radio," was the answer.

"What did she sing?"

The boy thought. "There was one from 'The Tales of Hoffman,' a 'Battle Cry of the Valkyries5 and—yes, a 'Madame Butterfly' piece."

"How long does it take you to go from Lynn & Fraser's office to your home?"

"Forty minutes. You know, about the same as it takes you."

"Well, listen, Delbert. Madame Elfredge, if you remember, sang last Wednesday night. If you heard the first piece, the 'Tales from Hoffman,' you were home at your radio at 8 o'clock when the concert opened. The Morning Song from "Butterly' was sung at quarter of 9. Was there anything else on the program?"

Lynn opened the door and entered. He walked straight to the surprised boy and said with some excitement:

"That's all right so far, but—you'll pardon me?—it might have been rehearsed from the program. They are all printed in the papers. Tell me, was anything said or done that night not in the announcements?"

Delbert was ready. He remembered it all now and for the first time since the accusation felt a load off his mind.

"It was announced that Mr. Tobin, or something like that, had sprained his ankle and would not accompany the singer and that Miss Louise somebody would take his place. She played some piano solos. And, yes, they said the hundred watt was out of order and they were broadcasting on 50 watts, and. . . ."

"It is enough," said Lynn, and he seemed to grow older. "You are innocent, boy, and you get the job back, if you'll take it." He smiled a twisted and wan smile. "I'm a fan myself and was on the air." He turned to Lowell:

"We won't say anything more about the purse; after all, I mislaid it, or lost it on the way home."

It was Lowell's privilege and reward to take the news to Polly.

Saturday. This morning when everything was done and I had snuck out of the manure hole so I would not have to mind Annabelle Lee and we had all met in the brickyard we went and got river to get the coon we saw yesterday. We found the tree he was in yesterday, and found some coon hairs on the branch that I chased him to, but we could not find him anywhere. We looked everywhere.

Then we walked on the ice over to the island and on the other ice to the far side of the river and climb the cliffs to the top where all the grapevines are, but there was not anything there so we made a fire and rested a while. Then we walked out on the river to we come to the froze over crack in the lake ice and we ran and slid and ran and slid all the way till we got to the breakwater. Then we climb up on it and went to shore and home for dinner.

All I got was some bread and milk and a piece of apple pie. Then I went and got Youniss and her slay and took my skates and we went down to the breakwater along the glarey ice all the way to Rocky river and back again. I had on my red neckscarf, and she had red cheeks from me going through the wind so fast, and her eyes are bright blue and her lips are red; and Jubilee ran along with his tongue hanging out all the time except when he would pull it back into his head for a minute to get it warm, and we had a pretty good time. Youniss said she did not know when she was so happy. She said she wished we could go on that way forever. I guess that was because it was not her that was pulling the slay. If I had been in her place I would have wished it too. She had it easy.

When we got back I left her at her house and hiked home and the bunch was in our barn and they said they had all went over to the school and Mush's wife had made them some slumgullion. That is just my luck. But I would rather have Youniss any time, and I told them so, and the Lost Bag of Tripe said they would rather have the slum; but when I asted him if he meant to say that slum was worth more than Youniss he said of course he didn't but everybody knowed it was, so then if he did not mean to say it I could not do anything to him.

We had a pretty good time, and we had round steak cut thin for supper and I got the bone with the marrow in it, and it was a pretty good day. When we got to bed Jubilee acted like he loved me more than ever. I guess I ain't lucky! The only thing worth having that I have not got is whiskers and long britches.

5 Minutes to Answer This.

Three old maids went to market to buy a chicken. Arabella said to Betsey and Carrie: "Now, if each of you girls will contribute half of your money, I wil have just enough to buy that chicken." "I will make a better offer," said Carrie, "for if each of you gives one-third of your money, I could just manage to purchase the bird." "I can make the best offer yet," said Betsey; "for if each of you ships in just one-quarter of your money, I will be able to buy the chicken." The chicken cost less than $4, so what must have been the price paid for it?

Uncle Wiggily

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BUNTY'S BUTTONS.

"Uncle Wiggily, I am going out for a little while," said Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy to the bunny rabbit gentleman one day.

"Very well," spoke Mr. Longears. "But be careful, Nurse Jane, that you don't get stuck in a snow drift, as Baby Bunty once did."

"I'll be careful," promised Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

Out of the hollow stump bungalow she went, and Uncle Wiggily went up in the bath room to shave off some of his whiskers, for he thought, after Nurse Jane came back, he would go adventuring.

"I-I guess it was one of my buttons," said Baby Bunty.

Uncle Wiggily was just putting some lather on his face, when he heard a knock at the side door.

"I guess Nurse Jane must be coming back sooner than she expected to," thought the bunny, "and she has forgotten her key. Still I'd better look down from my window here before I open the door. It might be the Fuzzy Fox."

Uncle Wiggily stuck his head out of the upstairs bath room window, his face all soapy lather from his shaving brush. On the side steps he saw Baby Bunty.

"Oh, all right! I'll come down and let you in, Baby Bunty," said Uncle Wiggily, getting ready to draw his head in again, for the cold air made his pink nose twinkle extra fast.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! What you got on your face—is that whipped cream? I want some!" cried Baby Bunty as she saw the lather on the bunny's whiskers.

"You wouldn't want any of this cream!" laughed the rabbit gentleman as he closed the window. "It tastes like soap."

He finished shaving quickly and let Baby Bunty in.

"Oh, where's the nice whipped cream?" asked the little rabbit girl.

"All gone!" chuckled the bunny.

"Oh, but I'm so hungry!" sighed Baby Bunty, who had a tight little jacket on. "If you haven't any whipped cream can't you give me something else to eat, Uncle Wiggily?"

"I guess so," answered the bunny rabbit gentleman. He took Baby Bunty into the kitchen and set before her a plate of sugar cookies.

"Oh, I love these!" cried Baby Bunty, and she began to eat.

All of a sudden something flew across the room and hit Uncle Wiggily on the end of his pink nose.

"What was that?" asked the rabbit uncle.

"I—I guess it was one of my buttons," said Baby Bunty.

"One of your buttons!" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"Yeppie—off my jacket," went on Baby Bunty. "You see my jacket is too tight—it's too small for me. And when I eat, my little 'tummy,' as Dr. Possum calls it, swells out and my buttons shoot off."

"Well, don't eat so much," said Uncle Wiggily.

"But I'm hungry!" cried Baby Bunty. She ate another sugar cookie.

"Pop!" off flew another button, hitting Uncle Wiggily on the ear.

"Really, Baby Bunty, you must be more careful of your buttons," said the rabbit gentleman.

"Oh, I can't help it!" Baby Bunty sighed. "Oh, how tight my jacket is getting! Oh, I'm afraid I'm going to fly off! You'd better hide under the table, Uncle Wiggily."

"No, I must take that plate of cookies away, before you fly all apart," bravely said the rabbit gentleman. He reached over to take the plate, but just then Baby Bunty ate another cookie, and a moment later the door opened and in came the Fuzzy Fox.

"Oh!" screamed Baby Bunty, and when she screamed all the rest of her buttons suddenly popped off, flew across the room and banged the Fox in his eyes, nose and mouth.

"Oh, zoozie!" howled the Fox. "I'm shot!" and out of the bungalow he ran. Then Uncle Wiggily laughed, picked up the fallen buttons and when Nurse Jane came home she sewed them on Bunty's jacket again—but she made the jacket looser so the little rabbit girl could eat another cookie.

"Buttons are good for something else than jumping through button holes," chuckled Mr. Longears that night. And if the B letter doesn't get shut up inside a book where it can't buzz around with and C with the I, next you shall hear about Uncle Wiggily and his rubbers.

GAMES OF THE GROWN FOLKS.

The "older folks" in castles, as well as the children, had games to play. Some men liked "dice-throwing" best. They would play for money. It is said they would even gamble away "the clothes on their backs."

When men gamble, they often lose their sense of honesty. "Loaded" dice were widely used during the Middle Ages. One pedlar's song was:

"I sell them heavy, I sell them light.

"Oh, buy my dice!"

Many games of cards were in use. People also cheated with these. The main way was to mark certain cards, or to have extra ones to slip into the hand.

Every once in a while, kings or bishops tried to put an end to gambling with dice or cards. Their orders may have out down the gambling a trifle, but it was not stopped by any means.

Greatest of all games was chess. We do not know just when this game was invented. It was probably first played in India. The people of the Land of Two Rivers (Babylonia) also knew the fun of chess-playing.

During the Middle Ages, there was hardly a castle in which chess was not played. King and church tried to keep it down, but their efforts were useless.

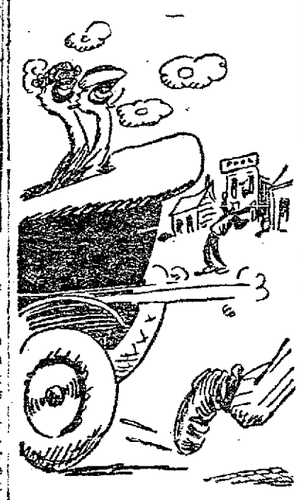

Chess is far above any other indoor game I know about. I hope that some day you will learn to play it. It is matching brain against brain. Once you know it well, you will enjoy every moment you play.

The French began to play chess more than a thousand years ago.

When French, English and German knights went to the Crusades, many of them took along sets of chess. When not fighting the Saracens, they were likely to be found playing chess in their tents. The Saracens, on their part, were just as fond of the game. Thus enemies played at the same thing at the same time!

Chess might be called a "game of war." Each side has two knights, two bishops, two castles, a king and a queen. The queen has more power than any other two pieces put together. She is a strong guard for the king, and does much to keep him from being cornered. On each side are eight pawns or "foot-soldiers."

Eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow you may be bumped off by an auto.

Winter is here, according to the pessimist, but to the optimist spring is next.

SMILES

"I guess I didn't enthuse enough over the first kiss." "What do you mean, girlie?" "Charlie was pretty slow. It was ready for it two years before it happened."

"Where has Senator Snortsworthy gone?" "Back home to feel the public pulse." "Is there anything wrong with the public pulse?" "Decidedly. It beats faster every time a successor to Senator Snortsworthy is mentioned."

Listen, World

THINGS are strained in the Spofford household. I dunno why it is, but the holy season of peace and good will does seem more productive of family rows than any other time of the year. It's the truth, isn't it, World? You have had one in your house, didn't you? So did H. Three of 'em. However, you can hardly call the Spofford mix-up a Christmas row. They carry it on all year—it merely becomes intensified at Christmas. And it's always over the same thing.

'Gene likes to "bring boys home for a bite." He knows several homeless chaps to whom an evening by the fireside and a cup of real coffee is a little bit of heaven. If he had his way he'd show them that sort of a time every week or so. Edna likes hospitality too, but she wants it to be Her Kind of Hospitality. And Edna's kind of hospitality can't be turned on at a moment's notice. It takes time, lots of time. It means housecleaning for at least a day, baking and boiling for another day, then a third day of recleaning. After that she has a good hard headache. Four days of misery, to pay for two hours of joy. Edna's doesn't get even the two hours of joy. The dinners must always be elaborate affairs—she wouldn't dream of asking anyone in unless she had a soup, salad, roast, three vegetables and a real dessert. And she's always so nervous for fear something isn't just right that she can't eat a bite.

'Gene can't understand. Over and over he has explained that The Fellows would be tickled pink if they could just sit down to the kitchen table to a good old dish of beans or hash and coffee. As for all this scrubbing and sweeping—they never know whether the house is clean or dirty. But Edna simply snorts and says she "guesses she knows!"

So 'Gene doesn't bring the fellows home. Instead he nurses a growing resentment at the silliness and selfishness of it all and grows bitter at the thought of the home he pays for but can't enjoy his own way. Edna grows bitter too at his "lack of gratitude for all she's done for him, slaving her fingers to the bones, etc."

And there you are!

Oswald when serious is worth listening to. But Oswald in a sarcastic vein justifies the hire of an aeroplane to attend the lecture. I can't quite make out whether my Oswald is "riled" or not, but he's evidently intent on picturing the ludicrous aspects of a world run by the ladies. Well, if it can be any more ridiculous or inconsistent than a world runby' men, the soft drinks are on me, Oswald, old dear.

"Geraldine: You want an opinion on whether or not men are entitled to alimony. I'll tell the world they are. Personally at this minute I think they ought to get paid for marrying and double time in case their worse-half beats it. Of course you understand I don't mean to start a sex war or anything but I hope that Chicago judge makes that lady tom cat come across.

I think it's about time for us brow-beaten males to assert ourselves. They say "the woman always pays," so doggone it, make 'em pay alimony. They vote now and swear and smoke and will soon be chewing tobacco, so make 'em pay. They run elevators, write on newspapers, shoot crap and now and then weread about a lady hobo. They hang onto their own name when they get married, chop their hair off and talk about women's rights First thing we know they'll claim that God was a lady. Look at all the women painters we have nowadays. I wonder what they'll call women when they get jobs as mail clerks.

Just think of the responsibility a mere man takes when he weakens and says "yes" to a woman's pleading to get married. I think that's one thing where the Turks are miles ahead of us. In Turkey none of the men work. I think I'll move over there. Wisdom of the east, huh? I'll say so.

You know, Geraldine, that women ought to pay alimony if for no other reason, because us men allow them to get away with all the stuff they do. Today in the year 1923 women's faces monopolize the covers of magazines. Soon they'll have the picture of a lady with an arrow collar around her neck. In the street car ads instead of Smith Bros.' cough drops we'll read about the Jones' sisters liniment or something. They started in that direction with Maybelle chocolates. The bill boards will have a picture of a Ullman, as fine as that first one in which she discussed alimony.

"Dear Geraldine: I see by your comments on my letter that you think I believe in alimony. May I qualify that impression, please? I certainly don't believe in it as it is commonly practiced these days; but I do think circumstances alter cases and in the case of that average family where the children need a mother's care constantly until they reach the age of puberty, at least, the mother should not be compelled to go out into the world as wage-caner. If it is not up to the father to support them all during this period, who is responsible? Shall the nation, the state, or the county do so? There may be some who are willing to be taxed in order that the 'John Does' may escape responsibility; but I'll tell the listening world that I am not!

Three cheers and a tiger for your article on marriage in Sunday's TRIBUNE. Atta girl. Wake 'em up. I am so sick of this sex slush they are giving us in the movies an dthe magazines that I am about to fade away. No wonder we have 'Rebellious Blondes and Bettys' when this is what their literary appetite is fed on: 'She forgot her home, her husband, her child, and her friends in his arms—it was inevitable that this should happen because she was so sensitive and attuned to beauty, etc., etc.' Is this true love and romance?

What is the matter with marriage? Well, I don't believe we can shift our responsibility off our shoulders by blaming the institution. We have done that too much. This is my humble opinion about it: Marriage is a career.

A career is something that you prepare, and educate yourself for by studying its conditions and requirements. Do we do this? And if we have had to learn in the bitter school of experience; do we try to give our children intelligent help and advice on the subject? If the sex lure is rightly understood, and thus eliminated from the youth's quest for love and romance it is a big step forward. They should be taught that each are equal, therefore jointly responsible for the home. This does not mean that the wife need be a wage earner, unless conditions are so that she can do so without neglecting the most important factor, which is the home. Chivalry should not have anything to do with this question, it is one of expediency; and if you ignore this [illegible] read like the Velvet Joe advertisements only it will be "Camel Kate" or "Lucky Strike Lucy" or "Bull Durham Bertha."

"If the modern trend toward Amazonism keeps up woe unto us men, that's all I've got to say. Me for that statue of 'civic virtue.' Make 'em pay alimony. !ZX!!!

"They'll soon be printing books on 'How Clarice raised herself from pick and shovel to the presidency of the Union Iron Works.' First thing we know they'll be calling men 'the weaker sex.' We will have to do the washing, darn sox, and gossip. It will be swell when the ladies habe to tip their hats to us and give us seats in street cars and won't swear when we're around. All the men will have 'sewing circles' and talk about fashions and the latest movie scandal. The men will call each other 'cats' and I suppose Oswald will write letters on pale pink stationery.

"I can imagine a street car full of women smoking 'Owls.' The Mack Sennett bathing beauties will be a bunch of cute little boys with dyed hair and million-dollar legs. 'Djar Kiss' advertisements will show pictures of an Amazon harem with a modern Jack Dempsey powdering his nose: I can imagine saloons in an Amazon age with pictures of marvelous males on the walls. We'll read in the magazines how 'Flossie Garfinkle went on an expedition to discover the east pole.' Women preachers will preach how wicked men are and an Amazon Kipling will write a poem on the male vampire. A male writer will write a book on how to get love and keep it' and ten thousand weak-minded males will save pictures under their pillows of 'Percy Palentino, the latest Hollywood star.'

"OSWALD."

Here is another letter from Mrs. [illegible] ULLMAN.

"Do I draw a distinction between physical and mental unfaithfulness?" No, I do something much more drastic. I make them all of a piece and I vastly enlarge the scope of unfaithfulness. We have limited an dsomewhat earthy imaginations. We nearly always interpret "unfaithfulness" as having to do with carnal deeds and desires and we think that such carnal deeds and desires are the greatest menace to marital happiness. But I think there is an infinitely great "unfaithfulness," an infinitely more [illegible] all those aims and interests which make men higher than the brutes. If the human beings to whom we are married do not feel those interests or enter into those aims with us they are indeed "faithless" though they be "chaste" in both mind and body.

A Clean Bill of Health

After the homesteader had followed the treasure-seeker into Alaska an ambitious newcomer, who had more of optimism than of experience undertook sheep raising. In the eyes of the old settlers, who mainly were gold-hunters by profession, the sheep business was a debasing occupation.

An Eskimo dog, the prize performer of a team belonging to an old prospector, killed a sheep belonging to the ranchman and the latter brought action for damages. The evidence was conclusive enough but the owner of the guilty dog and his lawyer had wit enough to demand a jury trial of the case and to see to it that the jury was made up exclusively of mining men.

After hearing the evidence and the arguments, the twelve good men and true retired to make a judgment. Almost immediately they returned, and the foreman, speaking for himself and his associates, gave this finding:

"In the fust place, Jedge, this here jury solemnly declares that this is a dog country and not no sheep country. In the second place, this here dog has always been a peaceable dog, so it stands to reason that the sheep must have jumped on him fust. Such bein' the case, we decide that this here sheep man has got to pay all the costs and don't git no damages.

"And the dog is not guilty, on the grounds of self-defense."

Little Benny's Note Book

By Lee Pape

Me and pop was taking a wawk Sunday aftirnoon, partly on account of it being such a nice aftirnoon and partly mostly because we wunted to take a wawk, and we saw Mrs. Weever coming along with Perseys Weevers grandfather, being a old man with his face behind a lot of wite wiskers, and pop tipped his hat saying, Good aftirnoon Mrs. Weever, lovely aftirnoon.

Yes, have you met my father? Mrs. Weever sed.

I dont bleeve I had the plezzure, pop sed, and Perseys granfather sed, I dont bleeve you did, its a perfeck aftirnoon for a wawk. Ill be 90 years old my next berthday and Ive never seen a more perfeck Sunday aftirnoon.

Well well, I hope Ill be able to say the same wen Im 90, pop sed, and Perseys grandfather sed, Well, you will if you live as carefill as wat Ive lived and never touch tobacco in eny shape or form.

I must remember that, pop sed. And me and him kepp on wawkling, me saying, Aint you going to smoak eny more, pop? and pop saying, Well, I been thinking seriously of cutting the cigars down, if not out. My goodniss all the old men must be out today, he sed.

Meening Puds Simkins coming along with his grandfather, Puds saying, Hello Benny, hello Mr. Potts my grandfather is 93 yeers old today and Im taking him a wawk on his berthday.

Think of that, 93, pop sed. Does he ever use tobacco? he sed, and Puds sed, Sure he does, he chews it and smoaks it and everything. His grandfather not saying enything, and pop sed, Well well that wat I call sensible. And he took out a cigar and started to lite it, saying Did you heer that, Benny, there's nuthing like an occasional cigar for prolonging your life, wy that other old fello would probably be 100 by this time if he'd ony smoaked enuff.

And we kepp on wawking, pop blowing out big puffs and looking as if he was glad he met Pudses granfather and dident care weather he ever met Perseys granfather agen or not.

BERKELEY CLUB URGES STRICT LAW IN WAR ON DOPE

U. C. Professor and Oakland Chief of Police Tell Evils of Traffic.

BERKELEY, Jan. 27.—"Strict and severe" legislation for the suppression of the use of narcotics was urged by speakers before the Berkeley Public Spirit Club yesterday and resulted in resolutions being adopted pledging the college city organization to aid in the war on the "dope" evil.

The speakers, J. Henry Flint, professor of chemistry and therapeutics at the College of Physicians and Surgeons in San Francisco, and Chief of Police James Drew of Oakland, urged the support of civic bodies in fighting the evil.

Professor Flint, after recounting briefly the history of the introduction of cocaine and morphine, asserted definitely that the thing necessary to be done to check the spread of this scourge is to enact stringent legislation providing for the punishment of the supply man first, the dope peddler next and the peddler addict third. He termed as a fourth class the addict who does not undertake to distribute, and he stated that he never knew of but one case of an addict being permanently cured in his forty years' experience with narcotics and their use.

He stated that the fabulous profits made from the sale of cocaine and morphine was the main cause of the temptation to deal in the nefarious traffic. Peddlers go so far as to seek out school children, usually weak-minded boys, whom they tempt to take a "shot," and after the subject enjoys the marvelous visions which follow, this child becomes a victim to the habit, and through him other school children are persuaded to use it.

Chief Drew gave an account of his practical experience with the dope fiends brought before the police department. He stated that as chairman of the Law Enforcement League for the Suppression of the Use of Narcotics, co-operating with Warden James Johnston of San Quentin, he had come to the conclusion that strict and severe legislation was the best remedy in sight and he urged the members of the club to use their influence to persuade the members of the legislature to enact the bill now pending.

AUTO OVERTURNED IN COLLISION; FOUR INJURED

Three Women and Man Are Hurt When Car Rammed By Speeding Truck.

Three women and a man in a party of five motorists were injured in a collision between a truck and a passenger automobile this morning at Fourteenth and Fallon streets in which the auto was overturned, pinning its occupants under it.

The injured persons state that the truck, driven by W. Crossley, 149 Franklin street, crashed into their machine while being driven rapidly.

Ben Ferier, 11, and Robert Gozan, 19, crawled from under the overturned car, summoned the help of persons nearby, and with their assistance released the women from under the car. The women, Miss Celie Guerreza, 18, was found to have a broken collar bone and to be suffering from cuts and bruises; Mrs. Victoria Guerreza, from cuts and bruises as was Mrs. Carolin Ferier, mother of Ben Ferier. They were taken to the Receiving hospital. Gozan, who helped in the rescue of the women, was cut on the knee.

The injured are all from Pittsburg, and were on their way to East Oakland for a visit.

FIREMAN ADMITS BEING KLANSMAN

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—Selection of Chicago as the scene of the first formal trial of the invisible Empire, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, before the Bar of Public Opinion was indicated here today by developments since the arrival of imperial officers of the organization.

William H. Green, a city fireman, whose suspension from the fire department for his alleged Klan membership, brought the officers here to challenge, yesterday repudiated statements that he had resigned from the order. He admitted his membership, and asserted he wished to stand trial for suspension before the Chicago Civil Service Commission on that ground.

"We have decided to make an issue of this case to prove to the world that the Ku Klux Klan is a law abiding and legal organization and to prove that any city employee has a perfectly legal right to belong to it if he wants to join," Green said.

Although he declined to say whether he had been requested to make this statement by the imperial chiefs, it was known that Green had been in conference with them.

At Green's suggestion Fire Chief Swerfeltich drew a charge against him for presentation to the Civil Service Commission, which, in part, read as follows:

"That the said William H. Green, fireman, is an admitted member of the . . . Ku Klux Klan, and that he has subscribed to an oath of the said organization which is contrary to the provisions of the Constitution of the United States of America and which is evidence of his unfitness to remain in the service of the city of Chicago."

The Civil Service Commission said the charge would come before it for hearing February 2, when a date for Green's trial probably would be set.

OPEN MUFFLER WAR ON.

SAN LEANDRO, Jan. 27.—First active evidence of warfare against motorists who persist in riding with an open muffler was noted in the arrest of Lawrence Spano, a young man of this city, by Traffic Officer Joseph Brandon. Spano will appear before Judge W. J. Gannon Monday morning. According to Brandon the offender had been warned several times.

U. C. 'Delilahs' Sworn to Shear 'Samson' Club

Coeds Declare War on Beards of "Future Presidents" Among Men.

BERKELEY, Jan. 27.—"THEY SHALL BE SHORN."

This is the slogan adopted by the newly-organized "Delilah" club at the University of California, which has a membership of 36 indignant co-eds, sworn to the purpose of exterminating the "Samson" club of the men students.

The "Samson" club took its place in campus affairs unofficially during the last week. Members of the organization are pledged not to shave oftener than once every two weeks, to shun the company of co-eds, to study on Friday and Saturday nights, and to censor each other's mail.

The purpose of the club, according to Roy Ploss, a freshman student who is one of the charter members, is to foster future presidents rather than the lounge lizards resulting from the ordinary college social life.

Now come the "Delilahs" armed with metaphorical scissors bent on shearing the "Samsons."

"We shall brow-beat them into silence," declare the members, whose identity is being carefully hidden because of their prominence in campus affairs. "We are watching for the whiskers to appear—and shorn chins we will accept as an admission of defeat."

That the "Samsons" are bluffing is the opinion of another member, who adds: "We will fight until every chin is shorn, and we have good weapons."

Although the names of the 25 whiskered ones have been carefully concealed, Roy Ploss, a freshman student in the college of mechanics; Walter Powell, former associate editor of the college daily; Franklin Roberts, a sophomore in commerce, and Lion Chaplin, a freshman student, also in commerce, have already been traced as organizers of the movement by the cleanshaving members of the "Delilahs."

The scissors of the co-eds have been sharpened, and a veritable war is on. The students at University of California are awaiting an outbreak of whiskers to see if the "future presidents" are prepared to face organized disapproval.

San Leandro Y. L. I. Plans Celebration

SAN LEANDRO, Jan. 27.—At a meeting of the Young Ladies' Institute here, final plans were made for the celebration of the tenth anniversary of the organization, to take place the night of February 3. Mrs. J. J. McCarthy is chairman of a committee in charge of arrangements.

Preparations also are being made for a Valentine party, to take place in conjunction with the regular meeting, February 8. A banquet, entertainment program and several comic features have been arranged for. The committee in charge consists of the Misses Madeline Duarte, Flossie Trombas, Genevieve Douglas, Geneva Rose and Mrs. S. Sherman.

SCHOOL BIBLE READING PLAN CALLED UNWISE

Rabbi Coffee in Sermon Expresses His Opposition to Proposal.

Many difficulties will present themselves in case the proposed bill before the legislature is passed regarding the reading of the Bible in the public schools, in the opinion of Dr. Rudolph I. Coffee, rabbi of Temple Sinai, who presented a sermon on "The Bible in the Public Schools" at the Temple last night. He characterized the bill as being loaded with dynamite, for the churches, synagogues, and schools as well as the teachers and children. In part Rabbi Coffee stated:

"What Bible is meant? Hebrews include in that term the Old Testament, while Protestants mean both the Old and New. Catholics join also the Apocrypha. A way to obviate that difficulty would be to limit Bible reading to the Old Testament, which all great religions accept.

"The second difficulty which presents itself is: What Bible translation shall be read, for the original was written in Hebrew? Catholics use the Douay translation, while Protestants read the classic King James' version. Jewish people have the most accurate Bible translation, which was published six years ago.

"The third difficulty is: What is the Bible? Scores of ministers in California who cannot read a word of the original Hebrew, believe with Billy Sunday and W. J. Bryan that the Bible is the divinely inspired word of God. Liberal ministers will take sides with Rev. Perry Grant, New York City. What shall be the attitude of the public school teacher? Remember that no university training has prepared her for answering this theological question.

"Keep the Bible out of the public schools. Let the churches and synagogues, through their powerful organizations, breathe the word of God. Until America is ready for a religion of service, instead of scores of religions concerning salvation; until the citizens of our country understand the difference between man-made theology and divine immortal laws, the Bible has no place in the free public school system of which our country so proudly boasts."

OPERATION IS NECESSARY.

SAN LEANDRO, Jan. 27.—Mrs. N. R. Mello, wife of a prominent merchant here, was removed to the Merritt Hospital, in Oakland, yesterday, to undergo an operation. She has been ill for some time. Dr. Charles Coleman, brother to Dr. George Coleman of this city, will perform the operation.

CLUB ENDORSES MILLS CAMPAIGN FOR ENDOWMENT

One Hundred Per Cent Club of Oakland Takes Stand Behind Movement.

By a unanimous vote, the members of the One Hundred Per Cent club of Oakland adopted a resolution supporting the Mills College endowment campaign at the club luncheon in Hotel Oakland yesterday.

The expression of opinion in favor of the campaign, which is to be conducted from February 16 to 26, followed an explanation of the objects of the campaign by A. S. Lavenson, general chairman.

Lavenson pointed out that the million dollars sought, of which $600,000 is already paid or in sight, is not to be expended directly, but the income only is to be used for the establishment of a suitable salary scale for the teaching staff.

The fund being permanently invested, will provide a perpetual income for the purpose and there need be no repetition of the campaign, he explained.

"There is some comment to the effect that Mills, being a private institution, the tuition fees can be increased to the point of making the college self-sustaining," continued Lavenson. "No private educational institution in the United States, unless it caters exclusively to the wealthy, is maintained solely by its tuition charges.

"Dr. Campbell, president-elect of the state university said in his address last week at the chamber of commerce luncheon, that Mills College had a place in the education field alongside of the University of California. This could not be so if it were made exclusive through the adoption of a self-sustaining tuition fee."

Building of Pacheco Pass Road Urged

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—Petitions for the construction of the Hollister, Pacheco Pass lateral of the state highway in San Benito and Santa Clara counties were presented to a special meeting of the State Highway Commission yesterday by civic and other interests from Gilroy, Fresno and other communities. Chairman Harvey M. Toy of the commission announced that it would be the policy of the board to complete the Pacheco Pass road before beginning work on the lateral.

The proposed lateral extends for a distance of 8½ miles, of which 7¾ miles are in San Benito county. Among those urging the immediate construction of the lateral were representatives from the Fresno and Gilroy Chambers of Commerce, the Boards of Supervisors of San Benito and Santa Clara county and civic interests of Salinas and Santa Cruz.

Fireman Pulls Man From Under Moving Car

F. H. Fritz, Retired Merchant, Hit by Auto, Caught By Trolley.

Frederick H. Fritz, a retired merchant, owes his life to his quick thinking and the presence of mind of Thomas Pratt, hoseman of Engine No. 1 stationed in the city hall.

Fritz was struck by an automobile while running across the street at San Pablo avenue and Thirty-second street. The blow of the automobile knocked him against a passing street car and in order to prevent himself from rolling underneath the trucks he seized the safety guards on the side of the car.

Pratt was standing on the steps at the rear end of the car waiting for it to stop. When he saw Fritz grasp the safety guard he jumped off the car and ran up and pulled him from beneath the car. He was dragged about twenty feet before the car came to a stop. The crew did not know of the accident until Pratt called for them to stop.

Fritz was taken to the Emergency hospital by Lewis Golding, 4345 Adeline street, the driver of the machine and Pratt. He was treated at the hospital for cuts and bruises. He resides at 1061 Forty-seventh street.

BANDIT WITH KNIFE ROUTED BY ALAMEDAN

ALAMEDA, Jan. 27.—Breaking away and knocking down the holdup man who threw an arm around his neck and wielded a knife, John McGee at an early hour in Alameda this morning, frustrated an attempt to rob him.

Walking from a restaurant on Park street McGee had reached Walnut at Lincoln avenue when a man jumped out of the shadows and attacked him.

He struggled and knocked the man down, who got up and fled. He did not pursue, but reported the occurrence to Patrolman Albert Olssen, who made a search of the neighborhood.

Hikers to Make Little Known Trip

BERKELEY, Jan. 27.—An interesting walk into Contra Costa county is planned for tomorrow by the Berkeley Hiking Club.

Meeting on the San Francisco-Sacramento train which leaves Fortieth and Shafter avenue in Oakland at 10:10, the party will ride to Valle Vista from which point it will walk to Leona Heights.

This trip is declared to be one little known by Eastbay hikers and consequently will afford an abundance of new scenery. Luncheon will be carried by each hiker.

George Hjelte, superintendent of Playgrounds in Berkeley and Mrs. Hjelte will lead the party. All who wish to attend the hike are invited to join the party, it was announced by the club officers.

SCHOOLS OF CITY SHOW 1672 GAIN OVER LAST TERM

Attendance Is 39,142, With Biggest Increase in Elementaries.

Now that the new school term has settled down to business, the education department heads today announced that actual count of the population of the Oakland schools is 39,142, or an increase of 1672 over the last term.

This does not include the night schools or evening high schools, but takes the attendance of the regular daily institutions. The count is:

Kindergarten, 1818; last term, 1816; gain, 2.

Day elementary, 28,089; last term, 27,091; gain, 998.

Day high school, 9235; last term, 8563; gain, 672.

Various portable school buildings are now being redistributed around the city to allow for gains or losses of school population in various districts. Intermediate school, in central Oakland, gained but few. Prescott, in West Oakland, gained 151. New schools, such as Alexander Hamilton Junior High, almost doubled in population, from 272 to 450. In Crocker Highlands, a new school, 50 pupils, started its career.

WHIST PARTY IS SUCCESS.

SAN LEANDRO, Jan. 27.—Success attended a prize whist tournament held by members of the Washington School Mothers' club at the institution's auditorium yesterday afternoon. There was a large attendance. The whist was first of a proposed series, extending through the school term. Funds derived will go towards activities conducted by the club for the children of the school.

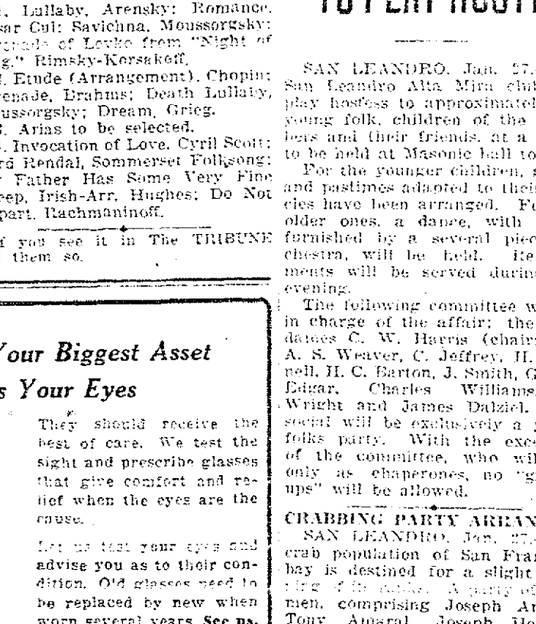

LEGION TO GIVE DANCE.

FAMILY PERILED BY FIRE.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Jan. 27.—Trapped in one of the rooms of their country place, "Greenwich," members of the family of Dr. N. M. Torrey, of Detroit, Mich., barely escaped with their lives by desperate leaps from third-story windows as a fire destroyed the mansion with a loss of nearly half a million dollars early today.

Yes, Times Have Changed

A FEW centuries ago the word "idiot" meant a member of the Roman citizenry. Citizens in general would resent the implication that the word conveys, today. There are still idiots, but the application of the word is entirely different from what it was of old.

There was also a time when some advertisements had to be taken with a grain of salt. A few misguided advertisers thought they could sell their goods better by misrepresentating them. Those advertisers have long since gone out of business or mended their ways. Hard experience taught that untruthful advertising didn't

Other advertisers proved that the only way to advertise successfully, make regular customers, and build up good will was to tell the absolute truth about their goods.

Today you can depend on the merchant or manufacturer who advertises. The concern that tells you frankly what it is doing is a good concern with which to do business. The store that advertises is a progressive store that has something worth while to say to you. And companies that advertise their products or their services believe in them. You can safely share their confidence.
